Such is the brief story of the incorporation election in Bend. The campaign was fairly active and contained so many unknown quantities that nobody could predict the result with any degree of certainty. And when the votes were counted there were surprises for everybody. Dr. Merrill for alderman and F. O. Minor for treasurer were upon all the tickets printed, and polled practically the entire vote. A. H. Grant for recorder was also upon all the tickets but at a late hour J. M. Lawrence consented to the use of his name for the office and his election was one of the surprises of the day. Another surprise was that Groesbeck for mayor received lowest vote on his ticket (Sather for alderman having withdrawn). Another surprise was that Lucas, high man on the "Independent Citizens" ticket, was 23 votes under the low man on the other ticket, F. A. Shonquest. Lester's vote for marshal also was unexpectedly large, due to an active personal campaign, with posters for all the tickets.

The judges of election were J. T. West, E. P. Batten and Creed M. Triplett, the latter being sworn in to take the place of J. M. Lawrence, who had been appointed but declined to serve because he had consented to stand as an independent candidate for recorder.

A large number of votes were challenged, chiefly on the ground of non-residence within the limits of the proposed incorporation. In some of these cases the challenge was not insisted upon after examination, some were rejected as deficient and the others were sworn in. One hundred and seventeen men claiming residence within the proposed incorporation or 30 days voted.

After the result of the ballot had become known the Bend Cornet Band got itself together and marched to the Goodwillie bungalow and serenaded the victorious lead of the ticket. There were music, remarks and other things suited to the occasion.

One of the pleasantries of the strenuous day was the appearance of a cartoon in which an artistic caricature of the rival candidates for mayor was drawn. F. Milo Lobdell was the artist. He drew the picture in his shop for his own amusement and Photographer Bledsoe quietly got it away and posted it near the polls.

DIED.

STEWART—At his home in Lytle on Saturday night, December 17, 1904, from a relapse of typhoid fever, William F. Stewart, aged 38 years.

Mr. Stewart was born in West Virginia in 1866. He was married to Miss Katie Giles in 1895. A wife and two small children are left.

The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. O. W. Triplett, and the interment took place at Pilot Butte burying ground Tuesday afternoon.

The deceased was well known in Crook county. He was a brother of the Prineville flour mill man, who provided every attention for the sick man that was possible. For a year and a half he had lived at Bend, for much of that time being foreman of ditch construction. Until a few months before his death he was a member of the Woodmen of America but he had allowed his membership in that organization to lapse. The attack of fever was so light at first that not much was thought of it. This led to overdoing, which brought on a relapse that proved fatal.

BARNES—On Monday night December 19, 1904, Carrie May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Barnes, after a four weeks illness with typhoid fever and complication, aged 11 years 2 months and 24 days.

The little girl had been attending the Bend school and the school was dismissed for the funeral, which occurred Wednesday at 3 p. m. the Rev. O. W. Triplett officiating. Burial was in the Pilot Butte cemetery.

A. P. Bacon, who bought the Dudley Mayfield place on the west side of the river above the Pilot Butte mill, has just completed a blacksmith shop 18x20 feet at his place. Although not all of his tools have arrived he is doing some business and in a few days will be ready to do all kinds of work in his line.

Glenn E. Lovell, son of C. E. Lovell, arrived in town from Columbus, Ohio, Monday evening and will make his home in Bend. He says that Miss Elliott, sister of Mrs. Ray Lovell, was very ill when he left home. These ladies will be pleasantly remembered as having spent several weeks in Bend last summer, guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lovell.

BEAR'S FATAL ERROR

He didn't Know of Bend's Rapid Growth.

MET DEATH INSTEAD OF FOOD

Swam the River at his Accustomed Place and Then Found Himself Right in Town.

A 3-year-old black bear made the mistake of his life Wednesday evening about 4 o'clock, when he swam the Deschutes river just below Bend and struck out for some rendezvous on the eastern desert. Martin Olson, who happened to be passing that way, saw bruin laboring in the turbulent current. He ran to get a gun and the bear saw him and would fain have gone back, but the rushing water forbade a second swim immediately. Olson hurried to a tent occupied by B. H. Lantry and asked for a gun. Lantry produced the gun but proposed to use it himself. By that time dogs were after the bear and he was getting away over the rocks as fast as he could, considering the ardor of the dogs. Soon Lantry overtook him and got in two or three shots that made bruin very tired. He laid down to rest and give up the ghost, when J. I. Reed came up and put another shot into the carcass. Then the bear was skinned and the steaks divided and the excitement ceased, but the dogs were nervous all night.

MARRIED.

WILSON-WINTERSTELLER.—At the home of W. E. Guerin, jr., in Bend, Wednesday morning, December 21, 1904, by Justice J. M. Lawrence, Miss Anna L. Wintersteller and Mr. William B. Wilson.

The wedding of these young people was a very simple and homelike affair. It had been planned to have the wedding ceremony performed at Prineville or Portland, but upon the return of Mrs. Guerin last Sunday she insisted that the marriage should take place in her own home, where the bride had been almost since childhood. So it was arranged accordingly and the ceremony was performed by Justice Lawrence, a few minutes after 8 o'clock Wednesday morning. A modified Episcopalian form, introducing the ring, was employed. Little Miss Mary Guerin, serving as maid of honor and the couple being otherwise unattended. Immediately after a wedding breakfast was served, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson left for Portland, driving direct to the railroad. The only wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Ellis, Mayor-elect Goodwillie and G. C. Steinemann.

This couple starts out upon a career of exceptional promise. In Mrs. Wilson's former home, Sandusky, Ohio, the local papers made much of her engagement "to a wealthy Portland rancher." Mr. Wilson is now superintendent of the development of about 1000 acres of irrigated land near Bend. It will be many a day before Bend has another bride so pretty.

$20 for Cruelty to Horses.

D. F. Doolin, who says he drove through to Bend from Red Bluff, Cal., was arrested last Saturday night on a warrant charging cruelty to animals. He had been lying about the saloons and leaving his five wretchedly poor horses tied to the wagon, without feed or water and with harness on for two or three days. At first he pleaded not guilty but subsequently changed that to guilty and paid a fine of $20 and all costs, taxed against him by Justice Lawrence. He had to sell two horses to pay out.
