"THE BERRIANS."

The idea of adopting the name "The Berrians" to be used here in Newberg seems to be meeting with favor from many quarters. There is a great possibility in the proposition and the public is not slow to see this and are calling for some action to put the matter into concrete form. We would suggest the organization of a body similar to the Salem Cherrians and the Portland Rbsarians to give the matter form and publicity. As stated in Prof. Kilham's article last week, this is a berry center and will be even more so in the future. What could be more appropriate than to organize a body and adopt a name which would advertise our community and its adaptability for the growing of berries?

Would it not be a fine thing if we could have an organization of several hundred business people and farmers who would help give Newberg some valuable outside advertising by use of this name and by visiting Portland during the Rose Show and Salem during the State Fair and letting the people of the state know that we are really alive and doing something in Newberg?

And why not a berry carnival? Portland has her Rose Festival, Pendleton her Round-Up, Salem her Cherry Fair, McMinnville is advertising herself as the Walnut City. We believe that something of this nature could be easily handled and would prove to be of great benefit in bringing the berry growing industry into prominence. We believe that the idea is a good one and think that steps should be taken at once to adopt this name for Newberg and adjacent territory.

"A penny saved is a penny earned." No one will dispute the wisdom of this saying, but if everyone tried to save every penny they made, it would not be long until industry itself would cease. Extravagance should never be condoned, but penuriousness is not always economy.

There is probably no way to compel obedience to the headlight dimmer law, but if the person who does not dim his lights upon the approach of another auto could only comprehend his own danger in thus blinding an approaching driver, he would not run the risk.

We hope that Portland will succeed in getting the exposition in 1925. It will be a fine thing for Newberg. Hundreds of thousands of people will visit Portland and thousands of them will visit the adjacent country. Newberg should make early preparations to get many of these visitors to come here and see the many superior advantages which we enjoy.

Newberg will never achieve greatness through patronizing Portland industries. We are proud of our many industries and we should help maintain them by giving them our patronage just as far as possible.

The auto accident on the highway last Sunday afternoon should be a warning to all motorists about trying to overtake another car unless they are absolutely sure of a clear road ahead.

In the matter of building homes Newberg people seem to have adopted a "you first" policy. We need more new houses and everyone should be ready to help out.

We notice that quite a good many Newberg people have taken advantage of the clean-up period, but why not take the lesson to heart and keep the premises clean?

One of the best ways to boost Newberg is to buy Newberg goods. A dollar spent elsewhere will never help build up your own community.

EXCURSION FARE IN AGAIN

San Francisco, Cal., April 18.—Re-establishment of excursion rates to all points east by all transcontinental roads, was announced by the Southern Pacific company today. The rates were suspended in 1917.

Tickets will be sold from June 15 to August 15 and the time limit will be October 31. The old excursion rate of one and one-third fares for the round trip will be restored.

Excursion rates on these carriers to all points west were announced some months ago. Today's order returns the roads to the old excursion status.—Oregonian.

Oil Fever Breaking Out In This District Again.

News of the striking of oil at Amity, which, while not substantiated by first-hand information, has been circulating persistently here the past few days, has brought a new vision of prosperity before the eyes of some of our folks and it is understood that there is being formed here a joint stock company to make arrangements to search for oil in this vicinity. From the Yonderlea farm of J. B. McNerney & Son, a couple of miles from town, comes news of the discovery of what seems to be traces of this valuable deposit. A very deep well on this farm, which is their chief water supply, has lately been practically spoiled by the appearance on the water of a thick, dark, inflammable fluid and some of this has been bottled and sent away to be analyzed.—Carlton Sentinel.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES FROM HIGH SCHOOL

If it were not so serious from an economic standpoint, it would simply cause the farmer to laugh heartily were he to read such remarks as we are told by The Rural New Yorker were made by the Hon. Norman J. Gould, representing the thirty-sixth congressional district, New York State, during a recent attack on the farm bureau. He charged the bureau was arbitrarily trying to increase prices by restricting production, and after getting properly keyed up from the dramatic standpoint, burst forth with the, to him, supposedly enlightening statement that the farm bureau is "absolutely dangerous to the health and prosperity of the country."

The New York State Federation of Farm Bureaus came back at him in a rather dignified way, evidently intending to be diplomatic. The response was not heartily approved by the farmers, but the come-back of Mr. H. S. Millager of Yates county, met with instant whole-souled backing. Mr. Yates said, among other things, "I want to ask you, Mr. Gould, who has a better right to regulate production than the farmer? The coal operators cut all production in order to create an artificial shortage. Result—the public unable to get coal at any price. Did you or congress say anything? Woolen mills and cotton mills, in fact all manufacturers are doing little or nothing, leaving the raw material that they should use in the producers hands. This, you no doubt, think perfectly proper."

"I wonder how long you would continue to make a certain line of pumps for the farmer when it was plain to you that there would be a surplus and you could not see a possible profit; and I want to remind you, Mr. Gould, that it will be mighty few pumps you will sell unless the farmer does make a profit."

"You condemn our organization because we desire to control our own products. Well, who in the name of justice, has a better right than the farmer? Surely not the food speculator or profiteer! Another matter seems to be worrying you quite a little; that is the activities of the farm organizations relative to matters of legislation."

"Organized industry asks for special acts; also organized labor, not only asks but demands special legislation. Why then, pray, has not organized agriculture the same right to ask or recommend certain laws that they believe will be of benefit, not only to their own business, but to all co-related interests?"

Mr. Gould, it is claimed, represents certain big interests that are fighting the Farm Bureau. Let us be warned—and "fight the devil with his own weapons" in this state.

New Pastor for Methodist Church at McMinnville.

Rev. Milton A. Marcy of Dayton has been nappedointed by Bishop Shepard as pastor of the McMinnville M. E. church. Rev. Marcy is one of the leading young men of the Oregon conference. He is a graduate of Willamette University in class of 1915, and also from Kimball School of Theology same year. He was admitted to the Oregon conference in 1911 and served Falls City and Dayton, being now in his sixth year on his present charge and has made a fine record.

Besides his work as pastor he has taught in the public school of Dayton for three years, the last year being principal of the school. He has been very successful in his work among the young people, there being now under construction in Dayton a church community hall, which will be dedicated in June. Rev. Marcy
