RESOLUTIONS OF CONDOLENCE

It having pleased an allwise God to remove from our midst our beloved sister, Mrs. Minnie Brooks, be it resolved by Newberg Council, No. 168, that we extend to the bereaved husband and motherless children our sincere sympathy in this their great loss, and that we commend them to the Father who rules the universe, and who does all things for the best; and be it further resolved that every member of our Civic Council join in one accord in lending every possible assistance in behalf of the bereaved family, in bearing this great burden in maintaining the family ties and that of the home as far as possible in the absence of a beloved wife and mother.

SEVERITY IN THIS PENANCE

Hindu Pilgrims Make Long Journeys With Most Extraordinary Method of Locomotion.

An extraordinary Indian penitential pilgrimage takes place every year, invariably on a Tuesday, usually in the first half of May. The penance consists in the Hindu penitent's measuring his length on the ground from his home to the temple, often a distance of many miles.

The penitent throws himself on the ground at full length, and with a pot-herd or a stone, makes a mark within reach of his fingers. Upon getting up he sets his feet on the mark, repeats the process, continuing to do this, with alternate rising and prostration, to the end of his journey.

The dress worn during the pilgrimage is exceedingly scanty, as the pilgrimage takes place during the hottest season of the year. If the journey is likely to take two or three days, the penitent may halt at night for food and rest, in which case he sets up some mark to show where he left the road, and resumes his journey from that point on the morrow. Only men are permitted to perform the penance, but women and children are allowed to accompany them on foot, supplying them with food and fanning them with panikahs made of palm leaves.

Upon arriving at their goal the penitents present their offerings in money or kind to the attendant priests, who utter a few words of benediction. Every few years there are deaths from exhaustion and exposure during the pilgrimage, but the enthusiasts are never deterred.—Detroit News.

GREATEST OF ALL VIRTUES

Gratitude Means Recognition of Amount of Good Which Has Been Bestowed by Others.

Gratitude means that memory has come to the aid of purpose, and that praise is reinforcing prayer. Gratitude links the past with the future, the debt incurred with the duty to be performed, the service received with the service rendered. The question, "What ought we to do for others?" cannot receive a proper answer until pains have been taken to weigh and value all that others have already done for us. Benevolence is largely an affair of memory and of the gratitude that memory inspires. The benevolence that is most beneficent does not begin, as some moralists seem to think, in a desire to do good to other people, but in adequate recognition of the enormous amount of good which other people have done to ourselves. Nine-tenths of what we have to give is a gift bestowed upon us, and only when this is realized does altruism rest upon its proper ground, or feel the full force of the motives which impel the individual to the service of others. Divorced from gratitude, all the social virtues would shrivel.—L. P. Jacks.

Word of Advice.

"Mr. Jobbles," said the head of the firm, "I notice there's a considerable item for meals in your expense account."

"Er—I was entertaining customers and prospective buyers, sir."

"All right. I'm not complaining, but I hope you will bear in mind that we are selling tractors and no lady of the chorus ever buys a tractor."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Just as Dead.
"Why do you turn out for every road hog that comes along?" said the missus, rather crossly. "The right of way is ours, isn't it?"
"Oh, undoubtedly!" answered he, calmly. "As for our turning out, the reason is plainly suggested in this epitaph which appeared in a newspaper recently:

Here lies the body of William Jay Who died maintaining his right of way; He was right, dead right, as he sped along, But he's just as dead as if he'd been wrong."

Bill, the Builder
Hits the Nail on the Head When He Says—

"'Tis Cheaper to Build Well at the Start Than to Make Repairs All Your Life"

Don't make the mistake of buying building material by price only. Under-size timbers that cannot stand the strain of weight are a poor investment at any price. A little careful attention to the requirements of your material will often save the expense of frequent repairs.

Strength Where Needed

When you buy lumber here, you get with it the benefit of our years of experience. We will gladly check your specifications with the plans and verify the correctness of the sizes you order. We will see that the sizes ordered are adequate to carry their load safely and enduringly.
