CHURCH OF CHRIST

Second and Howard. C. H. Phillips, minister. Residence 1101 Fulton street.

Services as follows: Sunday, Bible school 9:45; communion 11; Y. P. S. C. E. 7 p. m.; preaching 8 p. m. Prayer meeting Wednesday 8 p. m.

At the morning service last Sunday Mr. Phillips delivered a scripture study on "The Old Covenant" being the first part of a two fold sermon on "The Covenants." At the morning hour next Lord's day the other half will be given and a comparison of the two made. This should prove interesting to all lovers of the scriptures and should help to solve many difficulties for those who have been somewhat confused on the relation of the covenants to the world today.

Mr. D. E. Norcross of the "Near East Relief" brought us a message in the interests of that work at the evening service. Bro. Norcross pictures vividly the dire distress of these poor people and must have shamed many who in a land of plenty are too often dissatisfied with their lot. He closed his address with an appeal for funds which met with a response on the part of the congregation amounting to $108.00 in cash and pledges.

The young people staged a novel meeting at the regular Endeavor hour. They had a "reverse" meeting. Everyone sat with his back to the leader, Gladys Jones, and was not permitted to turn round until having taken part in the meeting. The order of procedure was reversed and they commenced with the benediction and sang the last verses of the hymns first. The meeting was a huge success as evidenced by the desire of everyone to face the right way, leading some to take an individual part in the meeting who otherwise would not.

Rally day October first. The bible school of this church has a program planned that will long be remembered. In cooperation with the Union Sunday school of Fernwood they will organize a rally day car parade. Every available car will be used to be filled with pupils and will fall in line at 9:15 to parade the town. Each car will bear a banner with some appropriate slogan, the choir will have a boat of its own and will render songs along the route of march or travel. After the parade all will assemble at the church hall for another part of the program which will consist of the promotion exercises by the children. More next week. Watch this column.

The young people's class in the bible school is studying the book of Romans, and will begin the Corinthian epistles October first. If any young man or woman wishes a worth while course in biblical study this class hour will provide it. Be at basement of church 9:45 sharp. A welcome is assured to all who attend the services of this church. The sermon topic for next Sunday will be biblical, instructive and interesting. The song services will be uplifting and helpful. We appreciate and enjoy the presence and fellowship of all who love our Lord and Savior and we long for the conversation and fellowship of those who do not know Him nor his power to save.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Morning service Sabbath, September 24, at 11:00, for the renewing and refreshing of the life, with good cheer, sweet music, and divine message by the pastor on "The Greatest Giver;" Gal. 1:3. Neglect of worship may mean infinite loss.

Sabbath school at 9:45 promptly, with careful bible study and instruction. Better that the sun went out than that the Bible perished from among men.

Y. P. S. C. E. at 7:00; "Mission Work;" Isa. 6:1-8. All our young people get blessing here, obtained nowhere else.

Evening worship at 8:00. Precious hour of evening prayer and praise. Topic, "The Weakness of God."

At the morning service the usual pre-communion sermon to children will be presented; the whole morning service is preparatory to the holy communion to be celebrated the following Sabbath, October 1.

Wednesday at 8:00, mid-week worship. A preparatory service and study of Lu. 1:8-22.

Tuesday at 2:30, meeting of the ladies' missionary society. Subject, "Mormons;" work among Mrs. Branchflower; results, Mrs. Langton. Devotions, Mrs. Craw; hostesses, Mrs. Lutz and Mrs. Branchflower. All our ladies are invited.

The publication of these notices is always subject to any change that may suddenly have to be made on the particular Sabbath for which they are dated. Sometimes circumstances arise that require such change, but it is never intended to deviate an inch from these notices as they are printed here. Such change had to be made last Sabbath at the last minute; and this explanation is offered by way of apology to any who may have been disappointed in any way.

The following observations are prompted by the events of this past week, and by the frequency with which the papers are now presenting to the public such considerations, that we may not fail to get them in our usually easy-going American life:

There is no good living without good government. And no good government without good citizenship. And no good citizenship without obedience to laws. If we Americans have been forgetting all this, we must hasten to learn and teach and remember it before it is too late.

There are two classes of people in the nation; the good citizen through whom all national security comes; and the lawless element whose ways and spirit would destroy the nation and ruin our civilization. "Where the good have governed, society has been safe, homes secure, and human happiness and welfare prevalent." But where the criminal element prevails, a blight falls upon the community, peace and security vanish, and fear and paralysis of industry get abroad.

Just now the vicious element are angrily seeking to promote lawlessness, drunkenness and vice. But all who have any love for our flag, or regard for humanity and civilization, or reverence for God, must stand firm just now, careful of example and words and influence; for the worst of the storm will be over after a while, if good citizens stand firm and true and prayerful; and perhaps a period of greater prosperity and blessing ensue, than even our land ever yet knew.

The home is the first place where great care should be shown to teach reverence and obedience and orderly life. And the courts and legislatures and churches and schools should exert themselves to keep the homes about, from becoming mere nests of slovenliness and ill-breeding and moral degeneracy. The home is just now America's great need—good homes.

Ran Clock by Hand

A Dutch boy held his finger in the Holland dike and kept the floods away, but George McDevitt, night caretaker of the Philadelphia city hall clock tower, did his bit, too.

His name goes down to posterity as the man who kept the hours moving. He did it one night, high in the clock tower of the city hall, even though most of the town was asleep and didn't appreciate his efforts.

The city hall clock is operated by compressed air. McDevitt was on the job one night, when suddenly the air compressor went on the blink. The clock stopped.

And rather than let any of Philadelphia that cared to glance skyward fall to learn the time, McDevitt operated the clock by hand.

All night long he ran the clock! The next morning it hadn't trailed very far behind, and McDevitt was still toiling patiently.

When Joseph Gaskill, caretaker in charge, came to the tower the next morning, he relieved McDevitt. The clock while being repaired was operated by the two men who turned a crank to force air to the compressor chamber. The pump was formerly operated by a motor.

WOODBURN SCHOOLS OPENED WITH GOOD ENROLLMENT

The Woodburn schools opened Monday with a larger attendance this year than last year for the opening day. There were 241 in grades and 198 in high school. About 50 more are expected in another week, as students are engaged at canneries and in hop fields. Busses, run by the communities and not by Woodburn, are bringing students to the high school from Aurora, Needy and Monitor.—Woodburn Independent.

SHERWOOD SCHOOL OPENS

The Sherwood school opened Monday with an attendance of 115, a substantial increase over any former year. It is believed that as soon as fruit picking is over the attendance will be increased to 140 or 150. The increased school attendance would indicate a substantial growth in local population.—Sherwood News.

The Diamond Beetle

One of the most beautiful of all insects is the "diamond beetle" of Brazil. According to the recent investigations of an American naturalist who has lately visited that country the sparkling colors of this beetle, which blazes with extraordinary brilliance in the sunshine, originate in an entirely different way from the hues of butterflies. The scales of the diamond beetle appear to consist of two layers, separated by an exceedingly thin interspace, and the light falling upon them experiences the effect of interference, so that the resulting colors correspond with those of thin plates or of the soap bubble.

In ironing out difficulties some men go at them with a mangle.
