Mid-week services—Wednesday at 7:30—I Kings 19th chapter; a rich hour of devotions and study of the book.

The word evolution is being used in different ways, to deceive many. Some people mean by it the change, in millions of years, of one kind of animal into another. The idea is preposterous and contrary to all that we know and that true science teaches us. There is no trace of science turning into another kind of animal anywhere to be found in nature. The theory is wild and utterly without proof. The links of evidence are missing; and all the evidence we have goes to show that the animals were created each "after its kind," and that they have always so continued. No one can truthfully deny this.

A recent issue of the Graphic had this thought in one of its lines: No one can be a safe and true religious teacher who does not first divest himself of his own opinions, views and prejudices, so as to approach the study of Christ with a clear mind. One reader says this cannot be done, that no one can rid himself, at least of some of his own pre-conceived opinions. Nevertheless it was this primary truth that our Master expressed plainly with reference to Himself when he said, I do nothing of myself, but as the Father taught me, I speak. I can of myself do nothing; as I hear I judge. See John 12:49. And similarly He said to His friends, Without Me, ye can do nothing. And later, Paul said, I am nothing, but Christ is all. The same is often repeated in the guide book, in various ways, and there is a deep and splendid philosophy or reason in it all; for to be a real master of any study, one must get his mind wholly into the inductive state, the condition of inquiry and investigation without reference to one's likes or dislikes of what is discovered. People who do not thus divest themselves of prejudice and preconceived notions, never can be safe scientists and students, much less teachers. Christ can do this for us.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Saturday of last week this congregation held its annual business meeting. Following the dinner, which was served at noon by the sisterhood, reports were read from the various departments of the church. All told of an active year, and though some only presented the report since April last they were of a most encouraging character. The congregation now numbers 175 and during the past year has had a 15 per cent increase in membership. The total monies received both for missions and local expenses amounted to $1530, an increase of approximately 30 per cent over the previous year. The bible school presented a report for the past eight months which showed an average attendance of 88, with an average collection of $4.04, beside which there has been collected for benevolences $105.00. The C. E. societies also presented reports showing gains in numbers and activity. The women's missionary society has held its regular sessions and has added to the above named sums for missions by dues and special collections from its members. No auxiliary of the church spoke of other than some increase over the preceding year and all are encouraged at the prospect for the coming year.

The evening service of last Sunday was very well attended and all seemed to enjoy the hour spent. Mr. Phillips delivered a sermon full of optimism in sustaining his claim that the world is not getting worse but is better than ever before. He spoke of the fact that the scriptures do not support the theory that the world will gradually become worse, and that by contrasting the present, social condition with that of the middle ages and especially with the first century we can see that things have changed for the better. Mr. Phillips also contended that the plan of Christ was that the gospel should transform the lives of men and thus make the world better and that according to the parables the kingdom of heaven was to "leaven" and embrace the whole world. He appealed for a deeper consecration to the cause of Christ to meet the efforts of those who would make the gospel of none effect.

A special sermon is announced for next Sunday evening. "Can we speak with the dead?" is the title, and it will be a discussion of Spiritism. Everyone who has the time or inclination should hear this address.

This congregation with others of the brotherhood will enter a great personal evangelism campaign to win 100,000 to Christ before Easter. "Each one win one" is the slogan. The bible school will be looked to as likely to furnish many who will accept Christ during this campaign.

There will be some special days in the bible school shortly. Watch these columns and be sure to come.

Young people should not miss the C. E. meetings; intermediate at 4 p. m. and seniors at 6:30; a splendid time is assured. Senior C. E. social Friday night; all young people invited.

A cordial invitation extended to all to worship with us at all services. C. H. Phillips, minister.

Make Her a Present of 52 Days a Year

By having us relieve her of the family washing, you can make her a gift of 52 days a year.

It's a present which she is certain to appreciate—it is one which every member of the family will enjoy with her, for after all, everything in the home revolves around Mother.

So, Mr. Head of the Family, just take things into your own hands this week and see that all of the washing is sent us—every last thing that needs laundering.

And Mother, at a very slight cost, will have a whole day every week to do with as she pleases. It's worth while—ask any of your friends at whose homes our wagons call regularly. Then phone us—we'll come promptly for your bundle.
