FRIDAY - APRIL 22, 1904

Voters have three weeks more in which to register for the June election.

This is the time of the year when numerous of our country contemporaries are inviting the festive candidate to come 'round and get square.

The Japanese have the Russians guessing as to the kind of infernal machines that carry so much naval disaster to the Czar. An enemy mystified is an enemy weak.

New York democrats have declared for Parker, which practically finishes off the Hearst boom, though the yellow journalist is still crowding the mourners of his party. Oregon democrats also refused to endorse Hearst. But his money is still in the rug.

The difficulty of getting seed grain is greatly retarding farming operations. There is a large demand for rye but it is not to be had at any price. On some lands other grain will be substituted, but some acres will go without sowing because of lack of seed.

The Oregon rivers have been swollen to the damage point for a week past and they are still ripping out banks and flooding unwonted places. The Deschutes follows the spring fashion. It is now a full foot above low water stage at Bend and an empty oyster can was washed away yesterday.

The house of representatives Tuesday passed the bill providing for admitting as a state Oklahoma and Indian Territory, under the name of the former, and Arizona and New Mexico as one state under the name of Arizona. There is doubt as to acceptance of this arrangement by the people of the several territories, who are to vote upon it before it can become effectively even if congress agrees to it.

The Columbia Southern Irrigation Company is fast transforming the west side of the valley from an arid wilderness into a settled and productive region. All encouragement to it. To get these lands occupied under conditions that will make them permanently fruitful is a great service for the country. People are coming in and taking the lands and the work of getting title for settlers is going ahead as fast as it can be pushed, as witnesses the advertisement of a list of 12,259 acres in another column of The Bulletin.

Louis T. Barin, for many years prominent as a lawyer and politician of Clackamas county and later of Multnomah, died suddenly last Monday morning. He was register of the Oregon City land office nearly 30 years ago. In the first Harrison campaign he was chairman of the republican state committee and was known as "the man who carried Oregon." That brought him the appointment as United States Marshal for Oregon, which was his last public office. Latterly he has enjoyed a large practice as a land attorney.

Postmaster Grant today received authority from the department at Washington to inaugurate a mail service from Prineville "as often as practicable for the pay allowed." The letter says the days on which the service is to be performed will be determined by the postmaster here. Inasmuch as the mail will be carried daily without any cost at all to the government for the first quarter at least, Postmaster Grant announces that the service will hereafter be daily and will start for Prineville at 6:30 A. M. and arrive from Prineville at 7 P. M. This service begins tomorrow morning.

LAND BUSINESS BACK TO BEND.

Congress has taken another try at the law authorizing land affidavits, proofs and oaths to be taken before other than the land officers. By an act approved March 4, the law which the land department construed as not authorizing the execution of applications and proofs outside the land district in which the land lay, was amended by inserting "county, parish or land district" where only "land district" appeared before.

This undoubtedly extends the jurisdiction of United States commissioner at Bend so that it reaches southward to the south line of Crook county, 12 miles farther than has been heretofore recognized, and it may permit land business from points much farther south to be transacted here in cases where the Bend officer is the "nearest or most accessible." As to this point, however, the construction of the land department of the government has been asked, for it is not proposed to repeat the experience that brought so much confusion in the business of the past two years.

When Congress found how the land department was construing the law it promptly changed it so as to provide the accommodation originally intended. The new act also validates all land applications and proofs heretofore taken according to the new provisions. This had previously been covered by a special curative statute passed in February but the new law brings the cure down to date.

Word from Marsh Awbrey.

Bend, Or., April 19, 1904—(To the Editor of the bulletin)—In view of the untrue reports circulated in this county I will explain that, while I have the highest respect for Mr. Moody's official and private standing and business, I wish this kept in mind: It has been circulated in our precinct that I was trying to be delegated to the county convention, where they said, I would down Williamson and go for Moody. Any man that says I ever promised to vote for Mr. Moody, or threatened to do so to defeat Williamson, is a liar and a fool to think I would let him get away with it. There has been considerable said about me writing to the Haystack country in which I said I was a Moody man. Following I give the letter in full.

M. C. Awbrey.

Deschutes, Oregon, March 6, 1903—Mr. Perry Bend, Culver, Oregon—Dear Sir—Can you make it convenient to meet in conference at Prineville on Saturday, March 19, a few voters interested in plans to defeat the scheme of the Prineville clique to make extensive county improvements in that town? We wish to have candidates who will give the rest of the county a fair show. If half a dozen of us can talk this matter over we may be able to organize a plan of action that will prevent the scheme to clutch the whole county for funds to make improvements in Prineville. This part of the county is in favor of Henry Windom for Sheriff and Mr. Gilchrist for County Clerk. Please let me know promptly if you can meet with us to consider this matter. Very truly yours, M. C. Awbrey.

Mr. Moody's chances for the nomination were exceedingly bright until the action of the Baker county convention which, through a local fight, robbed him of the fruits of an overwhelming victory at the primaries in that county. With Baker county Mr. Moody would have had two-thirds of the delegates from Eastern Oregon, and enough votes would have been forthcoming from Multnomah and Columbia to have nominated him. The campaign which has been waged in Eastern Oregon by Mr. Moody was one of the most brilliant ever witnessed in Oregon politics, and while the dominating influence of Multnomah's delegation in the convention defeated him for the nomination, the result of the primaries in Eastern Oregon was a gratifying personal victory for Mr. Moody.—Ashwood Prospector.

Republican State Ticket.

The republican state convention met in Portland April 14 and nominated the following ticket, adopting the district nominations for presidential elector in the congressional districts:

Supreme Judge—Frank A. Moore, of Columbia County.

Dairy and Food Commissioner—J. W. Bailey, of Multnomah.

Presidential Electors—J. N. Hart, of Polk; James A. Fee, of Umatilla; Grant B. Dimick, of Clackamas; A. C. Hough, of Josephine.

Delegates to Republican National Convention:

At large—H. W. Scott and W. B. Ayer, of Multnomah, S. L. Kline, of Benton; and Ira S. Smith, of Malheur.

First Congressional District—J. U. Campbell, of Clackamas, and J. M. Keene, of Jackson.

Second Congressional District—Charles H. Carey, of Multnomah, and N. C. Richards, of Baker.

Will Wurzeiler, of Prineville, was made the committeeman for Crook county.

Gives Facts About Advertising.

Every man or woman who is now advertising or intending to advertise, should send 10 cents for a copy of White's Sayings published at Seattle, Wash., at $1.00 per year.

This paper gives practical hints about advertising systems; advertisement illustrations; writing advertisements and suggests methods to get more business at less expense.

It gives the advertising rates of all the leading publications and in many other ways is worth the $1.00 per year.

ONE SPECIAL—A paid up subscriber may ask all the questions he desires about business and advertising methods and receive confidential replies. One department—for hustlers—tells you how to start in business for yourself and become independent.

Send 10 cents today, if you are advertising or expect to advertise, to White's Sayings, Seattle, Wash.

J. I. West this week received news of the death of a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth J. Latty, at Angola, Ind. She was 53 years old and had long been ailing of a dropsical complaint. She left a family of grown-up sons and daughters, a sister and brother in her home town and a brother in Bend, who had not seen her since he left Indiana 23 years ago.
