The people of the Tumalo section want to get a through mail route established that way from Bend to Sisters.

SENTENCED: Williamson and Biggs are sentenced to pay a fine of $500 and be imprisoned to months each.

These sentences have a sobering effect on the most defiant of the land graft sympathizers. They constitute a warning that cannot be ignored.

These results in Oregon have been achieved by a republican president acting through a democratic prosecutor.

elements held rigidly to their partisan prejudices, but for the best elements of two parties to join for the public good is a spectacle that is as novel as it is glorious.

LAND CONTESTS: The Bulletin is in receipt of the following inquiry: PRINEVILLE, Oct. 14, 1905.—I see the government is mighty strict against people who may be acting together to get public lands.

As to whether it is "just as bad" or not The Bulletin does not care to express an opinion; for it would be no more than an opinion and could not fit all circumstances.

However, it is not to be overlooked that the land department of the government encourages contests against those who may hold public land improperly.

Therefore, while it is not proper to "promote contests" in order to increase their fees, it does seem to be their duty to encourage contests against those improperly holding land.

No officer with any self-respect or respect for his office will promote contests for the fees, but it is his duty to encourage contests against the improper holding of government lands.

Twilight: When the evening shadows lengthen, And the day of toil is past; When upon the wood and meadow Sunset's crimson veil is cast.
