At the close of the season he was advanced to the position of manager of the Fall Festival course which takes in the smaller towns and his territory will include the whole Northwest. His many friends will be glad to know that Ellison-White have recognized his efficiency in giving him the advancement.

Margaret, the five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mueller of Third street, and her little comrade Harold, five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ward, caused their parents considerable uneasiness, when, without obtaining parental consent they started late in the afternoon of Monday, to pay a visit to Harold's grandma, Mrs. Goff, who resides beyond the bridge on North Main street. The little tots made the trip to grandma's home all right, but that worthy lady knew the children were playing truant and sent them home at once, but could not notify their parents as she was not supplied with a phone. The excited and anxious parents meanwhile were searching the neighborhood for the kiddies, and as darkness drew nigh their anxiety increased. Mr. Mueller found the little ones playing in front of the Larkin-Prince Hardware store at near 8 o'clock, and it is needless to say that there was joy over their safe return to the fold. When Margaret's mother asked her if she did not know she would be punished for running away without leave, the little one replied, "Oh mother, I was having such a good time I forgot all about it."

We Will Have Our First Showing of

New Fall Millinery

WEEK BEGINNING SEPTEMBER 7TH

Having attended the millinery openings of the wholesale millinery houses in both San Francisco and Los Angeles, we are prepared to show you the latest things in fancy feathers, flowers, and ornaments, this fall.

Before buying, come in and see our hats and make your selection from our latest models.

Metal trimmings of all kinds, tinselled flowers, tinted ostrich, are some of the new trimmings.

These trimmings blended in with the new rich colorings of velvet and duvetyne makes the hats this season very attractive and desirable.
