A COMMUNITY ASSET

We cannot believe that there are many people in this community who would not say that they think it a good thing for the community to have Pacific college located here. Aside from those intangible assets which the community derives in the way of moral, social and educational advantages attendant upon the location of a college in its midst, there are many more tangible ones to be considered. Should anyone come to Newberg with a proposition to locate an institution here representing several hundred thousands of dollars in investment and an annual expenditure of thousands in the community, every person in the community would be anxious to have that institution located here. They would doubtless go much further than that and would be ready to do anything possible to help secure that institution. We have, in Pacific college, just such an institution, and if we are at all consistent, we will make every effort to keep the college here.

Pacific college has reached a point in its career which is both critical and epochal. She must either go forward or backward. We refuse to believe that the people of Newberg would allow the college to fail for want of their support. The present endowment campaign for $150,000 is now within $30,000 of completion. Much of the money so far pledged is upon the condition that the entire $150,000 is raised. Newberg cannot afford to allow this $120,000 to go for lack of the $30,000 which is still to be raised.

But the $150,000 is not all that is at stake, for when this is raised, Pacific college will be in line for standardization and then she can avail herself of many advantages which will make for her success. We do not know how many families there are in Newberg who would not be here were it not for the college, but we venture the assertion that we would all be surprised at their number should we have the figures submitted us. In many places it is estimated that every family which comes into the community is worth $1,000 to that community. Aside from the instructors and officers of the college, the regular help employed and the students who attend, there are a large number of people in the community who live here simply because they want the influence and environment furnished by the college for their families. Regardless of sectarian feeling or personal prejudices, Newberg cannot afford to let the college fail of support. It is too valuable an asset to the community. The local Friends have responded heroically to the appeal and we understand that they have gone their limit. Outside Friends, who, while not personally interested in the college, are interested in Christian education, have given most liberally. Newberg people should weigh all of these things in considering their own responsibility toward the college.

OUR SPEECH

There seems to be an increasing use of such illuminating and highly expressive, shall we say words, as uh huh, uh uh, and yuh on the part of a large number of otherwise perfectly refined and intelligent people. One has only to listen to the conversation of a great many persons over the telephone to realize this fact. Having lived where the original Americans abound in large numbers during recent years, we are awlays reminded of them when we hear these expressions in use and wonder whether the persons using them realize the extreme ugliness of their sound to the auditor.

How much more pleasing to the ear is the word, yes than the expression uh huh, or no than uh uh. We wish that someone would start a campaign for a purity of speech and a revision to the good old English language. Slang is another evil of whose encroachments we should beware. It sems so much easier to supply a slang expression for a good pure English phrase and oftentimes the slang seems really more expressive than more commonly accepted expression. But there is another side to the question which should certainly be considered. The tendency to the use of slang expression is gradually robbing the people of a deeper knowledge of their own language. No one can hope to increase their vocabulary or their knowledge of our language and be able to use words which possess fine shades of meaning and which will fully express their meaning, unless they are willing to eschew the use of slang and when in doubt regarding just the word they want to express their thought, looking that word up in whatever sources of information may be available. And in these days when free libraries are accessible to almost everyone, there is small excuse for not learning new words and new expressions which will increase one's vocabulary and one's ability to use good pure English. Let's revert to good English and not to aboriginal gruntings.

NEWS

Funk & Wagnall's Standard Dictionary defines the word "news" as being "fresh information concerning something that has recently taken place." With this definition as a basis, we wish to urge our subscribers and readers to furnish this office with news of any nature which they may have. You are interested in what your neighbor is doing, and your neighbor is likewise interested in what you are doing. No one should feel that in giving an item of news to the paper they are putting themselves forward nor should anyone feel the least hesitancy about furnishing the newspaper office with the facts concerning any item of news about themselves. Oftentimes other persons are also concerned in this item and it is a matter of courtesy to them to see that the newspaper office is furnished with the facts of the item. Then too, the newspaper sometimes gets the information from another source and perhaps it is given them incorrectly. We appeal to the people of Newberg and vicinity to see that the Graphic is at all times furnished with the facts concerning any item of news which they may have in their possession. By so doing you will help the paper to get a correct statement of the facts; you will be helping to make your home paper more interesting and you will often be doing an act of courtesy for a friend. A newspaper man is only a human being and he cannot know of all of the things which are happening in the community. If he is on the alert, he will naturally get more news than if he is not, but even the most alert newspaper man cannot hope to get all of the community's happenings. For this reason we shall deeply appreciate your cooperation in furnishing us news.

CIVIC PRIDE

One has only to travel the length of south College street to see an example of what may be accomplished by citizens having a real pride in their city's appearance. With its overhanging trees, its fine, well kept lawns, its beautiful homes, and its magnificent rose hedges it points a moral to the citizens of Newberg which should actuate them to try and keep their street or section of the city up to this one. Newberg can easily become the most beautiful city in the state. Let's make it so.

We would like to see every citizen take a real pride in the appearance of his home surroundings. Keep his grass cut, his shrubs trimmed, weeds eliminated, trees in good shape, flowers nicely arranged and cared for. All of these things are necessary to make for a city beautiful. There are many beautiful homes and lawns and flower gardens in Newberg now. Let's make it unanimous by seeing that our own place is not inferior to any. A feeling of civic pride should make us want to keep our city in such condition that travelers passing through will note its beautiful homes and comment upon them. Let's make it known everywhere for its cleanliness and beauty. If each one will do his or her share it will not be a big task and we'll attain our objective. The city itself is setting an example along these lines and with the paving completed and the cement sidewalks installed all around town it will be much more possible for the people to make Newbery a city beautiful. Let's all do our part.

The Willamina Times waxes exceeding wroth at the north end of the county because, they say that the north end of the county, having received their own paved highways, voted down highways for the south end. And yet brother Cole in a previous issue of the Willamina Times stated that the blame lay upon the people of his own community who failed to turn out and vote. The fact is that the measure only lost by a margin of something like sixty votes and, had the people of the district involved, turned out and voted for it themselves it would have carried. But it is always much easier to blame the other fellow and consequently, now that the deed is done, the Times would place the blame upon the north end of the county. Which statement of the Times are we going to believe?

An accident occured on the Sheridan-McMinnville road last week which should point a warning to all autoists. Because a driver failed to dim his lights as he should an approaching driver was blinded and unable to see a buggy in front of him and ran into it, resulting in a bad accident. If only every auto driver could realize that his blinding lights present a menace to himself from an approaching driver who may be blinded by them, all would be more careful. Too often however, it is the innocent party who suffers.

The berry pickers are complaining about the low price paid for picking. The growers are complaining about the low price paid for their berries. The canneries are complaining because they have been unable to sell their stock at any price and the public are complaining because they have to pay such a high price for their canned goods. Who started this thing any way?

Judging by the prices of some commodities, there are some people in the world who do not know that the war is over yet.

We've observed that the man who never wants to give anything more than he's just paid for never gets anywhere in life. The world wants service and they'll pay for it eventually. Sometimes the reward is delayed in coming, but its certain that it will never come to the many who never do anything to earn it.

Newberg is beginning to be known throughout the state as a real live community. Let's all do our part to make it even more so. When you are asked to assist in the coming berry festival, think of this and don't refuse to do your part. This is another opportunity to show the people from the outside that we are alive.

Still waters run deep, but its the swift, shallow, turbulent water that turns the wheels of industry. Don't get into a deep rut and be content to remain where you are. Get out into the turmoil of life and do something. Make your life and your community count in the world.

Some men are always complaining because they are not rated highly enough in their community, but those are usually the fellows who have never done anything for the community.

July is going to be some busy month in Newberg with the berry festival and the chautauqua both coming.
