Col. G. S. Jones returned from Calgary, Alberta, Canada, last Friday. The colonel seemed in good spirits but not of the anti-Boistead variety. However, we think his judgment was faulty for he averred that the country around Calgary was 13,000 feet high. He was willing to reduce this to 1300 when questioned a little more closely, but it certainly is funny what the Canadian country will do to a fellow.

The McMinnville Eastern Star lodge came down about sixty strong last Thursday evening and met with the local lodge. The meeting was held in the tourist park and proved to be a very enjoyable affair. Colored lights were strung through the grove and a program of speeches, etc., was enjoyed. The main attraction however, was a fine chicken dinner, which was served by the ladies of the local lodge.

The Graphic is in receipt of the first copy of the Vernonia Eagle, which is a new publication started by Paul Robinson who has been publishing the Aurora Observer for some months past. George E. Knapp will edit the Observer and Mr. Robinson and wife will make their home in Vernonia. The Eagle is a six-page six-column paper, four pages being home print and two pages patent. The advertising patronage seems very liberal. Vernonia is booming as the result of a big sawmill opening up and a new railroad having been built recently.

Editor Douglas Hewitt of the Sherwood News took a trip up to the Breitenbush hot springs above Detroit and tells all about it in the last issue of his paper. While there he took one of the hot steam baths and to quote his own words, says, "I got wonderfully 'hot up.' The water ran down my body in streams. The horrible thought came to me that the human body is 90 per cent water and now it was all escaping through the pores of my skin. Would I come out reduced from 200 to 20 pounds? I began to feel lighter, but but when I came out I found that I had lost about five pounds of dirt I had accumulated along the dusty trail."

Three army trucks and one trailer passed through Newberg last Friday morning enroute to Tillamook with supplies for a new guard unit which has been organized there. Not being able to come over Terwilliger boulevard and finding Hamilton avenue closed they had come by way of Fulton and in so doing got off the road. They stopped in Newberg to make some repairs to their trucks and drew considerable attention while here. Tillamook's new unit was organized last week and will be known as Co. K, 162nd U. S. Infantry. The outfit being taken over is complete and includes lockers, gun racks, guns, knapsacks, etc. The supplies are kept at the U.
