DEATH IN A WELL

Carl Chapman Falls on Cruel Rocks.

NINE MILES TO NEAREST HELP

Unsuccessful Efforts at Rescue--Anthony's Distress and Confusion--The Circumstances.

Carl W. Chapman lost his life last Friday afternoon in a well he was assisting to dig on his homestead, 18 miles southeast of Bend. Chapman was out there with A. A. Anthony, who was employed to dig the well. The shaft was down about 33 feet, part of which was through rock that could be removed only by blasting. Thursday afternoon a shot had been made ready for exploding in the bottom of the well, but the air was so foul the fuse could not be lighted. Friday morning the air was better and Anthony managed to light the fuse and set off the blast. Then it was deemed best to allow plenty of time for the air in the well to become purified and the two men made a trip to Wind cave, returning about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Carl proposed at once to go into the well to see what had been done by the shot. Anthony cautioned him against it and went to the house to get some gunny sacks with which to fan air down into the well. When he returned Carl had descended a few feet on the ladder. Anthony passed down the gunny sacks and by means of fanning good air was introduced in the well. The young man found that considerable rock had been loosened by the blast and called for a bucket to be lowered. He filled the bucket three times and Anthony drew it up and emptied it. Anthony called down to Carl to change places with him and the young man started up the ladder and after he had ascended some distance fell. Then Anthony heard a moan at the bottom of the well and knew that all was not right there. Anthony went down into the well and found that Carl had fallen but was not wholly insensible. The elder man seems to have lost his presence of mind at this point and there is no really conclusive story of what happened afterward, but from all the evidence available, including what Anthony is able to tell, it appears that he raised the young man but was not able to get him up the ladder. Then he got the rope from above and tied it around Carl's body under the arms and went to the top and tried to hoist him out but could not do so. Then he thought of the horse and hurriedly harnessed the animal and attached him to the rope and drew upward the injured man, who evidently clutched the lower ladder and carried it up some distance with him. The load caught in some manner in the narrow shaft--which was three feet square--the rope broke and there was a fall on the cruel rocks below. The young man's head was crushed and his shoulder broken. Anthony's confusion now became panic and in grief and terror he hurried for help. There was none nearer than the ditch camp, nine miles away. He rode the horse as long as it could go, then went on foot. And when he met workmen near the camp he was so exhausted and excited that he could not at first make himself understood. Finally he got men to telephone to Bend and go with him back to the well. Charles A. Chapman, father of the young man, started immediately with Dr. Coe for the homestead. When they arrived there the body, long past help, had been raised from the well and there was nothing to do but come back to town with it. The mother and wife of the young man, not knowing whether the accident was slight or serious, started about 8 o'clock for the homestead. In the middle of the night they met the others returning, but they were not made acquainted with the facts until after reaching home, when friends were summoned and took charge of everything. Anthony was quite overcome by the accident, condemned himself for having, as he said, contributed to the death of his best friend, and was quite beside himself for a day or two, when it was deemed necessary to guard him to prevent self destruction. He has now recovered. The funeral occurred Monday afternoon from the church. It was in charge of the Bend fire department, of which body deceased was a member. The Rev. J. C. George, of Laidlaw, was the officiating clergyman and the service was very simple. There was no sermon--only the reading of the Episcopal burial service, prayer and the singing of two hymns by a male choir. At the grave there was a simple prayer and the singing of another hymn. The casket was covered with a number of beautiful floral pieces, chief of which was that of the firemen upon which the letters "B. F. D." appeared in immortal. The pallbearers, all active firemen, were C. P. Becker, T. W. Zimmerman, James McCoy, Ralph Spencer, C. D. Brown and Creed Triplett. The church was crowded and a long line of carriages followed the hearse to the cemetery. Carl Walters Chapman was born in Jasper county, Iowa, 21 years ago the 7th of last June. When Carl was a child the family spent 18 months in Arkansas and then moved to Umatilla county, Oregon, remaining there 16 years. After six months in Lewiston and a year in Moscow, Idaho, the Chapman family came to Bend last December, took a considerable area of land in this vicinity and engaged in the dry-goods business here. At Grangeville, Idaho, June 25, 1904, Carl Chapman married Miss Elizabeth Fray, who, with a three-month-old son, survives. The other members of the family are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Chapman, and a sister, Miss Ethel. Carl Chapman had a policy for $1,000 in the Massachusetts Mutual, written last June.

Resolutions.

At a joint meeting of the Bend fire department last Saturday night the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased the Almighty Father to take from our midst C. W. Chapman, a devoted husband and father and honored member of Bend Fire Department, be it

Resolved, That we tender our sincere sympathy to the bereaved family of our deceased member in this their hour of affliction; and that we commend them to the care of the "One who knoweth best; and who doeth all things well." And be it further,

Resolved, That the secretary be instructed to send a copy of these resolutions to the bereaved family and that the same be spread upon the minutes of the Bend Fire Department.

S. C. CALDWELL, Chief
F. MILO LOHDELL, Depl. Secty.

Card of Thanks.

Since it is impossible to reach all personally, we wish to take this means of acknowledging our gratitude to the people of Bend for their sympathy and aid in our recent great bereavement and to give this hint of an appreciation that words are too poor, weak, and empty to express.

C. A. CHAPMAN AND FAMILY,
MRS. ELIZABETH CHAPMAN.

Squaw Creek News.

Born, to the wife of Merrill Van Tassel, Saturday, August 13th, an 11-pound girl. Mother and babe doing nicely.

Death visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, of Sisters, Saturday night, claiming their youngest child.

George B. Taylor and Clyde Gist left Thursday with a band of horses for the valley, where they expect to dispose of them. They will go to Portland to visit the fair before returning.

Professor Ford and wife left Wednesday by team for Portland. They will visit the fair before returning.

The camp of Lewis McCallister, near Squaw creek, was burned last week. Two of his horses were badly burned. The fire is supposed to have started from a cigarette being dropped by some of the crew.

Harvest is bearing a close.

Bend Money Order Business.

Following is a statement of a year's money order business of the Bend postoffice, commencing August 18, 1904, when Bend became a money order office.

2863 money orders issued	$32,032.65
Fees on same	202.68
344 money orders paid	6,935.68
41 international orders issued	1,930.83
Fees on same	28.10
Average of issued money orders	11.19
Average of paid money orders	20.16
Average of international money issued orders	6255.

The Rev. Jesse C. George, of Laidlaw, who was connected with the Congregationalist church, finding that his own denomination had no organization in this field, has become affiliated with the Presbyterian church and will hereafter work under its auspices.

$5000 SCHOOLHOUSE

Bonds Voted by Taxpayers Yesterday.

TO BE SOLD TO OUTSIDERS

Nineteen Votes Cast, all in the Affirmative--Nearly Double as many as Voted for $3500.

The proposal to bond the Bend school district for $5,000 to build a new schoolhouse carried unanimously yesterday afternoon. Nineteen taxpayers voted, every one in favor of bonds and every one in favor of disposing of the bonds under subdivision 31 of section 3389--that is, selling them to outsiders instead of home people. These bonds will bear only 6 per cent interest and people in this country can get 10 per cent for their money any day, so it would be useless to offer the bonds here.

Chairman Lawrence called the meeting to order, read the notice the election and asked the taxpayers to select an election board. Thomas W. Triplett, A. M. Drake and Duncan McMillan were chosen as judges and J. D. Honeyman was elected clerk after John Steidl had declined. These were duly sworn and the poll was declared open. Following is a list of the voters as recorded by the clerk:

L. M. Lawrence	J. McMillan
E. F. Butten	John Steidl
Alvan Kotaman	Millard T. Triplett
A. M. Drake	A. W. Pope
Thos. W. Triplett	Carlyle C. Triplett
J. J. West	Mrs. Julia Steidl
George Brosterhouse	Mrs. M. F. Cottor
John Seemore	Charles J. Cottor
R. H. West	J. D. Honeyman
Mrs. A. M. Drake

The next matter to be settled is the site for the new schoolhouse and there must also be authority for disposing of the present school property. On both these matters the voters must be consulted.

TUMALO ITEMS.

Alfalfa That Grew More Than an Inch a Day--Neighborhood News.

No deaths, no births and no marriages. The hot days of summer are almost over.

Haying is about completed except some late sown grain.

Arthur Hightower has departed from us to visit Willamette valley points.

A partial eclipse of the moon was observed by parties of Tumalo, Monday night.

Ed White visited our burg Monday and completed arrangements with the Winers for ordering a steel hay baler.

T. H. Root is putting up Charles Spang's hay, Mr. Spang being in the valley running his father's threshing engine.

Lawrence Smith had a birthday party, August 9 being his 12th birthday. An enjoyable time was reported.

Quite a crowd gathered at the home of George W. Wimer Sunday to attend church services, held by Dr. Coons, of Bend. Mr. Coons was delayed owing to the funeral of Mr. Smith's child at Sisters, but arrived in time to deliver a good sermon, which everyone enjoyed.

We are sorry to note that Tumalo will soon lose some of its people. Mrs. W. J. Hightower and Misses Pearl Hightower and Vera Mackey, who expect to leave soon for Aberdeen, Wash., Mrs. Hightower goes to visit friends and relatives, while the girls expect to enter school for the winter, but we hope to see them back in the spring.

Let Judge Cotton talk of the imposition of the people of the Deschutes wanting a railroad; is his road the only one? Well I guess not. They can't keep a road out, it is sure to come and the first come first served. Where is the place today that was fully developed before a railroad reached it. Mr. Cotton spoke of no irrigation going on here. He wasn't looking for it on this side of the river; he was lost, and at Tumalo he was hunting the way to Laidlaw.

How is this for alfalfa? Joe Wimer has a bunch of alfalfa which he has carefully kept measurement of during the summer. On June 12 it was cut, being 24 inches high; July 12 it was cut again, being 33 inches, and August 12 again cut being 36 inches tall, a growth equal to 93 inches up to August 12, or an average of 1.9-61 inches a day. Can some one beat it.

From Powell Buttes.

Crops are good in the Powell Buttes section this year.

John McLeod is building an addition on his house.

John Casey and Mr. Chase have gone to Sherman county for the harvest. Mrs. Chase has gone to visit her mother at Hood River.

Sam E. Shepard has gone to put in the remainder of the season on the Columbia Southern ditch.

Will Brown and George Hobbs have traded horses and both think they got beat bad. Mrs. E. A. Bussett entertained a party of 15 one day last week at a dinner. Miss Alta Brown has gone to Portland, and from there will go to Vancouver to visit a former Kansas friend.
