If there is a better stretch of country road anywhere in the state than the one west from the Dundee postoffice we have failed to find it. It has recently been scraped again and these days of sunshine have put it in perfect condition.

The basketball game between Dayton and Dundee on Saturday evening was not fought to a finish, owing to a misunderstanding between the teams. It is hoped that the difficulty will be explained away and the game played at some future date.

Once again, Hurrah for Dundee! Picture the setting, Third and Washington streets in Portland, at three o'clock on Saturday afternoon, the day before Christmas. Traffic of all kinds was held up while the traffic policeman and various members of the crowd of spectators tried in vain to capture a bantam rooster that had escaped from an express delivery truck. The frightened fowl darted here and there with cries of fear, eluding outstretched arms and caught sight of W. E. Andrus of Dundee, and, seemingly recognizing a lover of all animal life, went straight to him. Mr. Andrus captured the frightened cockerel and returned it to the worried driver, while the crowd cheered, the cop went back to his post, street cars and autos moved once more, and the mad rush of belated Christmas shopping went merrily on.

Mrs. F. W. Meyer was hostess on Thursday at the meeting of the Dundee Woman's club. After the business meeting, Mrs. Meyer gave an interesting paper on Edmund Burke, followed by his famous peace plea in his speech on the conciliation of America. The 1925 fair and methods of financing the same brought forth a general discussion, every lady present expressing her views. While opinion is divided somewhat as to the method of financing the fair there was a unanimous agreement in favor of the fair itself and the benefits of the same to the whole northwest. After the program, refreshments were served by the hos-tes and her assistants. The third Thursday in the month will be the date for the next meeting of the club. Each lady is asked to come with a copy of the "Club Woman's Catechism," as recently published in our papers, and to take part in a discussion of the questions and answers set forth in the catechism.
