BOY DRAGGED TO DEATH

Hillsboro, Ore., July 20—(Special.)—With his clothing caught in the harness of a frightened horse, the 6-year-old son of Henry Stauss was dragged over a rough field for a quarter of a mile this morning, receiving injuries from which he died a few minutes after being brought to a Hillsboro hospital.

Mr. Stauss was starting to work in his hay field and was accompanied by the boy and a 10-year-old sister, both of whom were seated on the horse, which the father was leading. The boy slipped and frightened the animal, which bolted, throwing the girl, who escaped without injury. The father clung to the bridle and was dragged several rods before his hold was loosened.

The scene of the accident is nine miles north of Hillsboro.

CARLTON MAN RECOVERS CAR STOLEN YEAR AGO

Sam Henry, who lives northwest of town, has found a Ford car which was stolen from him a year ago this month. The machine was taken from the streets of McMinnville, where members of the owner's family had parked it one night last July, and not a trace of it was ever found until a couple of weeks ago when it came into a garage in Tillamook for repairs. Mr. Henry's son was in the garage at the time, being employed there. It is understood. He thought the car resembled the stolen machine and proved it through certain fixtures which he had placed upon it that were not a part of the regular equipment. The man who had it bought it from a farmer near Tillamook, who had bought it in good faith from a Sherwood, Oregon, man. The Sherwood man's identity was discovered, but he has not been located at the time of this writing. Mr. Henry bought another Ford after the theft, and will now have two machines.—Sentinel.

MISSING MONEY FOUND TUCKED AWAY IN HAT

A short time before Joseph Dadourak was killed while operating a tractor the latter part of May he had made a stock shipment to the Portland yards and there was known to be due him from this shipment something like $3,000. On the night following his death his house, where he lived alone, was entered and completely ransacked and every nook and corner searched and his private books and papers left scattered about. This was done about midnight, as at that time a light was seen in the house by neighbors. It was supposed at the time that the party or parties making the search was acquainted with the fact that he had received this money or checks and as the administrator could find no evidence of any money about the house it was generally conceded that the midnight burglar had secured it, and that the estate would be out that amount. The matter rested in that condition until the sale of his effects on Wednesday of last week, when everything was sold, even to his clothes. It was while looking about the house for articles for the auctioneer's hammer that Mr. Derby, father of Mrs. Frank Chapman, discovered a rain hat hanging in an out of the way place and on taking it down four checks to the amount of $2,733 and some cents and $400 in currency was found in it. This amount corresponds very nearly to that estimated as due him from the stock shipment and clears up the mystery as to what had become of the money. Evidently the midnight prowler had taken no thought of the hat, otherwise he would have had $3,133.00 that did not belong to him.

In this case the hat bank worked out to the interest of the estate, but as a place of security it is not to be recommended above the banking institutions.—Sheridan Sun.
