THE STRIKE

The American public are waiting with bated breath for the outcome of the present railroad strike. They know only too well that they are the ones who must pay the bill in any event and they are anxious that it shall be settled soon. The Graphic is of the opinion that strikes, like wars should be relegated to oblivion. A civilized people has no place for either one.

We do not think that either the railroads or the strikers have all the right on their side. We believe that only a spirit of fairness should be allowed to ultimately settle the controversy, but in the meantime the general public—innocent parties—is made to suffer. Take the case of the farmer. Following years of poor crops and low prices, he is just beginning to see his way out of his difficulties owing to better crops and in most cases the promise of better prices, but suddenly the sky is clouded by the threat of strike and the knowledge that he cannot get his crops to market. This is not a vision of what may come to pass, but it is a present condition. We have men in our own community who have already suffered. In California it is said that the fruit men will lose millions of dollars because of the strike.

Efforts at conciliation and adjustment have utterly failed and the outlook is very dubious. President Harding in discussing the strike evil that is injuring this country and every citizen in it, said:

"Liberty is gone in America when any man is denied the right to work and live by that work. It does not matter who denies. A free American has the right to labor without another's leave. It would be no less an abridgement to deny men the right to bargain collectively. Governments cannot tolerate any class or group dominating through force."

We believe that these are wise words and should be remembered in making any settlement. Certainly the laboring man must be protected from any unscrupulous persons who would seek to grind him down into a state of mere servitude. On the other hand he must not be allowed to dictate to the point where no other interests save his own are to be considered. We believe that a board of equity having authority and power to enforce its edicts should be established and both sides should be made to abide by its decrees.

PECULIAR INCONSISTENCY

The Woodburn Independent of recent date has the following to say regarding the tariff bill:

"Has the northwest no influential senators at Washington? It seems not, with the senate placing logs on the tree list. Naturally this news is pleasing to British Columbia, but it will paralyze the industry, but may cheapen lumber."

As a rule a democratic paper favors a low tariff or else none at all, but here the Independent evidently wants a protective tariff on logs. Verily, the efforts to discredit an administration lead in devious and wondrous ways.

DOES IT PAY?

Some time ago the city of Newberg enacted a franchise ordinance by which they placed a license fee upon stages, trucks, drays, jitneys and other forms of public utility vehicles. Ever since that ordinance became effective there have been complaints and objections made from all sides. At the outset the city was called upon to defend the ordinance in the courts and lost the suit on the grounds that the fees were in the form of a license and too high to be called purely regulatory, the judge ruling that only a regulatory fee could be charged by the city. At the last meeting of the council there were three sources of complaint filed against the ordinance. These were the local farmers and haulers who sometimes haul wood and such things into town; the people from St. Paul who objected to a fee on their star route carrier for hauling passengers and also on their truck men who come to Newberg and haul freight to St. Paul; and the representatives of the Tillamook stage lines who objected to the fee as they have an agreement with the local stage lines not to compete with them for business between here and Portland and felt that the small amount of business which they did here did not justify them in paying the fee charged.

Under the present system the city is allowed to charge the various stage companies, jitney men, truck companies, teamsters, etc., a small regulatory fee. We do not know exactly what this would amount to in the aggregate, but we seriously doubt if it pays the city when the fact that Newberg has lost a great deal of the good will of the farmers, the traveling public, the St. Paul people, the truck and stage people, and in fact most of those affected by this ordinance both directly and indirectly, is considered.

We believe that in the long run the city would be financially better off to abandon these franchise fees entirely and by so doing win back the friendship of the farmers and others, many of whom have said that so long as they are in effect they would not trade in Newberg. We cannot afford to turn a deaf ear to their appeals, nor can there be a discrimination shown between different carriers under the law. Then it would seem that the only course left open is to abandon the fees entirely and forget it all.
