FARMERS' CHAUTAUQUA IS A BIG SUCCESS

WEDNESDAY PROGRAM IS GOOD

Large Crowd and Good Program on First Day—Rest Will Be Given Next Week

Wednesday, the first day of the farmers' chautauqua, was a decided success. One of the speakers, W. G. Allen, of Salem, was unable to be present, so Prof. G. Bouquet occupied the time otherwise allotted to Mr. Allen, in answering questions of general interest in gardening. Prof. Bouquet brought out the necessity of planning the garden so as to have a succession of vegetables the entire year. Then he went into details on the various garden pests and their control. He emphasized the value of good seeds, properly selected and acclimated. Then he spoke on irrigation and cultivation and the necessity of keeping the growing vegetables healthy and growing constantly. He recommended in purchasing young plants to be set out to get vigorous, well grown even ones, even if somewhat higher priced, as it would pay in the long run. He especially advised planting a bed of asparagus and the forcing rhubarb, which can be grown in total darkness.

After Prof. Bouquet's address the meeting adjourned for lunch, to be called to order at 1:30 p. m. for an address by Prof. Bars of O. A. C. on diseases of the fruit. Prof. Bars handled his subject in a very able manner, taking up the several diseases of the apple and the pear and dealing shortly on small fruits. He gave a very clear treatise on the apple scab, its method of development, and the spraying and work necessary for its control. He treated on codling moth, scale, in fact all the common pests and diseases of the apple and pear and their control, time of spraying, etc. He laid stress upon the fact that no orchardist need expect to succeed unless he controlled the diseases that have come with the commercial orchard work. He spoke a short time on spraying logans and the prevention of "die-back" in this industry.

Prof. Bars expressed it as his hope that a better system of inspection would be worked out for Portland in order to prevent the introduction of new fruit diseases into this northwestern fruit district. Several questions were asked bringing out various phases of the spraying game. Following the address by Prof. Bars, C. D. Brewster of the Kerr, Gifford company of Portland gave a very interesting talk on "Poultry." Mr. Brewster is a master of his subject and showed it in a practical way. He outlined poultry raising in general, but laid especial emphasis on feeding. He gave the values of the various grains, the necessity of having proteins, etc., to make a balanced ration and form the different ingredients of the eggs.

There was a good attendance and a keen interest shown by all. The program was under the auspices of the Newberg Farmers' club and with Mr. Newhouse as chairman in the forenoon and W. V. Dolph in the afternoon, things were carried out in a most creditable manner. The various clubs can be congratulated in starting this movement, and the able way in which it is being handled.

DEATH OF MRS. EARL HUTCHINSON SAD EVENT

Mrs. Earl Hutchinson, who had been sick for some weeks and who was taken to the Oregon City hospital some three weeks previous to her death, passed away at that place Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hutchinson were only married less than five months, the taking away of this young wife in the very prime of life, is indeed a sad blow to the husband and family.

Obituary

Gladys Lowry was born at Oregon City, Oregon, March 21, 1902, and died at Oregon City, January 12, 1922, aged 19 years, nine months, and 21 days. She was married to Earl Hutchinson of Newberg, Oregon, at Canby, on August 17, 1921.

The deceased leaves besides the bereaved husband, a father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lowry of Canby, one sister, Mrs. Sam Egli of Canby, and three brothers, Arthur Lowry of Centralia, Washington, and Virgil and Glen Lowry both of Canby.

Funeral services were held from the M. E. church at Canby on Sunday, January 15, Rev. Boyd Moore officiating. Interment followed at Zion cemetery near Canby.

Mr. Hutchinson, who is the proprietor of the Newberg Cyclery, is well and favorably known in Newberg and his many friends will sympathize with him in this great loss.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends for their kindness and beautiful floral offerings at our recent bereavement.

Earl Hutchinson,
Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lowry.

John Durham of Portland was a Newberg business visitor on Thursday.

FLAGS WILL BE PRESENTED TO THE FIRE DEPT. IN FEBRUARY

Some time ago, in fact several months ago, it was announced that the Newberg fire department had won a flag on its record in fire prevention work covering a two year period and in competition with cities all over the state. This flag was to be awarded by Governor Olcott and negotiations have been pending and arrangements have been under way with a view to making this quite an event locally.

The following letter has been received from the state fire marshal and is self-explanatory:

Salem, Or., Jan. 17, 1922.
J. H. Sherlock, chief fire dept., Newberg, Oregon.

My Dear Chief:
Since writing you last concerning the flag award to be made in your city, I have arranged with Mr. J. W. Stevens, head of the fire prevention bureau on the coast, to be at Astoria and Hood River the latter part of February.

I would be pleased to arrange the presentation of flags at your city for the latter part of February and we can have Mr. Stevens with us at that time. Please advise if this can be done, and oblige. Very truly yours,

A. C. Barber,
State Fire Marshal.

The Newberg fire department has rendered valuable service to the community and their efficiency and alertness stand as a guarantee to our entire citizenry against the ravages of the demon fire. No one knows when it will be his house which the department is called upon to save from the flames, and consequently it behooves everyone to show their appreciation of the department by cooperating with them in every way possible. The winning of the flag is a distinct honor. Its presentation by the governor, and the governor's visit to Newberg is an added honor which should receive due recognition on the part of our people.

When this date is set, local business houses, schools and private citizens should make it a holiday or part holiday and assist in the celebration of the event.

FIRE DEPARTMENT NEWS.

The fire department were called out at 6:30 Wednesday morning to the home of W. Kellas on west Fifth street. The blaze was confined to the roof and the damage was estimated at $150.00, covered by insurance. The cause of the fire was an overheated stove pipe.

Chief Sherlock was notified by the Governor that any date would be agreeable to him for the presentation of the trophy flag. The committee will announce the date in a few days.

At the meeting of the fire department on Monday evening a resolution was passed that the men of the department be placed under the state workmen's compensation act. Under the present system, the men have no way of making up a fund to take care of possible injuries or death caused while in the line of duty. Each man is required to pay on the average of thirty cents per month and the city pays on the basis of each man receiving $20.00 per month. It is hoped that the council will pass favorably on this matter, as the men should be protected by such insurance as the compensation received by the firemen for fighting fires is very small.

At the meeting on Monday evening the men retired to the fire hall for house drill.

MRS. LYNN B. FERGUSON PASSED AWAY WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Lynn B. Ferguson, who has been sick for the past two weeks or more following an attack of pleurisy, which later developed into bronchial pneumonia, passed away at her home in this city Wednesday night. Mrs. Ferguson gradually became weaker from day to day and although doctors were called in from Portland, nothing apparently could stop the progress of the disease.

Funeral services will be conducted from the home at 2:30 p. m., Friday, Rev. C. E. Gibson officiating. The complete obituary will be published next week.

FUNERAL OF CHESTER MILLER

The body of Chester Miller, who was killed in France in 1919, arrived in Portland, Wednesday of last week. Chester was a first lieutenant, and an only son of Fred O. Miller, vice-president of the Miller Mercantile company, and a nephew of U. S. G. Miller of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. U. S. G. Miller, Miss Mabel Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Miller attended the funeral in Portland Saturday, at 2 p. m., and in his honor all the Miller stores closed for a period of five minutes, from 2 o'clock to 2:05 o'clock.

MAYOR OF YAMHILL DIED

Edwin F. Magoon, mayor of Yamhill, died suddenly at his home in Yamhill Sunday night of neuralgia of the heart. Mayor Magoon had been in poor health for some time, but his death was a shock to his family and many friends. Mr. Magoon was born in Iowa in 1868. He came west and located first at Gaston several years ago, later moving to Yamhill. Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon and all business houses in Yamhill closed as a mark of respect.

JURY FINDS O. E. HALL GUILTY; JUDGE FINES HIM $300 AND COSTS; FILE NOTICE OF APPEAL

The trial of O. E. Hall, which occupied the attention of the justice court in this city Wednesday, drew a capacity house and the judge's rooms were packed all day while the "S. R. O." sign didn't prevent a large crowd congregating on the outside and waiting for a possible chance to get in and hear some of the trial. Hall, who was formerly charged with receiving illicit moonshine whiskey, was represented by Attorney G. F. Alexander of the law firm of Alexander & Alexander of Portland. The prosecution was conducted by Attorney Conner of McMinnville.

Judge Churchill called the case at about 10 a. m. and the prosecution immediately filed an amended complaint to which the defense took exceptions on the grounds that it was in effect a new complaint and that they were not prepared to answer it. The court ruled allowing the amended complaint and ordered the trial to proceed under this. The amended complaint was to the effect that Hall was charged with having and possessing illicit moonshine whiskey.

Attorney Alexander then appealed for an extension of time in which to prepare and answer to this complaint, which he alleged was a new complaint, but the judge stated that he could see no difference between receiving and having in its effect, and ordered the case to proceed to trial.

The attorney for the defense then moved that the case be set aside and the defendant be discharged on the grounds that the names of the witnesses did not appear on the complaint. Attorney Conner in answer to this statement alleged that this was not necessary and that if such a contention were allowed it would make it almost impossible to ever bring anyone to trial and convict them. The judge overruled this motion also.

The defense then entered a plea of not guilty and at once filed a motion for a change of venue to the McMinnville district, alleging that because of a still having been found on the defendant's brother's place, that the people of Newberg had become so prejudiced against the defendant, that he was not himself implicated, that it would be impossible to get an impartial trial as the judge had talked with and heard the conversations of these people. After some very sarcastic remarks on the part of both attorneys, the judge declared a recess of thirty minutes in which to consider the question. At the conclusion of this recess, the judge stated that although he was inclined to favor the granting of the request for a change of venue, that because of the fact that all of the witnesses lived here and that they were on hand ready for the hearing, he would deny the motion, and order the trial to proceed.

Attorney Alexander then asked for a jury trial and the court proceeded to the drawing of a jury. Five jurors were selected before the noon hour, they being as follows: N. F. Byers, Joe Wilhelmson, Henry Chase, L. C. Palmer and Walter Reid. W. W. Nelson was excused as being a first cousin of City Marshal Ferguson, who appeared as the complainant in the case. A recess was then taken until one o'clock, when Tom Sutton was selected as the sixth juror and the prosecution proceeded to introduce its testimony.

The first witness called was Frank Shook, Jr., who stated that he delivered a package to Hall on the 3rd of January, but who said that he didn't know what was in it. When asked what kind of a package it was he said, "A sack." Asked where he got it, he refused to tell, saying that it might incriminate him. He was then shown an affidavit and asked if he recognized the signature, to which he replied in the affirmative. After first trying to evade the question, as to whether the affidavit were true, he finally said that it was.

The second witness called was Mrs. Elmina Gell. Mrs. Gell stated that she saw Shook drive up to Hall's place and that Hall came out and went to the back of the buggy and then around to the front and took something out of it and went back in the house. On cross-examination she was unable to swear that the man in the buggy was Shook and said that she didn't know what was in the sack. Mrs. Ella Evans was then called and her testimony was much the same as that of Mrs. Gell.

Chancey Gell, who was called next, stated that he was going down town that afternoon and that Hall accosted him and asked to ride down with him. Hall had a package under his arm. Hall told him that he had a package to mail. He stated that he let Hall out at the Palm confectionery. On cross-examination, when asked if he would be willing to swear that this was the same box which Hall had with him, he said that although he had thought it was smaller, he felt sure that this was the one. Attorney Alexander ridiculed Gell for giving Hall a ride and then reporting to Night Marshal Wallace that he had a package to mail.

Night Marshal Wallace was the next witness and he proved to be a very strong and positive one. Wallace stated that Gell told him that Hall was going to mail a package and he started down to overtake Hall and investigate. Hall left the Palm confectionery, he said, and went across to the Graham drug store. Wallace followed him in there and Hall pulled out a chair from under a table and laid the box in the chair and shoved it back under the table. This Wallace stated aroused his suspicions and he went over to the table and started conversation with Hall, during which he pulled out the chair and observed the box. He asked Hall if he was mailing a Christmas present to some one and Hall said he was. Witness stated that he asked Hall if it was not rather late, and he said yes, but that the parties would appreciate it that as much. He looked at the box and noticed that it was addressed to Ada, Oregon. He told Hall that he was acquainted there and examined the label and saw that it was addressed to a Mrs. or a Miss McCollum. He then took the box up and shook it. The defense gave Wallace a grilling but could not shake his testimony apparently.

Glen Willavize, who is employed at the Palm confectionery, was then called and testified that Hall came into the confectionery and asked him to mail a box, which he refused to do. Hall asked him several times. At last he said Hall went out going towards the post office with the box. After examining the box held by the prosecution he said he thought it was the same and that the address was the same. He was sure of the first name but not the last one. Questioning brought out the statements that Hall had asked him previously to mail a smaller box and had paid him $1 for postage and told him to keep the change, and that the postage amounted to nine cents. The defense cross-examined the witness and he stated that he couldn't say what the address on the other box was.

W. F. Nickells, who is employed at the Graham drug store, testified that he had filled out a shipping tag for Hall and that Hall had brought a box into the store, but he couldn't identify the box. He was sure that this was the tag as it was his writing.

Ray Weatherhead, a local post office employe was then called and stated that Hall brought a box in to mail. He didn't remember the date, but thought this was the box. He didn't remember the name on the box, but was sure that it was addressed to Ada, Oregon. Asked if he had any conversation with Hall, he stated that he asked Hall what was in the box, and Hall said dried fruit or dried prunes, witness didn't remember which.

Frank Swart was very positive in his testimony, absolutely identifying the box, the date and the circumstances. He stated that he heard Hall come to the window and looked up and saw him give the box in. He waited until Hall was gone and told Weatherhead to bring the box to him. He later took the box to the back of the post office and opened it up and found it contained prunes with a bottle of liquid packed in the prunes. He then called the assistant postmaster and together they took the box to the postmaster. At this point the box was opened, the prunes and bottle were disclosed and the bottle was passed around among the jurors who smelled and tasted its contents.

John Larkin, postmaster, was then called and identified the box and said that he marked the bottle and the next day took box and all to Portland and turned them over to the post office inspector and went with him to Deputy U. S. Marshal Flegel's office, with whom it was left.

C. B. Welter of Portland, a post office inspector, was then called and testified that he secured this box from Mr. Flegel and brought it to Newberg that day. The state then rested its case. After a short wrangle between the two attorneys, the defense also rested its case.

Both attorneys made pleas. Attorney Conner coming first and then Attorney Alexander and following this, Attorney Conner again. The case then went to the jury who were only out about fifteen minutes and brought back a verdict of guilty. The court placed the sentence at a fine of $300 and costs and the defendant filed notice of appeal. His bonds were placed at $500 and he was given until Monday to raise this.

The next chapter in this story, which has been keeping the people of Newberg talking ever since the first arrest was made, will be brought up on Wednesday of next week when Hall is to appear in court in Portland and answer to a federal charge. This is a much more serious offense and its outcome will be watched from here with great interest.

JITNEY MEN TO FIGHT CITY FRANCHISE ORDINANCE

Attorney Klika of McMinnville was in Newberg this week and gave out the information that the bus lines were going to fight the city franchise ordinance, we are informed. It is understood that a suit has already been filed in the circuit court asking for an injunction preventing the city from collecting that license fees. We understand that the city has made no move yet but it is probable that they will fight the case.

COLLEGE CHORUS WILL GIVE A CONCERT ON JANUARY 27

The college chorus, an organization of more than twenty voices, announces a concert to be given in Wood-Mar Hall on the evening of Friday, January 27. Tickets of general admission only will be sold and can be procured of members of the chorus or of the college music faculty for 25 cents.

A program of unusually high grade choral numbers will be rendered, one of the numbers, the famous cantata, "Olaf Trygvason," of Grieg, to be accompanied by the newly reorganized college orchestra. There will be in addition string ensemble numbers and readings by members of the chorus, making altogether a well balanced and especially interesting program. The public is cordially invited to make use of this opportunity to hear, at a most moderate price, some of the famous choral pieces of musical literature.

RUSSELL-TOWNSEND

On Sunday last at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Townsend, of south Meridian street, Ray Earl Russell and Gladys Townsend were united in marriage by C. H. Phillips, pastor of the Christian church of this city. Only the near relatives of each were present and the wedding was delightful in its simplicity. The bride, who was attended by her sister, Mrs. J. E. Smith, of Estacada, Washington, was charmingly attired in a delicate gown of white beaded georgette over white satin and carried a bouquet of pink roses and maidenhair fern. A. E. McCrea of Newberg, was groomsmen. Mr. and Mrs. Russell were the recipients of many beautiful and useful presents from their many friends and relatives, chief among those from friends outside the family being an electric toaster from Mr. and Mrs. A. E. McCrea; a lovely assortment of table linen from the Miller Mercantile company; and a set of silver table ware from the employees of the Yamhill Electric company.

The happy couple, who intend to make Newberg their home, left on the four o'clock train for Portland enroute for Everett, Washington.

OREGON GROWERS SIGN UP NEW MEMBERS NEAR CANBY

On January 7 more than 50 berry growers in the Canby-Aurora district met at Canby to consider the proposition of the Oregon Growers to establish a receiving station at Canby in case 100 acres were signed up. The meeting was addressed by M. O. Evans, field manager, and arrangements were made for a campaign for members by volunteers from among the local growers, aided by Ed Blehn of the field department and C. R. Thompson, manager of the Sheridan plant.

Thirty-nine members so far have signed up with a total of 136 acres, mostly bearing. A few more prospective members are yet to be visited. In addition to the above acreage signed up during this campaign the association has 15 members with 114 acres of prunes in the district around Canby, Molino, and the section southeast of Oregon City.

BROTHERHOOD OF YEOMEN ENJOY SOCIAL EVENING

After a short business meeting on which all present gave short talks for the good of the order, the local homestead entertained State Manager Ezell and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Beaver of Salem, Foreman Capon and wife and several visitors from Ivanhoe homestead of Portland. Following a good time of singing and dancing, all enjoyed a fine supper which was served by the local ladies. Portland and Salem extended Newberg homestead an invitation to visit them at any time.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A. J. Morgan celebrated his birthday Friday at his home on Villa Road by entertaining three of his children with their families. They were Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Neff and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morgan and baby, all of Verwood, Saskatchewan, Canada, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Morgan and son of Ridgefield, Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Morgan drove over from Ridgefield Thursday, returning Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Morgan and Mr. and Mrs. Neff, who have been visiting relatives in Portland and Salem for several weeks, left Saturday for their home in Canada.

Mrs. Lois Way, in behalf of the ladies of the Woman's Relief Corps, presented Miss Frances Woodruff, who has been their president for three years, with a gold sash and a handsome vase. Mrs. Woodruff responded in a few well chosen remarks thanking the ladies for their gifts and also for their cooperation in making her work with them so pleasant and profitable.

Mrs. Anna Bartholomew, the president, who could not be here Saturday on account of the illness of her daughter, was duly installed at the regular meeting of the Corps on last Thursday.

OBITUARY

Funeral services for Mrs. Mahala G. Denny Pike, another of the fast thinking ranks of the pioneers who crossed the plains in the fifties, were held from the Christian church, Sunday, January 8, 1922, Rev. C. E. Gibson officiating. Mrs. Pike died January 5, following a series of paralytic strokes which had left her practically helpless.

Mahala G. Denny was born in Morgan county, Ohio, October 30, 1842. She crossed the plains with her family in 1852; the family settling in Linn county near where the city of Lebanon is now located. There she grew to womanhood and on May 7, 1871, was married to B. F. Pike, who with one son, Irwin D. Pike, of Grass Valley, survives. She also leaves five grand-children and one great-grand-child to mourn her loss.

Mrs. Pike was for many years an active member of the Woman's Relief Corps and at the time of her death was a member of Shiloh corps of Newberg. She was laid to rest in the Odd Fellows' cemetery at The Dalles, by the side of a son who died several years ago. Mrs. Pike was a sister of the late O. N. Denny, a cousin of Hon. M. C. George of Portland and L. O. Ralston is a nephew.

REV. H. E. K. WHITNEY WAS HERE TUESDAY

Rev. H. E. K. Whitney spoke at the high school and public school on Tuesday, when he gave great inspiration to the students.

On Tuesday evening Mr. Whitney met with the local Whitney chorus, which now numbers 181. He was more than pleased with the progress of the chorus.

Mr. Whitney states that Newberg has the record of having twice the number of members in ratio to its population of any other city in the entire state. He spoke at length about his chorus of two thousand boys who will give three concerts in the Portland Auditorium in May. The town which has the banner chorus in both moving pictures and press. Let's keep Newberg in the lead. Any man who likes to sing is urged to help the tenor or bass.

COSTUME RECITAL

A costume recital will be given at the Presbyterian church on Monday evening, January 23, at 8:00 o'clock, under the direction of Miss Britt. There will be no admission charge. The recital is free to the public and everybody is invited.
