SOMETHING IN YOUR EYE?

There Are a Few Simple Rules for the Removing of Irritating Particles.

Though many people have become expert in the art of removing irritating particles from the eyes of others, a few words on this subject will not be out of place. In removing a foreign particle from the eye, ask the patient to look down, and then take hold of the eyelash with thumb, and forefinger of the left hand and pull the eyelid downward and slightly away from the eyeball. Next evert, or turn back, the eyelid by placing midway between the eyelashes and eyeball the tip of the thumb of the right hand and make the same movement that would be required to turn back the edge of a coat sleeve.

If the particle is located on the interior of the upper lid it may be removed with a clean handkerchief or a piece of clean cotton placed on the end of a toothpick or match. If the irritating substance is not on the upper lid try to find it in the same manner on the lower lid and remove it in the same way. When the particle is imbedded in the cornea, or covering of the eyeball, it is best to consult a physician or eye specialist. After removing the particle from the eye it is advisable to irrigate the delicate member with boric acid.

Under no circumstances should anyone touch the eye with a handkerchief or other agent that has been moistened with saliva or with the tip of the tongue.

In treating the eyes with some kind of liquid medicine one should take care never to invert the dropper after the solution has been drawn into the rubber end downward and the fluid permitted to run into the rubber and then back into the glass as the solution will very likely contain particles of powder that have washed off the rubber bulb, and these may irritate the eyes. Always hold up the rubber end of the dropper. The fluid should never be dropped directly on the eyeball unless the physician has so advised. The proper practice is to draw down the lower lid and place the drops on the exposed inner surface of the lid. One or two drops are always sufficient and it is only waste to use more.—Floyd W. Parsons in the Saturday Evening Post.

BARK ON TREES NOT WOOD

It Is Composed of Three Layers of Tissues, Each of Which Has Important Function.

Bark on trees and shrubs corresponds with skin on animals. But it has other uses which the skin hasn't. Bark isn't wood, and it isn't formed as wood is formed. It covers the wood, and it is generally an easy matter to separate the bark from the wood. Hemp and jute and flax are all bark—the outside covering of certain vegetable growths.

Bark is composed of three layers of tissues. The inside layer conducts food to the plant, and under a magnifying glass is seen to be made up of tiny fibers. Then there is the "green zone," as it is called, and this also is fibrous, and helps feed the plant. The outside layer is cork, and is really dead. That is, these cork cells develop and die immediately, so one really sees only a dead tree when he looks at the bark. The cork of commerce is the bark of a certain kind of tropical tree, but the outer layer of bark of all trees is technically known as cork, and the little cells going to make it up are called cork.

Soon Tired of Life.

A Lawrence (Kan.) young man, who craved the life of a fireman, applied for a position at the department and was told to report for duty at seven o'clock Thursday morning. Shortly after seven a practice drill was staged with all the thrills of a real alarm, with the new recruit an interested spectator. After the drill the chief brought in an application for insurance for the new fireman and asked him who should be notified in case he was the victim of an accident. The recruit said there would be no accidents so far as he was concerned, and thereupon tendered his resignation, having been a fireman for a period of 40 minutes.

Riches of the Indian Tribes.

In connection with the practical reservation industries maintained by the government there are conducted twelve demonstration farms and three experimentation farms, and nearly 400 farmers, stockmen and assistants are employed and live near Indian communities for giving instruction and counsel. Under authority of the law the service handles large sums annually in loans to Indians as initial capital for beginning their self-support and looks after the later liquidation of these loans. The value of all individual and tribal property, if recent mineral returns are included, is approximately $1,000,000,000.

"What is that?"

HEROES OF MIDDLE AGES

Stories of Their Great Size and Enormous Strength Appear to Be Exaggerated.

Physiologists, after having measured hundreds of skeletons, testify that the men of our own time average from one to two centimeters taller than the men of the middle ages according to a writer in the New York Evening Post. We possess their armor, and we do not only appear to have grown taller as a race since the time when the armor was made, but our shoulders could never fit inside the steel corselets of our medieval forefathers.

In France, the superintendent of the museums under the second empire, wishing to put on the armor of Francis I, the largest suit of all in the museum of artillery, was unable to do so. It was too small for him, although he was in no sense a giant.

Some years ago in Switzerland, on the occasion of a gymnastic tournament, the young men wishing to close the festivities by a procession with historic costumes, borrowed the arms and armor of the arsenal. But the young men were unable to get into it.

Of the supposedly enormous strength of those historic warriors we have no proof beyond the weight of the equipment. The harness of the knights was very much lighter than has commonly been supposed. According to one of the catalogues of the museum of artillery, the weight of the combined armor did not, as a rule, exceed fifty pounds, and inasmuch as those who wore it were horsemen it was the horse that had to bear the greater part of the burden.

"ON THE ROAD TO MANDALAY"

Babel of Tongues at Burmese City to Witness Dedication of New Pagoda.

A curious festival was held not long ago in Mandalay, the chief town of Burma. A new pagoda dedicated to the Buddhist religion was to be completed by the placing of a huge crown or thil upon its summit, more than 800 feet above the ground.

To witness the ceremony came Buddhists from Indo-China, from the Himalayas, from Laos and Chan and Siam. Warriors from Katschin, sorcerers from Mot and people from other places made a medley of languages like that of Babel.

On a street corner would be seen a barber pulling a customer's teeth.

On another corner a Mohammedan bird dealer sold caged paroquets to Buddhists, who piously set them free. At very modern booths one could buy ice cream, soda or tea. Mandalay was a gorgeous spectacle and the new pagoda was the center of it.

Every pagoda has at its summit a thil, or cap, the placing of which is often a herculean task. The one to be raised weighed several hundred pounds and consisted of a gilded ball and crown and a great spindle above it. To get it to the top an inclined plane of bamboo scaffolding like a huge toboggan slide had been built and was decorated with silk flags and umbrellas. Up the inclined plane the heavy cap was slowly pulled. Six days were required for the ascent and a seventh to fasten it in place.

Had the Wrong Car.

My husband deals in old and new cars, and I seldom drive the same car twice.

The other day I drove an old car downtown, and after doing some shopping started for home. I had not gone many blocks when I discovered I was not driving the same car I had when I left home, and immediately turned back. Where I had taken the car I saw an officer talking to a very much excited woman.

I offered all sorts of explanations, but it was most embarrassing, for the woman whose car I had taken was my next door neighbor, with whom I had not been on speaking terms for six months.—Chicago Tribune.

Wars of the United States.

A stray paragraph on "Wars of the United States" enumerates 19 wars. Ten of these were conflicts with Indian tribes, of which the most important were probably the Black Hawk war and the Seminole war. If these are called wars, an eleven might be added—the Modoc war of 1873. The important wars on the list are the War of the Revolution, the War of 1812, the Mexican war, the Civil war, the Spanish war, the War with Germany. The minor conflicts included in the list are: the War with France, 1798; the war with Tripoli, 1803; the Philippine war, 1890.—Outlook.

Sunburn Remedy.

One of the best remedies for a coat of sunburn is sweet cream. The cream is healing and not the least bit irritating to the most severely burned nose. The prepared "cold creams" are, of course, healing and bleaching, but are very apt to irritate the sensitive member. Before washing the face rub lightly with ordinary sweet table cream, let stand as long as possible, then wash the face with lukewarm water, using no soap. Sunburn is really painful to some persons and sweet cream lessens the hurt.

Like Topsy.

"What's your name?" said the officer to a young colored lad who joined the ship at the cape.

"Algoa Ray, sir."

"Where were you born?"

"Wasn't born at all, sir."

"Wasn't born at all?"

"No, sir; was washed ashore in a storm."—Everybody's Magazine.
