Polliteness Pays.

Virtue is not to be measured by ostentatious giving. There is frequently more real love for humanity in the soul of the man who removes the banana skin from the pavement than in the heart of the donor of the memorial window in the church. Polliteness, like all other faults and virtues, may become habitual. It is surprising how many small acts of kindness, how many little deeds of helpfulness, one may do in the course of a day when there is inclination to be kind and a lookout kept for the opportunity. One may set out with this intention in the morning, and the footing up at night—not to others, but to one's own secret conscience—will be cheering and encouraging.

To Make Harness Last Longer.

A little economy, which sometimes means a good many dollars to a man, is the proper care of harness, carriage tops, etc. Leather in daily use, exposed as it is to sun and wind, soon becomes dry, hard, inelastic, and unable to stand strain. Then, very likely at the most unfortunate moment, a break occurs, and precious time and money are lost. All this is easily prevented by a little forethought and care on the part of the owner. Every one owning harness should be supplied with a good leather preservative, and a good axle oil. These two things are necessary to the largest economical use of a working outfit, or a pleasure equipage.

Observation has shown that no oil penetrates leather so deeply, and resists the drying effect of sun and wind so well as Eureka Harness Oil.

Neatsfoot and some other inferior oils sometimes used, easily become rancid, or because of containing acid, hurt the leather. Stable men and others posted on the subject, invariably use Eureka Harness Oil. When harness is given an occasional dressing of this oil, and wagon spindles greased with Boston Coach Oil, a very large reduction is made in the necessary repair bills. Boston Coach Oil, by the way, is very much superior to Castor Oil. It has splendid lasting qualities, will not gum or corrode, and is more economical in every way.

People who are after economy in stable management will do well to ask for these oils.

Have You Noticed?

"I think Dick and Katharine will soon be married."
"Why, dear?"
"Well, I passed by the old porch last night and I heard her calling him pet names."
"Gracious! And was she calling him 'ducky' and 'dearest' and 'angel-face'?"
"Well, I should say not. She was calling him 'dunce,' 'goose' and 'stupid.'"
"You don't mean it!"
"I do, and that is always a sure sign a girl is in love with a man."

HAD TO USE A CANE.

Weakened Kidneys Made an Elwood, Ind., Man's Back Give Out.

R. A. Pagh, transfer business, 2020 North B Street, Elwood, Ind., says: "Kidney trouble kept me laid up for a long time and when I was able to be up I had to use a cane. I had terrible backaches and pain in the shoulders. The kidney secretions were dark colored. After doctoring in vain, I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. Three boxes cured me entirely, and I am glad to recommend them."

Somewhat Different.

Miss Elderleigh—How perfectly shocking!
Youngbach—What's perfectly shocking?

Miss Elderleigh—Why, didn't you see old Wedderleigh kiss that doll-faced Miss Peachy just now? He kissed her as affectionately as if she had been his wife.

Youngbach—Oh, much more affectionately than that. I should say he kissed her just as if she wasn't his wife.

"I'm glad to say," remarked Mrs. Strongmunde in an insinuating tone, "that my husband is not a sporty man." "Oh," replied Mrs. Kallype, looking very sweet and innocent, "I'm surprised to hear you say that. I have always supposed that he must have married you on a bet."—Chicago Record.

Where Black Means White. "If I told you," said a philologist, "that a word like white meant not only white, but black as well—that it had two meanings, one the opposite of the other—you'd hardly believe me. Yet we have in English many such words." "Cleave means to cling together. It also means to cut apart."

"Let means to permit. It also means to hinder. 'Let me do it,' we say, adding, 'I did it without let or hindrance.' 'Fast means motionless.—The horse was tied fast.' It also means swift-moving.—The horse ran fast."

"Master means a little boy.—'Master Willie Bell'—and it also means a strong and resolute leader.—'He was the unquestioned master of that unruly band.'"

COLLEGE MOUNTAIN DAY.

How It Is Observed by New England Undergraduates.

A unique holiday is that of Mountain day, which in the last few years has spread to most of the colleges in the hill portion of New England. A New York Tribune correspondent happened to be in Northampton on the last Mountain day. From the moment he left his hotel it was evident that some unusual celebration was under way. The streets of the old Massachusetts town were crowded with Smith College girls in every sort of outdoor garb. They were plentifully supplied with luncheon baskets, but in all the throng there was not a single man. The daughters of Smith crowded every long-distance trolley that ran out of Northampton.

"What causes the migration?" the Tribune man asked a dark-haired, blue-eyed young woman, whose dignified bearing spoke the experience of the sejourner.

"It is Mountain day," she explained. "All of the colleges in this region are closed, that we may go into the hills and commune with nature, drink in the beauty of the falling leaves and tramp over miles of wooded heights."

The Tribune correspondent decided to follow the crowd and try this mountain communion. The car which he boarded was labeled Amherst, and rushed for ten miles through as beautiful a stretch of valley country as is to be found anywhere in the broad land. Yet the mountains—they would call them hills west of the Mississippi—seemed to be just as far away. They loomed up on the right and on the left, but the electric car kept to the valley. Why were these college girls going so far out of the way?

The answer was plain when the car crossed the campus of Amherst College and came to its terminal in the quaint old town. There were men at Amherst, hundreds of "perfectly blue" undergraduate men, and they were waiting for their sisters from Smith to begin their mountain trip.

No one seems to know just when the celebration of Mountain day began, but Amherst claims the credit of originating the idea. For some years the day was not observed, but with the formation of the Amherst Mountain Club a few years ago it again became popular and its observance has spread to Smith, Mount Holyoke, Williams, Worcester Polytechnic Institute and other institutions of higher learning in Massachusetts.

Dr. Edward Hitchcock and Prof. Arthur J. Hopkins of the Amherst faculty are the officers of the club, which has a large membership among the students. It has been most active in blazing trails about the neighboring mountains of the Holyoke range, in naming the unnamed peaks and in building mountain paths and observation boxes. The club has opened up the old lumbering roads, which lead well into the mountain country, and from the end of these roads its members have blazed trails to the prominent peaks.

KRUPP PLANT PAY ROLL BIG.

In the Works Are Employed 62,000 Men and 5,000 Officials.

The famous Krupp works for gun-making keeps on its rolls 62,535 workmen and 5,005 officials, and the immense area it covers includes the Essen works, firing ground for testing cannons at Meppen and Tangerhutte, steel works at Aachen, the Gruson works at Buckau, the Germania ship-building yard at Kiel, the smelting works, steel works and rolling mills at Rheinhausen, the blast furnaces at Neuwerk and Engers, the melting works, machine works and iron foundry at Sayn, three coal mines and a large number of ironstone mines in Germany and northern Spain and a steamship company at Rotterdam.

Communication is carried on between the various workshops by means of a railway forty-two and a half miles in length. The telegraph system of the works consists of twenty-one stations and fifty and a half miles of wire; the telephone system has 500 connections, with twenty-eight and a half miles of wire.

Insurance and pensions for workmen are, as elsewhere in Germany, quite common. There are also a hospital, two isolated hospitals for infectious diseases, a convalescent home, two almshouses, a "workingman's home" with rooms for 613 persons, a club for the officials and another for the foremen, a school for teaching and housekeeping, an industrial school for adults, three industrial schools for girls attending school, a library, a savings bank, a life insurance society and a dental hospital.

Under the terms fixed by the imperial law concerning insurance the Krupp works paid $250,000 for sick insurance, $300,000 for insurance against accidents and $100,000 for old-age pensions during 1904. This money has been put aside by the workmen themselves. But the Krupp works out of its own funds paid for the increased welfare of its workers during 1904 $1,022,000.

LINCOLN'S WEAPON.

How He Employed Ridicule for His Silent's Benefit.

Wit and ridicule were Lincoln's weapons of offense and defense, and he probably laughed more jury cases out of court than any other man who ever practiced at the bar.

"I once heard Mr. Lincoln defend a man in Bloomington against a charge of passing counterfeit money," Vice President Stevenson told the writer. "There was a pretty clear case against the accused, but when the chief witness for the people took the stand he stated that his name was J. Parker Green, and Lincoln reverted to this the moment he rose to cross-examine. 'Why J. Parker Greene? What did that J. stand for? John? Well, why didn't the witness call himself John P. Green? That was his name, wasn't it? Well, what was the reason he didn't wish to be known by his right name? Did J. Parker Green have anything to conceal, and if not, why did J. Parker Green part his name in that way? And so on. Of course, the whole examination was farcical,' Mr. Stevenson continued, 'but there was something irresistibly funny in the varying tones and inflections of Mr. Lincoln's voice as he rang the changes upon the man's name; and at the recess the very boys in the street took up the slogan and shouted 'J. Parker Green' all over the town. Moreover, there was something in Lincoln's way of intoning his questions which made me suspicious of the witness, and to this day I have never been able to rid my mind of the absurd impression that there was something not quite right about J. Parker Green. It was all nonsense, of course, but the jury must have been affected as I was, for Green was discredited and the defendant went free."

For the Children

To succeed these days you must have plenty of grit, courage, strength. How is it with the children? Are they thin, pale, delicate? Do not forget Ayer's Sarsaparilla. You know it makes the blood pure and rich, and builds up the general health in every way.

The children cannot possibly have good health unless the bowels are in proper condition. A sluggish liver gives a coated tongue, bad breath, constipated bowels. Correct all these by giving small laxative doses of Ayer's Pills. All vegetable, sugar coated.
