FRIDAY - JULY 8, 1904

Will somebody please give Jupiter Pluvius a hunch that this is an arid country and his present treatment of us is very, very unreasonable indeed?

The great question that is agitating the democrats this week is Who shall lead the procession that is forming for the march to the cemetery? It will probably be Palmer but it ought to be Hearst.

The official canvas of the returns of the recent election shows the Republican plurality to be over 24,000. Supreme Judge Moore received a plurality of 24,217, and J. W. Bailey 24,283. Local option carried by 3118, and the primary law by 39,851. Hermann's plurality was 6813, and Williamson's 14,353. The total vote of Oregon was 99,315, against 92,920 two years ago.

FAME THROUGH ADVERTISING.

The advertising columns of The Bend Bulletin are read everywhere, as witnesses the following pertinent remark of the Prineville Journal:

A. Nale is the name of a contractor and builder at Bend. Mr. Nale ought not to experience any difficulty in hitting himself on the head.

Mr. Nale doesn't hit himself on the head but he struck a good business location when he came to Bend.

Another testimonial to the efficacy of advertising in The Bulletin is afforded by the fact that last week a young lady lost a whip and ordered an advertisement for it but recovered the whip even before the paper went to press.

BETS ON COLUMBIA SOUTHERN.

The interview with F. T. Hurlburt, printed in The Bulletin last week, to the effect that the Columbia Southern railway would never extend beyond Shaniko, has drawn from a responsible man, who does not desire personal notoriety in connection with the matter, the following:

A CHANCE FOR KNOWING ONES.

"From $1,000 to $5,000 deposited with the editor of The Bend Bulletin on or before August 6, as a wager that the Columbia Southern railway will not be extended into Crook county before August 1, 1905, will be covered at once."

The Bulletin has assurance of the bona fide character of this offer and vouches for its genuineness. A certified check is offered to cover any sum within the limits named.

AS TO COMMUTED HOMESTEADS.

The new circular issued by the general land office at Washington, under date of January 25 but promulgated in the past few weeks, makes a material change in the requirements for homestead commutation. Formerly the requirement was for "actual settlement, improvement and cultivation for not less than six months preceding date of proof." The new requirement is for "actual residence, improvement and cultivation for not less than 14 months from date of settlement." A peculiar incident is that the laws under which the new requirement is made were all on the statute books three years before issuance of the former circular, July 11, 1899, but they appear to have been overlooked when the regulation, which has been the law all the time, is brought into effect, and commuters look upon it as something of a hardship. This is not so radical as would appear at first view, however, in the light of the statement that "constructive residence from the date of entry will be recognized where settlement is made within six months thereafter."

Rasmussen's Goods Are Safe.

M. F. Hawthorn, of Rosland, writes to The Bulletin, as follows: "I notice you have published an account of some one breaking into and robbing N. C. Rasmussen's cabin on Big River. When I was up in the mountains I found the board that he nailed over his door off and the staple drawn. Mr. Rasmussen had asked me to look out for his things last February and said he would pay me for my trouble. You can state that by his (Rasmussen's) request, I took everything and have it at my place, stored away, and the same will be turned over to the authorities when called for."
