

Locals and Personals

Mrs. F. W. Curtis and daughter, Miss Leona, want to Pacific City Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Gause were over from Washougal, Washington, last Sunday.

Miss Eleanor Bassett, who has been visiting friends at Medford, has returned home.

Miss Mildred Whiton came out for an over-Sunday visit with former Newberg friends.

J. R. Horning is here from Hermliston on business but will return in a few days.

Mrs. Henry Ehret and daughters, Martha and Lucille, are seeing the sights at the Tillamook beaches.

Howard Walton, H. G. Crocker, M. G. Oakley and L. H. Meyer went to Salem Tuesday to attend the Co-operative Growers' picnic.

Mrs. G. E. Nelson has returned from a visit with relatives at Nehalem and brought home five gallons of fine huckleberries.

Mrs. L. D. Krake and daughter, Nettie, are out from Tillamook visiting the former's sister, Mrs. Sarah Christenson Lapp, and with a son at Dayton.

Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Maris came out from Portland Sunday to attend the Hoskins funeral. Mr. Maris is now Deputy Dairy and Food Commissioner.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. McKown, who were here from Medford visiting her mother, Mrs. Olive Bassett, left for Colorado Springs, Colorado, Tuesday morning.

Miss Eva L. Ferree, of Salem, was a week-end visitor with Newberg relatives. Miss Leone Strait accompanied her home on Sunday for an extended visit.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Winchester are spending a few days at the coast.

F. W. Curtis and Carl Johnson are back from the wheat fields of Eastern Washington.

Mrs. Riley Kaufman and two young sons, who spent a couple of weeks here visiting with relatives, left for their home in Southern California the first of the week.

Mrs. Oliver Evans and daughter, Margurite, have returned home from Nye Beach, Newport, where they spent two delightful weeks as the guest of Mrs. C. E. Roy, of Forest Grove.

Lawrence Hall, who was arrested and taken to Portland in connection with the moonshine raid reported last week, is out on bail and the case will come up the first week in September.

Dan E. Balch sold the property on North Blaine street, formerly owned by Mrs. Maggie Littlefield, to Mr. and Mrs. Claude A. Fairbanks for $3,000 and has moved to a farm near Oregon City, which he owns.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Satchwell, of Medford, have been making a visit of a few days at Willnor Farm, the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hitchen. Mr. Satchwell, who is a brother of Mrs. Hitchen, is the toll wire chief of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. at Medford.

Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Campbell closed their confectionery store the first of the week and went to the coast. The notice on the door says they will return Saturday.

John Kirkley, who returned from Nye Beach, Tuesday, said the weather out there was delightful and that all the tents and houses were full to overflowing. Mrs. Kirkley remained for a longer stay.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Tallman, who sold their pretty home on Springbrook Heights some months ago and went east on a visit, have returned and are looking for a location. They say Oregon, and especially this valley, looks mighty good to them.

Rev. Fred C. Carter, who was called home to conduct the funeral of Cecil J. Hoskins, returned to Pacific City the first of the week, taking Pres. John D. Mills with him. Cassius and Miss Delight Carter, who remained at the beach, will return home with them.

Rev. J. H. Gillespie, formerly of Sheridan, Wyoming, who gave an address on "Hard Knocks" at the church last Friday evening, drew quite an interested audience. Rev. Gillespie returned to Dundee the middle of this week where he is residing for a short time.—Toledo Leader.

At a meeting of the faculty of Pacific College held Monday night Prof. Floyd Perisho, who has been handling the correspondence coming in from prospective students, says the outlook for students for the coming year has never before been as promising as it now is, since he has been connected with the school.

Thomas Compton and family, who sold their farm at Aida, Nebraska, and who are out touring the coast country in a Dodge car, were here Sunday in attendance at Friends Church and visited with Pres. John D. Mills and family, whom they formerly knew in Nebraska. They left on Monday afternoon for California where they will visit relatives, but said they would probably return here to locate.

Prof. Russell W. Lewis and family are home from California where they spent the year. Mrs. Lewis engaging in teaching, while he labored for a Master's Degree in History at the University of California at Berkeley, which he will receive when he finishes his thesis. He will be back on the faculty as Professor English and Education again the coming year. He says he found living expenses on the skyline at Berkeley.

Rev. J. H. Gillespie, who was in from Dundee Monday, said the Dundee M. E. quarterly meeting would be held August 27 by Dr. Gilbert and that the next day he and Mrs. Gillespie would start for their former home in Wyoming to attend the annual conference and to assist in the dedication of a new $40,000 church building. He said further that they would return and attend the conference at McMinnville, September 27, and accept some charge, if there should be an opening, and if not he would sell life insurance for a while.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wilson are camping at Eagle Creek on the Columbia Highway.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kaufman, of Portland, were week-end visitors with Newberg relatives.

Elwood Minchin, who holds a position as manager of the builders' hardware department in the wholesale hardware store of Fallig & McCullum in Portland, was in Newberg Wednesday arranging for his father's funeral.

Ira L. Darby, field auditor for the State Industrial Accident Commission, is in Newberg checking up accounts with those who are carrying insurance with the commission. He formerly lived in Illinois and Oklahoma and has only been in Oregon since April but he thinks this is the country for him.

Prof. Paul V. Maris, extension director at O. A. C., with Mrs. Maris and the little daughter and the mother and sister of Mrs. Maris, Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Davis, were visitors at the E. H. Woodward home last Sunday. They went on to Portland in the evening and on Monday took a drive over the Columbia Highway.

Word was received here the first of the week of the death of Mrs. Walter J. Wilson at Hemlock, Tillamook County, leaving a new-born daughter. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson formerly lived at McMinnville and came from there to Newberg a few years ago and conducted a confectionery business for a time. They moved from here to Hemlock, where they have been living on a ranch.

OBITUARY

Lowery L. Dye was born in Boone County, Indiana, in 1845. When seven years of age he moved with his parents to Story County, Iowa, where he grew to manhood. In 1864 he was united in marriage with Frances A. McBarnes. To this union eight children were born. In 1882 Mr. and Mrs. Dye, with their family, moved to South Dakota near Vermillion, where Mr. Dye was a successful farmer for 24 years. In 1906 they came to Newberg where they have resided continuously since.

Mr. Dye's health began to fail about six months ago, from a tumorous growth under his left arm. Medical skill and the devoted care of loved ones were unable to check the ravages of the malady.

In this condition Mr. Dye turned to the mercies of God. Placed his case in the hands of Jesus Christ and was happily saved, and from that time continued to rejoice in the faith of the life beyond the tomb. His last request to relatives and friends was to accept Jesus as their Saviour and live for Him.

He is survived by the companion of his youth and six children who were all at his bedside during his last illness.

Mr. Dye died at his home in Newberg, Friday, August 6, age 75 years and 7 months.

The remains of the deceased were interred in Park Hill cemetery at Vancouver, Washington, near the body of his youngest daughter, Mrs. O. A. Caleen, who passed on only six months ago.

The children who survive him are Mrs. Walter S. Stull, of Newberg; Mrs. Willis B. Collar, of Vermillion, South Dakota; Mrs. George B. Ross, of Vancouver, Washington; Mrs. Joseph Castrey, of Vancouver, Washington; Mrs. H. E. Nordeen, of Bend, Oregon; and L. B. Dye, of Casper, Wyoming.

EXCEPTIONS TAKEN TO HOME TOWN POET

Editor, Graphic:

I wish to take exception to the philosophy of our Home Town Poet.

He points out the way to happiness by being good and in concluding his poetic remarks gives expression to vicious, material statements suggesting that those who do not trade at home the boys shall throw them out.

I believe in patronizing home industry providing all things are equal. I do not believe in mob rule nor shall I support or patronize any one who advocates that brand of American fair play. A true poet writes through inspiration for the good of all. His christian philosophy will sustain its own wall weight and the more that is written the more satisfied the reader shall be that humanity is upon the threshold of a new order of things. The gross material shall vanish and all things be made new.

Even as I write, the desire for love and Christ-like justice takes possession of my soul.

It is a yearning for the coming brotherhood when aught but truth we shall unfold.

This world must be as an Eden where all are free to come and go.

Headache?

Eyes Water?

YOUR eyes are worth thousands of dollars to you. Ninety-nine out of one hundred people who have cataracts at sixty can blame no one but themselves. We thoroughly and scientifically examine your eyes without the use of medicine.

Neglect means Headache, Stomach Trouble, Nervousness and, possibly cataract.

"IT SERVES YOU RIGHT"

No one shall say you must do this, good, so unto us it must be. This or go some other way. It is for each law must work alike for all. It is to be unselfish, to love the other as the only way to perfect peace, true brotherhood and liberty.

J. A. Chapman, Route 1.

A drove of intoxicated pigs led to the discovery of a huge moonshine still in Kentucky. It is the same old story. They made hogs of themselves.
