FAVOR A HIGH SCHOOL

Citizens Desire Growth of Educational Facilities.

WILL ADVERTISE THE TOWN

While there is some opposition to the Board's Plans, it is believed they will be adopted by District.

The prospects for establishing a high school in Bend are most promising. All indications now point to a majority in its favor at the election next Tuesday. A partial canvass of the voters of the district has been made by The Bulletin, and as the citizens learn the plans as proposed by the school board they are heartily in favor of the step. When a voter is told that a high school must be established if the district is to teach ninth and tenth grade studies, that no additional teachers are to be hired, no new rooms opened, no extra expense incurred—when he understands conditions as they really exist, he invariably favors the high school. Discussion on the street has brought forth the fact that a mistaken notion is held by some in that they think the establishing of this high school will place a large additional expense on the district. When, however, the real plans are explained and it is shown that there will be no added burden to the taxpayer, there is very little opposition to the present movement. The Bulletin found only a very few who are opposed to the high school.

The views of a few of the voters of the district follow:

Dr. C. W. Merrill—I am always heartily in favor of any movement that will help the town and country. Hence I certainly favor the establishment of a high school at Bend.

S. C. Caldwell—I favor the high school most emphatically. Kill the schools of a town and you kill the town. Those places having the best educational advantages are the ones that grow and push ahead. Their growth is largely caused by their good schools.

Charles Boyd—There can be nothing done that in any way improves school facilities that does not help greatly in the development of the country. I favor the establishment of a high school here.

H. P. J. McDonald—I think it a wise plan and a good thing for the town. It is foolish to send Bend scholars away to school when we can have the school right here at home.

A. H. Grant—A high school will draw people here from outlying districts, and as present plans contemplate no additional expense to the district, why should it not be established? I certainly am in favor of a high school at Bend.

J. Frank Stroud—I am always in favor of building up the public school system. It is one of the very best advertisements a town can have and helps largely in any town's growth.

Dr. W. L. Nichol—The man with a child who does not vote for a high school is not voting for the child's best interests. Neither is that property owner who votes against the high school voting for his best interests.

J. I. West—It is one of the best things the town can do if it only knew it.

E. A. Sather—I am in favor of a high school at Bend. It will bring people to town to live and is a good thing.

F. E. Batten—I am in favor of a high school if the plans do not call for an increased rate of taxation, and I understand they do not. The more families and children the schools bring into town the better it will be for Bend.

A. L. Goodwillie—I favor a high school at Bend for many reasons. Every week I receive close to 50 letters of inquiry regarding Bend. The first question asked is as to possible railroad construction, and with at least 45 of the 50 the second question is concerning school facilities and churches. This move for a high school calls for no larger tax levy, no additional teachers and no new rooms—in fact, no extra expense whatever. A high school will draw scholars to Bend from outlying districts. I know of at least two at Laidlaw and two at Powell Batten who will come here next year if we have a high school.

NEW ROAD INTO BEND.

Hawthorn Avenue Being Extended East of Town.

A new road is being opened into Bend. Hawthorn avenue is being extended out to F. E. Batten's land. There the road turns north, running across L. D. Wiest's east forty, passes Mrs. W. J. Barnes' land and running west of the experiment farm joins the Prineville road. From the point where Hawthorn avenue reaches the Batten ranch, another road will be opened in a southern and eastern direction to join the Bear Creek road. These new highways are being opened on section lines whenever the topography of the ground permits it, and are expected to be approved by the county commissioners.

MANY FRUIT TREES PLANTED

Settlers are Buying from the Nurseries in Large Quantities.

Many orchards will be planted in Bend and vicinity this spring. Dwight Roberts, representing a large Salem nursery, has been spending the week here and reports very favorable business. He has received orders of greater or less magnitude from a large number of the settlers, and every one seems anxious to get out some fruit and see just what this country can do growing it. In many localities hereabouts orchards are bringing money into their owners pockets each year. The numerous orders taken by Mr. Roberts show that the settlers have unbounded faith in this region also as a fruit producer.

Charles Reed, of the Johnston ranch, placed one of the largest orders. It included 517 trees besides a large number berry bushes. These he will plant on his homestead. Cal Eaton also will plant a large number of trees on the Baldwin ranch.

An Explanation.

BEND, Feb. 20, 1906.—Editor Bulletin—Dear Sir: If I mistake not it is pretty generally known throughout Crook county that my father, Jacob Stroud, is seeking the nomination for sheriff, on the democratic ticket, at the coming primaries, to be held April 20th of this year.

The rumor is afloat, and being circulated by some of my friends(?) that should he receive the nomination and be elected at the coming election, I, and not he, would be the acting sheriff. In other words that I am very anxious to fill this office myself, but am afraid that I could not be elected, so use his name in order to gain the office.

For the benefit of those who I can not see personally and explain the matter to, I wish to say, that I consider him qualified without my help to fill this office, and should he be fortunate enough to be elected, I shall have absolutely nothing what ever to do with the conducting of the office or its duties, and furthermore that when I desire to fill any office in this or any other county, within the gift of the people, I shall have the nerve, I trust, to ask for it in my own name, and not in the name of my father or that of any one else.

Respectfully yours,
J. FRANK STROUD.

The Farmers' Institute.

John H. Overturf and L. D. Wiest have been assigned subjects for discussion at the farmers' institute at Redmond Saturday, March 3. Mr. Overturf will discuss, "Proper Seed for the Harvest" and Mr. Wiest "Planting Fruit on the Deschutes." Mrs. Estelle Ellis will give a reading, "In the Catacombs" and T. W. Zimmermann will favor the gathering with a vocal solo. This institute is being arranged on the same plan as the one recently held at Laidlaw. People are asked to bring well filled dinner baskets. Coffee will be furnished by the committee at Redmond.

Political Meeting at Redmond.

A meeting will be held at Redmond next Saturday at which delegates elected from various Western Crook precincts will be present. This meeting is a step further in the plan whereby Western Crook will take some concerted action to obtain representation in the transaction of the county's business. These delegates are expected to perfect the plan.

BUILD IN THE SPRING

Corvallis & Eastern Rumor Gaining Strength.

THE VICE-PRESIDENT TALKS

Laidlaw Man Writes to Long-Time Railroad Friend and Gets Good News of an Extension.

Information reached Bend this week from reliable sources that the Corvallis & Eastern railway will undoubtedly commence an extension across Oregon east and west. Rumors to this effect have been floating about all winter, but the information now on hand practically robs these former statements of all doubt as to their truthfulness.

"Uncle" Frank Nichols of Laidlaw is a long-time personal friend of the vice-president of the Corvallis & Eastern. Recently he wrote a letter to his railroad friend asking for information as to the company's intention concerning railroad extension across Oregon. Mr. Nichols received a letter in reply in which his friend said: "I hope to be able to make a visit to you before very long on a railroad." In answer to inquiries the letter also said that the Corvallis & Eastern had not been purchased by Harriman and that the road was not for sale. He also stated that all financial arrangements, necessary for the extension of the road, were completed.

A large number of Bend people have been pinning their faith to the Corvallis & Eastern. They realize that an extension of this road across the state, connecting with some transcontinental line, would give Bend and Central Oregon direct communication with the East, giving an outlet for Oregon lumber to the rich Eastern market. Furthermore, the products of this vast inland empire could be shipped over the mountains to Yaquina Bay and there loaded on ships for the ocean commerce. An east and west road is what the people of this region are hoping for, and many are watching with great interest any move the Corvallis & Eastern makes.

A Christian Railroad.

The Co-operative Christian Association is again attracting attention with its plan to build a railroad from the Willamette valley to Ontario. An expenditure of $50,000,000 is expected to be made by this organization in the development of portions of Eastern Oregon, $15,000,000 of which will be used in the construction of this road.

Dr. Wallace, the promoter of this enterprise, says there is an abundance of capital in the East which can be easily obtained for this work. The route of the road has not yet been announced, but it is expected to be in operation within two years.

This federation plans to build cities throughout the state where some of the difficult questions of labor and capital are expected to be solved. In these cities all creeds may be represented but every inhabitant must have accepted the ethics of Christianity. Smoking will be prohibited on the streets and no saloons are to be tolerated. The regular scale will be paid for labor and if profits are realized by the city the workmen are to be given a share, while the bonding company is to receive 5 per cent interest and one-fourth of the profits.
