SHOT BY HIRED MAN

B. F. Zell Murdered by Fred Shepherd.

MADE NO ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE

A Respected Rancher Living 20 Miles
East of Bend Killed in a Cold-Blooded Manner.

B. F. Zell, a rancher living about 20 miles east of Bend, was shot and almost instantly killed by Fred Shepherd, his hired man, last Monday morning at about 4:30 o'clock. Shepherd made no attempt to escape, and was taken into custody by the officers when they arrived. He is now held in the county jail at Prineville, awaiting the action of the grand jury.

Shepherd went into the room where Mr. and Mrs. Zell were sleeping about 4:30 o'clock in the morning, carrying a 40-65 rifle, and three pieces of rope, one about 25, one six and one three feet long. He awakened the two sleepers and ordered them to throw up their hands. Instead of complying, Zell sprang from the bed and ran out a door on the opposite side of the room from where Shepherd entered, starting for the stable on the run. As he ran Shepherd fired at Zell but missed him. As Zell sprang into the barn, he yelled to "Dakota," another workman who was sleeping in the stable, saying that Shepherd was after him trying to murder him. He then ran on through the barn and as he emerged on the other side Shepherd fired again, striking Zell in the back on the right side, who ran a few steps before falling.

Shepherd then turned his attention to Mrs. Zell, whom he picked up, carried into the house and assaulted. Mrs. Zell, left powerless in the hands of the big burly brute, begged him to shoot her also but he refused. When he desisted from his fiendish work she got him to help her carry her dead husband into the house, telling him that they would lay the crime on "Dakota." She then started for Haswell-Guerin ranch, distant about two miles. Arriving there she found Mrs. W. B. Wilson, their woman cook and young Reynolds. She told her awful story, and young Reynolds started to the Johnston ranch for help. He awakened George Hobbs and A. Wolf and told his story, whereupon these two men ran their horses on the dead run to the Zell home.

In the meantime, as soon as the shooting began, "Dakota" had started for help to the ditch camp about a mile and a half distant and with four of the ditch workers returned post haste to the Zell ranch. They reached the place only a few moments before Hobbs and Wolf.

The men found Shepherd calmly standing around, having changed his clothes and removed the blood stains from his person, received when carrying Zell into the house. He made no attempt to escape but tried to lay the shooting onto "Dakota." But when Mrs. Zell returned she soon pointed out the guilty brute.

The men then bound him and he was taken to the Johnston ranch where he was held until Sheriff Elkins arrived. The sheriff had been notified as soon as the telephone offices were opened. He brought with him Dr. Charles Edwards and District Attorney Bell. An inquest was held, the verdict of the jury being that Zell received his death wound from a gun in the hands of Fred Shepherd. Shepherd was taken to Prineville and lodged in jail, awaiting examination. The circuit court convenes Oct. 15, when his case will probably come up for trial.

An examination showed that the ball entered the back of the murdered man on the right side, quite low down, passed through him and came out on the left side. He must have bled to death very soon as a main artery was severed.

Shepherd is a man 23 years old and a large, powerful fellow. It is generally admitted by those who know him that he is not quite right mentally, that there is something "queer" with his head. It is also reported that he and Zell were not on the best of terms, he having objected to different ones to the manner in which Zell wanted the work done on the ranch.

On the other hand, Mr. Zell was a man some 40 years of age and was respected by all. He owns 80 acres of ditch land near Powell Buttes and had a homestead adjoining. He was a prosperous rancher, a hard worker, and one who evidently understood his business. He was born and raised in this county, being the son of A. Zell of Prineville, who came to Crook county many years ago. Stories are told that prove his undoubted honesty and uprightness. That such a man should be aroused from his night's rest and cruelly murdered and his helpless wife outraged by a monstrous brute is appalling. The community is shocked and the feeling is very bitter against Shepherd.

Mrs. Zell is the daughter of a pioneer family and is held in the highest esteem.

TELEPHONE CO. EXPANDS.

Buys Line Running from Prineville to O'Neil.

The Deschutes Telephone Company has just recently purchased the telephone line running from Prineville to O'Neil, formerly known as Forest. This line was built and owned by O'Neil Bros. It will soon be connected with the Deschutes company's lines and direct service will be inaugurated from Bend to O'Neil.

Many rural phones will be connected with this line and the ranchers living between Prineville and O'Neil will soon enjoy the privilege of a phone in their residence. Twelve ranchers have already bargained for them and H. C. Ellis was in that section the first of the week putting in some of the new phones.

To celebrate the acquisition of the new line, next Saturday service from Bend to O'Neil will be free to everybody.

Catholic Church Items.

The Rev. Fr. Hickey will be in Bend on Friday, Oct. 5, and will remain until Sunday afternoon, Oct. 7, and will hold services in the B. M. hall. In his announcement Rev. Hickey says:

"I will hear confessions and celebrate Mass Saturday morning, the 6th, at 7:30 o'clock a. m., or earlier if desired. I will also offer up Holy Mass on Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock a. m. If preparations be made and a hall arranged for I will lecture Friday or Saturday night or both, at 8 o'clock, on The Real Presence and on the Power of the Priesthood.

I would wish all the Catholics to attend during the time of my visitation, and all non-Catholics are cordially invited to the (free) lectures and sermons. I wish all the Catholics scattered throughout that large county to send me their names and addresses and the ages and names of their families, and I especially request them to comply with this important request. Respectfully,
REV. M. J. HICKEY, Rector."

Sullivan-Troy.

Yesterday evening at Laidlaw, occurred the marriage of Miss Emma C. Troy of Bend to Mr. Steve Sullivan, formerly of St. Paul, the Rev. J. C. George officiating. It was a very quiet wedding, Mrs. John Ryan and Miss Nellie Dwyer being the only friends present.

Soon after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan left for their homestead near Sisters, where they will make their home.

Miss Troy came to Bend some months ago from St. Paul, filed on a timber claim, and later made entry on a homestead. Mr. Sullivan is also from St. Paul, having come to Bend about 10 days ago. He was employed as a watchmaker while in the East.

WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Redmond Fair Has Many Exhibits.

A SURPRISE TO EVERYBODY

Much Favorable Comment Heard Regarding the Quality and Variety of Agricultural Displays.

Since the beginning of reclamation work in the upper Deschutes valley, nothing has so fully demonstrated what this soil can do as did the fair at Redmond last week. The exhibit of grains, vegetables and grasses were of such unquestioned merit that even the men who have helped till the soil and produce the crops were surprised when they saw the numerous exhibits gathered at one place and making one grand showing. Practically everything in the vegetable and grain line that grows in a temperate climate was there represented, fine, firm potatoes weighing two pounds each, 90 pound squashes, cucumbers, canteloupes, watermelons, tomatoes, beets, egg plant, parsnips, cabbage, onions, kail, field corn matured with stalks 8 1/2 feet high, wheat, barley, oats, alfalfa, vetch, etc., etc. from all parts of Western Crook and with a fine showing of apples, peaches, pears, grapes, prunes and English walnuts from the Cove.

The ladies showed their interest by exhibiting many pretty and dainty articles of fancy work and also many things in the culinary line. Then there was also a good showing of live stock—poultry, cattle, horses and swine. The exhibits made a fine showing for a new country and for the first fair ever held in the western part of the county.

There have been those who have prophesied that tomatoes could not be grown in Western Crook, neither could cucumbers, beans and other tender vegetables. Such prophesies were proven false as one stood before samples of these vegetables and saw how well they grew, large ripe tomatoes, long green cucumbers, big watermelons and canteloupes. The samples of wheat, oats, barley, etc. demonstrated that grain would not only grow but that it would produce a heavy yield per acre.

The fair opened Thursday when the exhibits were gotten together and placed. Friday the visitors began to arrive and a program of races and sports was given. In the evening a farmers' institute was held at which Dr. James Withycombe, of the Oregon agricultural college, and Prof. A. L. Knisely, chemist of the Oregon experiment station, spoke. Dr. Withycombe said that the chief industries of this section in the agricultural line would be dairying, sugar production from beets, and the manufacture of denaturated alcohol for fuel and power purposes from potatoes. Professor Kinsely spoke on alkali lands and their treatment. Other speakers of the evening were F. S. Stanley and Jesse I. Stearns of the D. I. & P. Co. A chorus of several voices gave some very pleasing selections.

Saturday was the big day in attendance, many ranchers and visitors from neighboring towns being present. More races and sports helped to amuse the crowd. The fair closed in the evening with a grand dance, with music by a Prineville orchestra.

Exhibits from Rowlee Ranch.

The Rowlee, Baldwin and Johnston ranches had been barred from making entries for premiums, but the Rowlee ranch had an exhibit of grains and vegetables that had been grown on the ranch this year. John Renehan had charge of the exhibit and also has had charge of the
