The first specimen of sugar beets from this locality was gratifying enough, but now comes the report on the second lot, which shows still richer results and more than confirms the most rosy view of the advantages of the Deschutes valley for the beet sugar industry.

What's the matter with continuing George E. Chamberlain as governor of Oregon? He's a democrat. . it's true, but a democratic governor -can't do much good to his party when the rest of the administration is republican. It is vastly better than having a governor who is a mere cogwheel in a machine.

In the northwestern railroad field the fights of the giants is now on and the country will profit by it. It is no longer a question of sitting on the lid. Central Oregon will gain much from this activity, though it is not yet certain from what direc tion or in what form that gain will · dome-except that it will be in the form of modern transportation.

We have a letter from Charles A. Johns, of Baker City, in which he advances himself as a candidate for governor of Oregon on the republican ticket, subject to the terms and conditions of the primary law. F. . L. Dunbar, the present secretary of state is The Bulletin's first choice for governor, but since he will not consent we shall be very well u pleased to have Mr. Johns in the field. Mr. Johns is a man of attain-. ments and positive convictions, he is not a factionist and his geographical position is strong. Hes service on the state text-book commission has shown him to be a man of force and independence.

This lawless utterance is taken from last week's Prineville Review, and we reprint it for the purpose of protesting against the anarchy it represents:

Notwithstanding the conviction of Messrs, Williamson, Gesner and Biggs, their friends in Prineville will be glad to grasp their hands in welcome when they return, Conviction of irregularfities in acquiring lands necessary to carry on their business in this county carries with it no stigms except in the Oregonian and the minds of federal officials, and the defendants will be none the less popular throughout the district because of such conviction,

This is flaunting treason. No possible occasion can warrant it, much less the present visitation of justice. Moreover, it does not represent the sentiment of the law-abiding population of Crook county. Grant that there are houest differences of opinion-on this mattery it is yet distinctly untrue that Creok county will welcome these defendants as formerly. Glad as we would have been to have them festablish their innocence, they did not do it and people who respect the daw do not hold them in the same esteem they would guiltless inen. We protest against the Review's rash utterance as a gross omisrepresentation of Crook county, and at a time when it is specially harmful.

James McCoy, C. P. Becker and Billie" Robinson returned this week from a month's trip in and seyond the Cascade mountains in the region of Diamond peak.

Dan Heising left this morning with a party to drive over the mountains to the valley. The party was composed of T. W. Triplett and family, Mrs. W. W. Amburn and children, E. V. Ammons and Frank May.

Mayor Goodwillie returned yesterday from his up-river bear hunt. The remainder of the party stayed for another week of the sport. Two bears had been killed when he left camp and they supplied toothsome steaks for a number of Bend tables.

Crops That Won't be Knocked.

This week's contributions to The Bulletin's exhibit of agricultura! products come from J. H. Oneil! and the Sherwood brothers. Mr. Oneill brought in a ruta baga 2016 inches in circumference, round, smooth and firm as any that ever grew anywhere; and a white flat turnip measuring 25 inches in circumference and of unexcelled quality. Neither of these is a record breaker for size but they are significant productions of a "worthless country," without any special

The Sherwoods brought in a beautiful specimen of White Champion oats grown on their ranch a dozen miles north of Bend. They raised and threshed on 20 acres of partially irrigated land 213 bushels of these oats, as plump and white as could be desired, after using part of the crop for current feeding.

At the D. I. & P. Co's farm about 2,000 bushels of potatoes are ripening for the harvest. A dozen ipe watermelons were gathered and eaten there last week

Mr. Buchholz, who has an irrigated farm adjoining that of the company, had on exhibition this week a fine watermelon that weighed 16 pounds.
