CHRISTIAN CHURCH NOTES

The regular monthly social of the C. E. society was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Parrish at Fernwood on Friday of last week. A most enjoyable time is reported and those who attended are loud in their praise of the splendid hospitality of the host.

Owing to the W. C. T. U. meeting last Tuesday the Sisterhood of the church postponed their monthly meeting but it is hoped that a large attendance will be had at the next meeting.

The women's missionary society meets on Tuesday of next week. This is always a pleasant meeting. The minister is scheduled to speak at this meeting.

The summer and holiday slump has not yet hit this congregation for the services of last Lord's day were exceptionally well attended. A feature of the evening service was the singing of a number of the old time hymns which were enjoyed immensely by all. The sermon was not too long and emphasized the necessity of being concerned about the great question, "What Think Ye of Christ?" rather than quibbling over so many comparatively trivial questions in regard to the scriptures. These services are intended to be helpful and we appreciate the cooperation of those interested in the work of the Master.

Sermon topics for next week are as follows. In the morning at 11, "Our Partnership." This is especially for Christians. At 8 p. m. the topic will be "Neutralizing the Power of God." Everyone should hear this.

There was no teacher's training class last Monday as most of the members were enjoying a holiday. The class will meet next Monday at Presbyterian church at 8 o'clock.

Bible school, 10 a. m. Classes for all.

Praise service, 11 a. m. A joyful hour.

Junior C. E., 5 p. m. Boys and girls.

Senior C. E., 7 p. m. Always good.

Song service, 8 p. m. A live sermon.

Prayer meeting, Wednesday, 7:30. All are welcome.

C. H. Phillips, Pastor.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH NOTES

A discerning mind, a mind that can see back of common events their meaning, and back of the acts of worship the tremendous significance of these, were the topics at the communion table, for meditation last Sabbath morning. Sorry is the man to whom nothing is sacred, everything common and all alike, and surface events with no deeper meaning; a man who cannot read in the things of daily life, the animating moral messages they bring. And this is the power that is developed at the communion table, or in which some people fail, who "do not discern the Lord's body" in the elements of the bread and the cup, and hence either treat them lightly or reject them.

Sabbath school at 9:45 next Sabbath, Mr. Sanderman, superintendent. Men's Bible class in Revelations in the office.

Preaching next Sabbath morning and evening by Rev. William Lee Gray, in exchange with pastor Lee. Y. P. S. C. E. at 7:00—"Our Reasonable Service." Rom. 12:1-8, leader, Llewellyn Sanderman. These meetings exercise the young people in things no one of us should miss in the early years of life.

Wednesday evening at 8:00, mid-week service, "Conversion of Saul." Acts 9:1-19a. Bible knowledge is the reward of prayerful study; and with this comes every other blessing needed from above. "A book of remembrance was written before Him for them that feared Jehovah and that thought upon His Name."

Strong and joyous christian life, understanding the times in which we live and the times that are to come, this is easy for bible students.

The young folks choir is organized with Mr. Crow and Miss Reid, committee, Llewellyn Sanderman, anthem committee and accompanist; Mr. Reid, librarian.

These are delightful days for church work and times when it is urgently needed. There should be no careless let-down in the great work of the Master and his worship now. Outside slackers may abound but their example is not to be followed nor their principles. We should fill the house of worship with the songs of praise and prayer and heavenly instruction. A reckless abuse of the Sabbath is one of the greatest moral menaces of our times. "A Sabbath well spent brings a week of content."

And peace and enjoyment tomorrow; But a Sabbath profaned, whatever be gained.

Is a certain fore-runner of sorrow. The trustees are making arrangements for a new roof in whole or in part to stop up the leaks recently developing in the church building. It is also hoped that the new tennis court will soon be ready.

The meeting of the Aid Society is to be held next week. Further notice will be given on Sunday.

POULTRY FLOCKS

TEST EGGS AT LEAST TWICE

Make Inspection on Seventh and Fourteenth Days for Those Infertile or With Dead Germs.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

It is of little profit for a hen to sit patiently for 21 days if the eggs over which she fluffs her feathers are infertile or if the germs in them have died. Neither does it pay to run an incubator for three weeks, with its attendant care and expense, if the eggs in it are not fertile.

All poultry owners who raise chicks should be thoroughly familiar with the method of testing eggs. An egg, whether it is fertile or not, has a small grayish spot, known as the germinal spot, on the surface of the yolk. As soon as a fertile egg is placed under a hen or in an incubator the development of the germ begins. All eggs should be tested at least twice during the incubation period, say poultry specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. This is done preferably on the seventh and fourteenth days. The infertile eggs, and those with dead germs, should then be removed. White-shell eggs can be tested on the fourth or fifth day, whereas the development of eggs having brown shells often can not be seen by the use of the ordinary egg tester until the seventh day.

A satisfactory home-made egg tester or candler can be made with a shoe box or any other box large enough to hold the lamp. Cut a hole a little larger than a 25-cent piece in the side of the box, so that when the lamp is placed inside the box the hole in the side will be opposite the flame. Make a hole also in the top of the box large enough to prevent the top from catching fire from the heat of the lamp. When the chimney is long enough, allow it to extend through the top of the box. This permits the heat to escape and avoids the risk of fire. Special care should always be exercised in using kerosene lamps in candleing to prevent fire. To prevent further possibility of fire, a wooden box may be used in place of a pasteboard one, and, if desired, the opening through which the chimney extends may be lined with tin or asbestos.

Electric or gas lamps may be used in a box with a hole in the same way that the kerosene lamp is used. The hole which is in the side of the box should be on the same level as the light. The eggs may also be tested by sunlight or daylight, using a shade or curtain with a hole in it for the light to shine through.

Testing with a tester or candler should be done in a dark room. Hold each egg with the large end up, so that the size of the air cell may be seen, as well as the condition of the embryo or germ. An infertile egg when candled looks perfectly clear, the same as a fresh one; while a fertile egg shows a dark spot known as the embryo, with a mass of little blood veins radiating in all directions. When the germ is dead, and the egg has been incubated for at least 48 hours, the blood settles away from the embryo toward the edges of the yolk, forming in some cases an irregular circle of blood, known as a blood ring. Eggs vary in this respect, some showing only a streak of blood.

All infertile eggs, and those with dead germs, should be removed at the end of the first test. Eggs with dead germs soon decay and give off a bad odor if allowed to remain. The infertile eggs make good feed for young chickens.

At the second test, on the fourteenth day, the eggs containing strong, living embryos will be dark and well filled up, showing a clear, sharp, distinct line between the air cell and the growing embryo, while eggs with dead germs will show only partial development and lack this clear, distinct outline.

The period of incubation for hen's eggs is 21 days, but usually some of the eggs hatch the evening of the twentieth day. Sometimes it happens, however, that the hatch will run over the twenty-first day, especially during cool weather.

Give a Hand.

In every community there are successful men—men of experience, men of means. In every community there are young men who might make a success of life. They have it in them; all they lack is some one to give a hand. It may not be money they need, perhaps only an interested friend. Somebody helps whenever a young man gets started right in anything. Somewhere every successful man got a start by some one's help. To keep the world moving on an upward slope the process must be made perpetual. Each man, once started, should become a starter of others. And who starts another gets himself along at a more rapid gait. There is that in helping another that reflects not credit alone to the agent, but a bent of mind, an outlook on life, a generosity of soul, that wins a way forward for himself also.—Thrift Magazine.

Plant Shrubs Now.

Now is a good time to plan for some flowers and shrubs around the house. They are worth the little extra care they make.
