

NEWBERG GRAPHIC

PLANS ARE LAID FOR THE BERRY FESTIVAL TO BE HELD SATURDAY, JULY 8

Will Be Bigger Than Last Year
—Boosters Are Coming to Help in Festivities

Newberg's second annual Berry Festival will be held on Saturday, July 8, and judging by the plans which have been mapped out by the committees it will doubtless be even better than last year's festival. The exhibits of berries and fruits will no doubt be much more extensive and of better quality as considerable work has been done in advance this year on this feature of the festival. This department will be in charge of Frank Morris, again, which assures its success.

There will be a parade at 10 a. m. as an opener for the day's program. E. E. Goff is chairman of this committee and will be assisted by Chandos Chase. There is every reason to expect a much better parade this year than last. Several advantages are held in the fact that this year we have the band newly uniformed, the uniformed drill team, and the Whitney Boys chorus. Several of the rural communities have already expressed their intention of entering floats in this parade and it is probable that there will also be a much larger number of floats representing business houses, as well as more individual cars entered.

Hon. H. W. Kent, executive secretary of the Portland Rose Festival association, will be the speaker of the day. Mr. Kent has shown a very great interest in the Berrian movement from its very inception and his advice largely guided the Berrians in their first float. He has helped us greatly since that time in giving our float widespread publicity and has boosted for Newberg consistently in a way that the people of this community cannot help but appreciate. It is therefore, very fitting that he should be chosen to make the address of the day. Furthermore, the public will be sure of hearing a splendid address from Mr. Kent, and one that will be both practical and inspiring and in keeping with the occasion. This address will be delivered at the city tourist park immediately following the parade. After the address the coronation of Queen Evah the First will take place. An elaborate ceremony is being prepared for this occasion, which will include fairy dances by the little tots and possibly some rites on the part of the uniformed Berrians.

At the noon hour there will be a big dinner served at which the various booster organizations will be special guests together with speakers, and other distinguished visitors. At this dinner there will be a program of singing, speaking, yells, etc., making up a general good time.

At 1 p. m. will occur the judging of the exhibits, which will be open for inspection throughout the day. At 2 p. m. there will also be a tug of war between the Cherrians and the Berrians. Last year by sheer weight the Berrians won the referee's decision in this event, but even then they were unable to make the Cherrians take water. This year the Cherrians are determined to get revenge. This should be an interesting event.

At 3 p. m. there will be a baseball game between the Salem Senators and the St. Paul-Newberg team. This is the fifth of a series of five games and as each team has previously won two games, they will make a desperate fight for this game, the winning one of the series. There will also be other sports and these, with the tug of war, will be in the hands of Tom Tyndall again this year.

The free berries and cream will be the big feature of the festival again this year and the Farm Bureau has been asked to handle this part of the festival. It is understood that it is planned to have a scenic highway or railway amusement affair this year and this is in the hands of Dave Burns of the Newberg Motor company. The streets will be decorated as they were last year and there will be no end to the amusement features offered as inducements to get the public to come to Newberg and see our berries and our exhibits.

The slogan this year is "Place your order for a crate of berries." And it is hoped that through featuring this slogan hundreds of crates may be sold that day. Every person of Newberg and surrounding community is urged to assist the Berrians in making this a successful festival. If you can enter a float in the parade or something in the exhibits or if you can help the committee in any way your services are greatly needed and you should consider yourself drafted. Don't wait to be asked, but get in and help. The fighting is good all along the line.

After writing the above, we have been informed that Big Prune Dubois of the Prunarians of Vancouver, Wash., has agreed to bring a brigade of Prunarians over to our Berry Festival and they will give a number during the program at the banquet. Mr. Dundore, one of the high officials of the Rosarians has also said that a delegation of Rosarians will be on hand and take

COMING EVENTS

Newberg Berry Festival, July 8.
Fourth of July—Celebrations at Hillsboro for four days, July 1, 2, 3 and 4; Pacific City, Tillamook, Rockaway, Tualatin, Grand Ronde, Molalla, 3 days, July 2, 3 and 4; Forest Grove, Woodburn, state Artisan meet and celebration for three days, July 2, 3 and 4; and Lad Hill, Chautauqua—July 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15 at Newberg.

PICNIC HELD AT BALD PEAK LAST SUNDAY

Fully 600 People Attend Picnic
—Speeches Were Made and Resolutions Adopted

It is estimated that there were about 600 people at the picnic at Bald Peak last Sunday and as a result of this gathering a resolution was unanimously adopted calling for the improvement of the peak, the work to be completed by 1925. It is proposed that a vista house shall be built at the summit and two acres of ground has been donated for this purpose and for a picnic ground by Sam Otto.

A picnic dinner was enjoyed and coffee and strawberries and cream were served to the large crowd. Speeches were made by John U. Smith, R. J. Moore, G. W. James, Henry Haveman, S. L. Parrett of Newberg; Roy Stockton of Sheridan, Mayor Bunn of Yamhill, William Merchant of Carlton, and Barney Garrett, H. Shumaker, J. G. Eckman and S. S. Duncan of McMinnville. R. J. Moore acted as chairman.

The resolution which was adopted reads as follows:

"That the chairman of the meeting, with three other members to be appointed by him from the three counties, shall appoint an executive committee composed of themselves, three members from Portland and one from each city and community interested in Bald peak to promote and exploit this great view place of the agricultural resources of the Willamette and Tualatin valleys.

"That that committee shall have power and authority to name trustees to acquire and accept and transfer title to land sites as directed by majority of said committee and to raise money and expend same in erection of such buildings, towers, and to furnish same and to make any monuments as it shall see fit and promote other and further improvements to the park and its accessibility as said committee shall deem fit."

LAUNCH MOVE FOR VISTA HOUSE

The Rose Festival is again a matter of history and for Newberg it is a matter of very good history for the Berrians took first prize with their float in the class in which it was entered and the drill team took second prize for marching organizations. The first prize on the float was $100 and the second prize on the drill team was $50. But the money value of these prizes is small in comparison to the splendid publicity and advertising which Newberg and surrounding country will get as a result of this float. The daily papers carried large pictures of the float and articles about it and the moving picture men took films of it as it moved through the streets. These pictures will be shown all over the country.

And then there was the Berrian band in their new uniforms, the Whitney Boy Junior Berrians, and the drill team this year, to add to the effectiveness of the float. As the Oregonian said, "Newberg is put on the map."

If anyone doubts that the immense amount of effort involved really pays they should talk to people from other places who are just beginning to find out there is such a place as Newberg, because of the participation in the Rose Festival parades of last year and this. And later in the season should there be a surplus of berries, it will be gratifying to the growers to see buyers coming out from Portland to buy them, because of the advertising which the Berrians have done in Portland.

The work of the Berrians in getting up the float, drill team, band, etc., was truly immense and the completion of the task represents great personal sacrifice on the part of some, but they must feel greatly repaid for their effort in view of the achievements and the honor which has come to the Berrians and to Newberg. Incidentally the $175 will be a real help to the Berrians in the financing of the band, berry festival and other activities.

We have heard of few persons saying they were disappointed in not winning the grand or sweepstakes prize. We do not believe that there are many who feel this way about it, however. For Newberg, a city of about 3,000 people, to expect to compete successfully against such cities as Vancouver, B. C., Portland, and other cities of their size, is, we feel, too much. However, we do not believe it was because Newberg was small that she did not win the first prize. Had our float been as magnificent in its coloring and artistic effect as the Vancouver float, we believe the judges would have awarded us the first prize. We are loyal to Newberg and to our float. It was a grand float and told a story of our berry industry; but it lacked that artistic effect in sprays and colors which the Vancouver float had. This is not said in any sense of criticism, but rather to alleviate if possible the feeling on the part of any persons who felt that Newberg was discriminated against. We have talked with many Newberg people who feel this way about it and believe that a vote of all persons who saw the parade from an absolutely unprejudiced standpoint would have given the sweepstakes prize to the float from Vancouver, B. C.

Oftentimes a feeling of civic loyalty and pride causes us to object to any decisions of judges or umpires which are against our city in any way. We should carefully guard against this habit, for to cultivate it is merely to invite the feeling on the part of others that we are poor sports in the game of life.

Newberg may well feel proud of the Berrians, of the 1922 float, and its success in the parade, and there should be no hesitancy on our part about going in again next year with renewed vigor and determination to win the prize.

BERRIAN FESTIVAL PARADE ENTRIES ARE CALLED FOR

The Berry Festival parade bids fair to be the largest put on in Newberg in many years. The local organizations ready to take part are the Berrians with their queen and attendants, the Berrian drill team and the Junior Berrians. The queen attendants will be young ladies selected from the districts of Rex, Dundee, Fernwood, West Chehalis, St. Paul, Sunnycrest, etc.; Newberg Berrian band, American Legion, fire department, women's clubs, Pacific college, Campfire girls, etc.

Visitors from out of town are the Rose Festival board of Portland, consisting of Admiral Mayo, Wm. Merrill, Percy G. Allen and Eric Houser; Cherrians of Salem, Prunarians of Vancouver, Wash., and the Hubbits of Albany.

The majority of our businessmen seen, have been enthusiastic in their willingness to enter a decorated float or car. We wish to announce here that the only qualification for such entry is a clean, neat car, slightly or lavishly decorated.

We are authorized to announce that there will be a silver cup given to the best entrant and ribbons will be given to second and third.

Just a little work by each entrant will make this parade a big success. Let us all do our part to keep Newberg on the map. E. E. Goff, chairman Parade Committee.

BORN

FEELEY—In Newberg, Oregon, June 26, 1922, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Feeley, a son, Frank Vandale.

What the Portland Papers Said About Our Float

Newberg Is Put on Map (Oregonian.)

Never again will anyone in Portland wonder where the Berrians hall from. This organization put Newberg on the map yesterday with its wonderful showing in the parade. The Berrian's band led the first section, followed closely by the drill team composed of men who went through difficult executions with the ease of regular army men.

White roses, sweet peas, red carnations and pinks were used for the Newberg float which carried Miss Evah Hadley, queen of Newberg, and her court of honor. On the front and rear and on both sides of this float hung luscious looking strawberries, raspberries and loganberries which made thousands of onlookers ready to start at once to the lands where such wonderful berries grow.

Following this float came the

NEWBERG BERRIANS MADE SPLENDID SHOWING IN ROSE FESTIVAL PARADE THIS YEAR WON FIRST PRIZE ON FLOAT AND SECOND PRIZE ON DRILL TEAM

Band Made Fine Appearance and Junior Berrians Caused Much Favorable Comment—Newberg Will Get Wide Publicity As Result of This Effort

The Rose Festival is again a matter of history and for Newberg it is a matter of very good history for the Berrians took first prize with their float in the class in which it was entered and the drill team took second prize for marching organizations. The first prize on the float was $100 and the second prize on the drill team was $50. But the money value of these prizes is small in comparison to the splendid publicity and advertising which Newberg and surrounding country will get as a result of this float. The daily papers carried large pictures of the float and articles about it and the moving picture men took films of it as it moved through the streets. These pictures will be shown all over the country.

And then there was the Berrian band in their new uniforms, the Whitney Boy Junior Berrians, and the drill team this year, to add to the effectiveness of the float. As the Oregonian said, "Newberg is put on the map."

If anyone doubts that the immense amount of effort involved really pays they should talk to people from other places who are just beginning to find out there is such a place as Newberg, because of the participation in the Rose Festival parades of last year and this. And later in the season should there be a surplus of berries, it will be gratifying to the growers to see buyers coming out from Portland to buy them, because of the advertising which the Berrians have done in Portland.

The work of the Berrians in getting up the float, drill team, band, etc., was truly immense and the completion of the task represents great personal sacrifice on the part of some, but they must feel greatly repaid for their effort in view of the achievements and the honor which has come to the Berrians and to Newberg. Incidentally the $175 will be a real help to the Berrians in the financing of the band, berry festival and other activities.

We have heard of few persons saying they were disappointed in not winning the grand or sweepstakes prize. We do not believe that there are many who feel this way about it, however. For Newberg, a city of about 3,000 people, to expect to compete successfully against such cities as Vancouver, B. C., Portland, and other cities of their size, is, we feel, too much. However, we do not believe it was because Newberg was small that she did not win the first prize. Had our float been as magnificent in its coloring and artistic effect as the Vancouver float, we believe the judges would have awarded us the first prize. We are loyal to Newberg and to our float. It was a grand float and told a story of our berry industry; but it lacked that artistic effect in sprays and colors which the Vancouver float had. This is not said in any sense of criticism, but rather to alleviate if possible the feeling on the part of any persons who felt that Newberg was discriminated against. We have talked with many Newberg people who feel this way about it and believe that a vote of all persons who saw the parade from an absolutely unprejudiced standpoint would have given the sweepstakes prize to the float from Vancouver, B. C.

Oftentimes a feeling of civic loyalty and pride causes us to object to any decisions of judges or umpires which are against our city in any way. We should carefully guard against this habit, for to cultivate it is merely to invite the feeling on the part of others that we are poor sports in the game of life.

Newberg may well feel proud of the Berrians, of the 1922 float, and its success in the parade, and there should be no hesitancy on our part about going in again next year with renewed vigor and determination to win the prize.

BERRIANS IN LINE (Journal.)

The Berrians of Newberg, who came with a huge delegation, had one of the most interesting floats. The edge of the float had great strawberries and loganberries three to four feet across, with red and white roses for a background. Evah Hadley sat in the float as queen, with fairy girls around her. Newberg had a band and the Berrians marched in their white uniforms.

Berrians Get Publicity

Evidence seems to be piling itself up to prove that Newberg's efforts in putting a float into the Rose Festival both last year and this, was well worth while. The June issue of Fruitland which has just come to our hand contains a beautiful picture of last year's float with the following article regarding the float and the Berrians. This is an extract from a lengthy article by H. W. Kent, executive secretary of the Portland Rose Festival association.

"Last year a few live wires in Newberg asked to march in our grand floral parade. They proposed to dress as loganberries. We told them to enter a decorated car and we would welcome them as accompanying the car. They started in with the idea of spending $50 on the float. In 48 hours they had a plan under way for the selection of a queen, planned a berry festival of their own, organized a band and spent $700 on the float for the Rose Festival—capturing two prizes, and this year are out for the grand prize. What is the result of this year's work? Why! You and 9999 other citizens of the northwest are reading of Newberg.

"A colored picture of Newberg's float is on Mrs. Warren G. Harding's table at the White House, Washington, D. C., chosen because of its beauty as one of a dozen selected by the women of Oregon to accompany their invitation to Mrs. Harding to visit the festival in June, 1922.

"This story of Newberg is being read in almost every city in the United States and foreign countries. A magazine with an international circulation has featured it.

"Now we of Portland want every citizen of the northwest to feel that the Oregon Rose Festival, held annually in Portland, is really a northwest affair. We want you to share our pride in its success and participate in it. We want our sister cities no matter how small, to feel that they can tell the world of their activities through the Rose Festival."

Portland Rose Festival Assn.

C. C. Murton Lauds Float

C. C. Murton, who was formerly in charge of the Miller Mercantile company store at this place, and who is now located in Portland where he is in the mortgage loan and insurance business, writes the following letter, which needs no explanation on our part:

Editor Graphic:

"Newberg is certainly to be congratulated on the showing made at the Rose Festival, the representation made shows conclusively that there is a very live bunch at work. I wish you could hear the hundreds of complimentary remarks that I have heard, and many have expressed the surprise that you did not carry off the sweepstakes. The amount of skill and hard work that must have been put forth to produce the splendid float entitles you to a great deal of praise. Congratulations, Newberg forever!

C. C. Murton.
Portland, Or., June 26, 1922.

DRILLING FOR OIL

The company which is drilling for oil on the Boutan place about two miles south of St. Paul, is reported as having their first well down 870 feet at present, and they are now stringing casing in the hole. They are putting in 10-inch casing and it is understood they will reduce the size from there down. They are reported as having encountered a good oil showing at around 500 feet.

TREE DEMONSTRATION TRIP ON WEDNESDAY

Farmers Go on Tour of Inspection to a Number of the Best Orchards of District

The tree demonstration which was held on Wednesday of this week was a success at least from the standpoint of what was learned by those who made the trip. As it came at a very busy season of the year, there were not as many who found it possible to avail themselves of this splendid opportunity as might have been hoped, but those who were able to go certainly saw some splendid orchards of all kinds. The trip started with a visit to the Charles Trunk nut orchard at Dundee and here one of the finest orchards in the northwest was seen. Mr. Trunk makes this his life work in fact and he has succeeded in a marvelous way in bringing his place into a high state of cultivation and his orchards into the very finest shape possible. In fact all through the day's visit to other orchards constant reference and comparisons were made by the visitors to Mr. Trunk's methods and results. The writer was unable to visit Mr. Trunk's place but joined the caravan upon their return to Newberg and went with them to the Otis place near Rex.

Mr. Otis has eighteen acres of pears which run about half and half Bartlett and Anjou. This orchard is eight years old. Mr. Otis states that the Anjou have not borne at all yet but the Bartlett are doing quite well. He expects to have about eight or nine tons from this place this year. This orchard presents a very pretty appearance with its rows running in checks every way. Mr. Otis thinks that one of the problems in raising pears is to retard their growth and to do this, he does not cultivate as extensively as he would for some other fruits. He had strawberries planted in with the pears until they were four years old but after that removed them. Mr. Otis also has 45 acres in pears, all but about an acre and a half which are Italian. This acre and a half is set with the new Coats prune. He also has 15 acres in walnuts and a considerable quantity of cherries. Mr. Otis also goes in for chickens on a large scale, and handles White Leghorns.

From the Otis place the group went to Springbrook for lunch. Lunch was eaten at the Springbrook cannery where tables had been fixed and hot coffee was served. Mr. Newhouse also supplied the visitors with canned blackcaps which were surely excellent and also with cherries and fresh red raspberries. While at Springbrook some of the group inspected the cannery and others went across to the Chas. Graves orchard. This is one of the oldest in this part of the country and was of special interest in that Mr. Graves states that the trees have never been pruned or sprayed and the orchard has only been fertilized twice. This orchard is about 35 years old. The trees seemed to be well laden with fruit. There was quite a bit of moss on the trees and some dead branches, but Mr. Graves explained that these dead limbs were caused by freezing.

Mr. Newhouse who is manager of the cannery informed us that they are running very light because of a shortage of fruit but they are employing about 20 women and four or five men at present and will employ about 75 in all when they run at full capacity. They are handling cherries at present.

From Springbrook the trip took the group to W. E. Burke's place on the top of Chehalis mountain. Mr. Burke has 180 acres in this place but the attraction for the day was a 20 acre pear orchard. This is principally set to Bartlett but there are some Boscs. This orchard is 14 years old. Last year Mr. Burke did not get any crop but the year before he had 75 tons of pears and this year will probably harvest 100 tons or more. Mr. Burke certainly has this orchard in splendid shape. The trees look healthy and the ground is free from weeds and is in fine shape, the moisture coming nearly to the surface.

Some of the demonstration group went from Mr. Burke's by way of the Wire orchard to see a phenomenon. Here tent caterpillars have worked havoc with the orchard, having cleaned off practically all signs of green from the trees and leaving them look like an orchard in winter. This we were told was caused by lack of spraying.

The last place visited was the William Dolph place in West Chehalis and as the hour was getting late, the writer found it impossible to make this place. However, we are told that Mr. Dolph probably has a

CHAUTAUQUA COMMITTEES WERE SELECTED

Program To Be Offered This Year Appears To Be Exceptionally Strong One

The Newberg chautauqua committee met at the Commercial club rooms Monday evening and organized for the campaign of this year's chautauqua. S. L. Parrett was elected temporary chairman and took charge of the meeting. The election of permanent chairman fell to W. W. Silver, and H. M. Hoskins was elected secretary and S. L. Parrett treasurer. These are the officers who held these positions last year. The selection of committees was then taken up. The ticket committee will consist of Mr. Parrett, Mr. Hoskins, W. A. Graham, L. B. Ferguson and C. E. Newhouse. The entertainment committee was left with Ralph Butt and the Berrians as it was felt that this organization could help advertise our community through this work and would be willing to take this up. S. P. Timberlake was made chairman of the grounds committee and with Chairman Silver will select the other members of his committee. R. J. Moore was selected to arrange with the ladies of the city regarding decorations for the platform. A junior chautauqua committee is a new feature this year and will consist of Miss Jennie Miller, Mrs. C. E. Chapin, Mrs. E. C. Baird, Mrs. R. M. Thurston and Mrs. Mrs. W. H. Woodworth. The publicity committee will be Chas. A. Morris, Frank Eckerson, L. T. Hayward, Max Machler and Lester A. Dimond.

The publicity matter which has been sent out as advance matter indicates that this year's chautauqua will be even better than preceding ones. There are many especially strong features on the program for this year and the entire program holds up a good standard of excellence.

The public should bear in mind also that the Ellison-White chautauqua is a non-profit organization and that the local committee which signed up the guarantee last year which enables this splendid aggregation of talent to come to Newberg, are absolutely responsible for the financial success of the chautauqua. Season tickets for the chautauqua sell at $2.50 for adults which admits the holder to any or all of the twelve big entertainments. There are also student tickets at $1.50 each for high school students, and children's tickets at $1.00 each. The two entertainments of Thursday and Saturday evenings, alone are worth the full price of a season ticket and if attended at any of the big Portland theatres would cost more than that amount. There will be no war tax to pay on these tickets either.

The dates of the chautauqua for this year are July 10 to 15 inclusive, which brings the opening day on Monday and the close on Saturday, thus eliminating the Sunday entertainments which have always been objectionable to some. The junior chautauqua also promises to be better than usual and to have many new features. The children's season tickets admit to this feature as well as to all regular numbers.

The public are urged to buy season tickets early and help the committee make up their guarantee without a lot of hard work on their part. Tickets will be on sale at the drug stores and other local business houses.

FINE ORCHARDS WERE INSPECTED

Farmers Go on Tour of Inspection to a Number of the Best Orchards of District

The tree demonstration which was held on Wednesday of this week was a success at least from the standpoint of what was learned by those who made the trip. As it came at a very busy season of the year, there were not as many who found it possible to avail themselves of this splendid opportunity as might have been hoped, but those who were able to go certainly saw some splendid orchards of all kinds. The trip started with a visit to the Charles Trunk nut orchard at Dundee and here one of the finest orchards in the northwest was seen. Mr. Trunk makes this his life work in fact and he has succeeded in a marvelous way in bringing his place into a high state of cultivation and his orchards into the very finest shape possible. In fact all through the day's visit to other orchards constant reference and comparisons were made by the visitors to Mr. Trunk's methods and results. The writer was unable to visit Mr. Trunk's place but joined the caravan upon their return to Newberg and went with them to the Otis place near Rex.

Mr. Otis has eighteen acres of pears which run about half and half Bartlett and Anjou. This orchard is eight years old. Mr. Otis states that the Anjou have not borne at all yet but the Bartlett are doing quite well. He expects to have about eight or nine tons from this place this year. This orchard presents a very pretty appearance with its rows running in checks every way. Mr. Otis thinks that one of the problems in raising pears is to retard their growth and to do this, he does not cultivate as extensively as he would for some other fruits. He had strawberries planted in with the pears until they were four years old but after that removed them. Mr. Otis also has 45 acres in pears, all but about an acre and a half which are Italian. This acre and a half is set with the new Coats prune. He also has 15 acres in walnuts and a considerable quantity of cherries. Mr. Otis also goes in for chickens on a large scale, and handles White Leghorns.

From the Otis place the group went to Springbrook for lunch. Lunch was eaten at the Springbrook cannery where tables had been fixed and hot coffee was served. Mr. Newhouse also supplied the visitors with canned blackcaps which were surely excellent and also with cherries and fresh red raspberries. While at Springbrook some of the group inspected the cannery and others went across to the Chas. Graves orchard. This is one of the oldest in this part of the country and was of special interest in that Mr. Graves states that the trees have never been pruned or sprayed and the orchard has only been fertilized twice. This orchard is about 35 years old. The trees seemed to be well laden with fruit. There was quite a bit of moss on the trees and some dead branches, but Mr. Graves explained that these dead limbs were caused by freezing.

Mr. Newhouse who is manager of the cannery informed us that they are running very light because of a shortage of fruit but they are employing about 20 women and four or five men at present and will employ about 75 in all when they run at full capacity. They are handling cherries at present.

From Springbrook the trip took the group to W. E. Burke's place on the top of Chehalis mountain. Mr. Burke has 180 acres in this place but the attraction for the day was a 20 acre pear orchard. This is principally set to Bartlett but there are some Boscs. This orchard is 14 years old. Last year Mr. Burke did not get any crop but the year before he had 75 tons of pears and this year will probably harvest 100 tons or more. Mr. Burke certainly has this orchard in splendid shape. The trees look healthy and the ground is free from weeds and is in fine shape, the moisture coming nearly to the surface.

Some of the demonstration group went from Mr. Burke's by way of the Wire orchard to see a phenomenon. Here tent caterpillars have worked havoc with the orchard, having cleaned off practically all signs of green from the trees and leaving them look like an orchard in winter. This we were told was caused by lack of spraying.

The last place visited was the William Dolph place in West Chehalis and as the hour was getting late, the writer found it impossible to make this place. However, we are told that Mr. Dolph probably has a greater variety of fruit than anyone else around here. He has peaches of many varieties, apples, cherries, pears, prunes, grapes, and we are afraid to mention all of them for fear we may include something by mistake which he doesn't raise but we do know that there are a number of other things not mentioned. We are looking forward to a personal visit to Mr. Dolph's orchards when peaches are ripe.

WOULD HELP EX-SERVICE MEN

Zack L. Taylor, representing the U. S. Veterans' Bureau, is in Newberg for several days and is making his headquarters at Dr. Rankin's office over the U. S. Bank, where he wants to meet the ex-service men in regard to reinstating their government insurance and assisting in the adjudication of unsettled compensation claims, filing new compensation claims for disabilities of service origin or aggravated by service. He will be here until Saturday noon.

These demonstration trips over the country are a splendid thing as it enables the growers to discuss their mutual problems and see what other men are doing and how they are achieving success. Many of the discussions were entirely too technical for us, but we thoroughly understood the situation when we got into Mr. Otis cherry orchard where there were some ripe cherries waiting for us. They must have been waiting for us for they didn't wait any longer. Newberg has some excellent orchards and these are being increased steadily and it will not be long until this section will become famous if the growers continue to evince an interest in modern methods and forge ahead as they have in the past few years.