The Vanguard S. S. class of the M. E. Church, held an enjoyable picnic on the banks of Chehalis creek last Friday night. Refreshments were served and those present, about thirty persons, expressed themselves as having had a real good time.

C. H. Farmer, manager of the Chehalis Valley Mills warehouse at Crowley, transacted business in Newberg, on Friday of last week. Mr. Thurston of the Valley Mills reports that the wheat now coming to the Crowley warehouse, grades higher than for some years previous.

C. H. Christiansen, a former resident of Newberg, but now of Corvallis, was in the city on Saturday, visiting his sisters Mrs. H. G. Miller and Mrs. E. F. Fendall, and also found time to favor this office with a friendly call. Mr. Christiansen has property interest here and will take up his residence in this city next spring.

Mayor Larkin, whose term of office expires in about two months, said to a representative of this paper, that while he personally favors the much talked of city street improvements, he don't feel that he should strive for what might be an unwelcome inheritance for his successor. Mr. Larkin will decline to accept another term as mayor.

Don Deuham of Wheeler, Ore., was a visitor in this city on Tuesday, after an absence of seven months. Mr. Deuham was formerly of the office force of the A. Rupert Canning Co. of Newberg, but at present is manager of a large shingle mill at Wheeler, where many people are living in tents on account of the scarcity of houses. Mr. Deuham says his mill is unable to fill the orders they have booked, on account of the difficulty in getting cars.

On last Thursday afternoon Mrs. F. D. Eckerson entertained in honor of Mrs. K. Hyatt of Portland, and Mrs. Shouels of Denver, Col. The following ladies were present: Mesdames G. S. Jones, Larson, Leedy, Evans, Powell, P. M. Wallace, Brown, Page, Millard, A. T. Cousse, J. W. Kelly, Mackly, B. M. Lefever, Bradley, A. E. Moore, Myers, D. M. Jones, M. Mackly. The afternoon was spent in reading and Graftonola music after which the hostess served dainty refreshments.

W. A. White and daughter, Frances and son David, motored down from their home at Yakima, Wash., and spent last week visiting the former's mother, Mrs. Mary U. White and his sisters Mrs. Thomas Miles and C. W. Kentner. They were joined here by the wife and mother who had been visiting at Eugene. On Monday the family left for Scotts Mills to see other relatives. At both the morning and evening services at the Friends church last Sunday Miss White rendered solos which were much appreciated.

P. L. Cate, formerly of Newberg, who has large land holdings and an abundance of livestock to keep his fortune from dwindling, drove over from Sheridan, Monday in his new Packard touring car. He was accompanied by Mr. R. A. Clark, an extensive orchardist, whose big red apples have doubtless been a big feature in increasing Sheridan's census figures. Mr. Clark said he had to come to Newberg, on an insurance proposition, and happened to meet Mr. Cate when he was homeward bound to Newberg, when he suggested that they jazz over in his new machine. Mr. Cate reported the family in the pink of condition, also that he finds it necessary to erect about one hundred good houses on his farm for his hired men and their families to live in, or sell a few hundred acres of his land.

Do You wish to Have Good Eyes at Seventy?

If you neglect machinery and work it under a strain it wears out before it should.

There is absolutely no machinery half so delicate as your eyes.

If they need care it is criminal to neglect them. You can neglect your teeth (which you never should) and get false teeth, but not so with your eyes.

COME IN TO DAY

Yours for better eye service
