FRIDAY - OCTOBER 27, 1905

The city of Bend has filed application for the SE 1/4 of sec 33, 17-12, for park and cemetery purposes.

A circuit judge over at Albany has decided that a man cannot be prosecuted for having a pheasant in his possession in violation of the law, if the bird be dead; because forsooth, a dead one is a "carcass" and not a "pheasant."

The record price for pine in Minnesota was paid a few days ago when the state sold 80,000,000 feet of standing timber for $650,000—$210,000 more than the appraised value.

The farther away from home Deschutes sugar beets get the better they appear. The Ohio expert says they are the best he ever analyzed.

The annual city election will occur on the 5th of December, when there is to be chosen a mayor, a recorder, a treasurer, a marshal and four aldermen.

The number of sheep sold out of Lake county this year will be close to 150,000 head. This means an enormous income to this county.

But does it? The sheep industry is a very useful one and we have no desire to reflect upon it, but isn't it just possible that if Lake county were cut up into farms it would support more people.

LEST WE FORGET.

Complaint is made that in certain quarters there is exhibited a disposition to "rub it in" on Williamson et al, under sentence for land fraud.

the least gone out of its way to parade them or dilate upon them. These people and these offences are a part of Crook county, but we cannot be proud of them.

As to Mr. Williamson—who of his opponents has been so active in stirring up feeling? Just about two years ago today he took his facile pen in hand and wrote,—

"Whenever my own 'political enemies' become so numerous and so powerful as to cause a grand jury of my own citizens to find a true indictment against me I will then and there throw up the sponge, retire from public life and go back to the ranch."

That was a dreadfully unfortunate utterance, but it seems to have been voluntarily made by Mr. Williamson and he is in all fairness estopped from complaining if it is quoted at this time.

Suppose I should resign at once and someone be elected who would go to the national capital and employ his time and talents in antagonizing every movement made by Senator Fulton?

It might be well to keep in mind the fact that when the time for choosing a successor to Mr. Williamson shall arrive a majority of the voters will make the choice, and if it pleases them to send to Washington a man of ideas and methods different from those of Senator Fulton it is their right and privilege to do so.

We think, too, that Senator Fulton will not relish the inference that the cause of the land-grabbers requires that he be aided and supported in all ways. Mr. Fulton does not appear to be personally connected with the scandal, but when those who have been convicted are so strenuous to help him preserve the old machine, so insistent that he shall have full swing, it opens the door to a lot of embarrassment for him.

Getting the Lands Back.

As a result of the land fraud trials in this state, the tracts of public land available for entrymen will be increased, as the properties involved are recovered from the illegal holders and the land is returned to the government.

The method by which the government gains control of the land is simple. Civil suits are brought against the men who hold the land illegally, and a short litigation is necessary to cancel the patents issued, reclaim title and declare forfeited the money paid by the entrymen.

Entirely without prejudice to the premises, looking only to the best interests for the state and jealous for her welfare, it appears to the News Letter that one course only remains for Senator Mitchell, and Representatives Hermann and Williamson, namely, to wire at once their resignation to President Roosevelt and thus make way for the appointment of others to whom we might justly look for faithful representation in the coming session of congress.

The land fraud convictions in the state of Oregon have changed the color of politics in this state. The Mitchell factor is a thing of the past. The fort held by Congressman Williamson has been surrendered to the opposing faction, Binger Hermann, although he has not yet been convicted, is generally believed guilty and will hardly be re-elected to congress on the plea of vindication.

le senator to fill the unexpired term. The democrats will not get a senator, but it may be possible that they will get a congressman.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Brock and daughter Miss Jackie, expect to go to Portland next week, where Mr. Brock will have his eyes treated for failing sight.
