Job Printing.

The Bend Bulletin has bought a complete job printing plant, which will be installed here as soon as the machinery can be freighted in. We shall then be ready to do all kinds of job printing at reasonable prices and on short notice. We should be pleased to have those requiring such service bear this in mind and hold their work for home industry if practicable.

If the fight against Binger Her mann had been made prior to his nomination he would probably have been defeated. After he had been nominated it was like pouring water on a duck's back.

It is hard to get the government to realize the needs of a rapidly growing community like Bend but it is hoped the report of officials sent to examine this field will have the effect of bringing prompt recognition from Washington.

An increased of 400 per cent in the number of votes cast in Bend precinct since June 1902 is not had particularly when it is remembered that the bulk of this increase has come in the last six months. Bend is progressive and progressing.

The biggest republican majority ever cast in Oregon is the assurance message that goes back to the populous East this fair June, and any there previously had doubts as to the expediency of nominating the president for re-election they must be dissipated by the voice of Oregon. Capital tending in this direction may also feel secure. We are not going back to repeat the folly of 1891-2.

At the McCann homestead is 9-12 a barrel of rain water was recently caught from the roof of the house. The family went up the other day and found the water had been ruined for domestic use by chipmunks drowning in it. The barrel was half full of the small rodents, which had tried to get drink and slipped in to their death. In The Bulletin shop this week three mice went to the lye bucket for drink and lost their lives there. The passion for drink brings ruin to more than man.

There is room for regret that the vote on the amendment to take the state printer from the list of constitutional state officers cannot be made effective. In passing upon the constitutionality of the initiative and referendum amendment a few months ago, the supreme court decided that one proposal to amend the constitution could not be legally submitted while another was pending in Oregon, therefore the printer ought to be abolished. There is no better reason for a state printer than for a state grocer.

POPULAR OCEAN BEACH.

Many from the Interior Planning to Spend Their Vacation at the Sea Shore.

Hundreds from Eastern Oregon and Washington spent their vacation at North (Long) Beach, Washington last summer, and it is safe to say that this popular resort of the North Pacific Coast will be visited by many more this year than ever within its history. The change from a high and dry interior altitude to the sea level is most beneficial.

The trip on the Willamette and Columbia rivers, out of Portland, is one long to be remembered; the usual heat of a summer afternoon being tempered by a gentle breeze freighted with the aroma of pine trees and seasoned with salt air. The scenery includes much that is beautiful. Leaving Portland on one of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company's palatial river steamers, (the T. J. Potter being queen of river flyers) the excursionist is carried through the harbor where fly the flags of many nations. The twelve miles on the Willamette are quickly made, and, after saluting the government lighthouse, marking the junction of the two rivers, the boat swings into the Columbia or the trip down stream. The morning is clear (generally so from June until September), and a magnificent and inspiring sight meets the eye as the sweep around the bend is made—five snowcapped peaks, Mount Hood, Mount Adams, Mount Saint Helen, Mount Rainier and Mount Jefferson, looming into view—a sight worth traveling thousands of miles to see. On down the picturesque river, past villages, sawmills, fishing fleets, salmon canneries, perpendicular volcanic bluffs, and pretty side hill arms, the boat pursues its way. The majestic sweep of the river is awe inspiring. Gradually the shores grow farther apart and, scarcely realizing that five hours have been consumed in making the rip, the boat steams alongside the wharf at Astoria.

One hour from Astoria, through the famous fishing waters of the Columbia, past scores of salmon traps and nets and as many white-tinged fish boats, lands the passengers at Ilwaco, on Baker's Bay, where connection for beach points is made with the Ilwaco Railway & Navigation Company, whose cars stand on the wharf awaiting the steamer. North Beach, where surfing is unexcelled, at low tide is from 200 to 400 feet wide, 23 miles long and so compact that a carriage or wagon scarcely leaves a trace upon it. Scattered along the beach are hundreds of cottages and hotels in which summer life in a unending round of pleasure from the opening until the close of the season. The much dreaded "Resort dosquito" is unknown and no venomous snakes or insects are found. The thermometer rarely goes above 70 degrees in July or August, but light overcoats, fires morning and evening and blankets at night are comfortable during the season.

Rates for accommodations at North Beach points are reasonable and vary to suit the visitors. At European hotels and lodging houses rooms range from 25 cents to one dollar a day; at restaurants, meals run from 25 to 50 cents; and at American-plan hotels, the charges range from one dollar a day to two dollars and upward.

Dozens of delightful side trips may be taken from the beach into a country wild and picturesque beauty, quiet and secluded among hill and forests, with hunting and fishing a native haunts; to the United States Life Saving stations and lighthouses, cranberry farms, oyster beds, salmon fishing grounds and canneries.

For particulars about the trip to North Beach ask the nearest O. R. & N. agent, or send two cents in stamps to A. L. Craig, general passenger agent, Portland, for "Restful Recreation Resorts", which tells all about the Columbia river summering places.

County Clerk J. J. Smith and Park Doak were in Bend Sunday from Prineville.

The Woodmen of America will hold a meeting Saturday night and a full attendance is desired.

J. M. Lawrence writes and delivers insurance policies the same hour the insurance is applied for. You don't have to wait for the policy to be issued in Portland.

Dr. Harold Clark and wife, who have been in Bend for the past week, will leave in the morning for Silver Lake. He will visit several other towns of Southern Oregon before returning to Crook county.

E. A. Griffin had another narrow escape Monday from being crushed by a sawlog. The truck loaders were helping Mr. Griffin to put a log on the truck when it slipped, knocking him down and catching him similarly to his former accident, but the loaders were right there and lifted the log off Mr. Griffin so that he escaped serious injuries.

Governor Chamberlain and the party of state officials who have been inspecting the large irrigation projects under way at Bend, spent last Wednesday evening in Antelope on their way home. They drove through from Prineville on Wednesday, reaching this place very late, and next morning drove to Shaniko in time for the train. All the members of the party were enthusiastic over the future of the Bend country and the entire stretch of country which they traveled in their trip from Shaniko to Bend.—Antelope Herald.

FOR BETTER MAIL SERVICE

Assistant Superintendent Vaile Examines Situation at Bend.

F. W. Vaile, assistant superintendent railway mail service, arrived from Portland Wednesday night to examine conditions at Bend with reference to the need of daily mail service. The present daily mail service is permitted by the department under temporary arrangement. Mr. Vaile's mission is to see about the advisability of making the daily service permanent.

Wednesday evening Mr. Vaile went over the situation with Postmaster Grant. Yesterday he spent the first part of the day fishing, bringing in a dozen beauties, which he conferred upon U. S. Commissioner Lawrence. Mr. Vaile was driven in from fishing by the loss of his faithful pipe and he had strong suspicion that another fisherman or a big trout had picked his pocket. The later part of the day he spent in looking over the town and talking with people about the needs of the postal service and the general prospects of this region. He left on this morning's stage on his way back to Portland.

New Postoffice Wanted.

The petition for a tri-weekly mail service direct between Bend and Sisters has been forwarded to Washington with endorsements of the postmasters at both ends of the line. It also asks for the establishment of a new postoffice at the Wimer ranch, half way between Bend and Sisters, to be called Wimer. The petition carried a large number of names, there is no objection to it in any quarter and the need for the service is evident, so favorable action on the petition in due time is expected.
