W. L. DOUGLAS

$3.00 & $3.50 SHOES

BEST IN THE WORLD
SHOES FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE FAMILY, AT ALL PRICES.

$25,000 To any one who can prove W. L. Douglas does not make a pair of shoes for less than $3.00 & $3.50 shoes than any other manufacturer.

THE REASON W. L. Douglas shoes are worn by more people in all walks of life than any other make, is because of their excellent style, easy fitting, and superior wearing qualities. The selection of the leathers and other materials for each part of the shoe, and every detail of the making is looked after by the most complete organization of superintendents, foremen and skilled shoemakers, who receive the highest wages paid in the shoe industry, and whose workmanship cannot be equalled.

I would take you into my large factory at Brockton, Mass., and show you how carefully W. L. Douglas shoes are made, you would then understand why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer and are of greater value than any other make.

My $4 Bill Edge and $5 Gold Bond shoes cannot be equalled at any price.

W. L. Douglas stands by his name and price on the bottom to protect you against high prices and inferior shoes. Take No Substitutes. Sold by the best shoe dealers everywhere.

An Anatomical Puzzle.

Behind the bridge of your nose is a little cavity in the skull, the origin of which appears to be unknown. It probably was a gland, consisting of two tiny lobes, joined together, and is named the Sella turcica. Physiologists believe that this is the remains of a sixth sense, which was of practical value to our antediluvian ancestors, but whether it enabled them to see in the dark in days before they possessed fire or helped them to find their way through trackless forests as wild beasts can to-day or what other purpose it may have served we do not know and probably never shall know.

Mothers will find Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup the best remedy to use for their children during the teething period.

Different.
"Who is that happy, contented-looking chap?"
"It's he a chap who married a girl because she was a fine cook."
"And who is the poverty-stricken, sad-looking chap talking to him?"
"That's a man who married a girl because she was a fine dresser."—Houston Post.

Extraneous Circumstances.
"What brought you here?" asked the judge.
"That," replied the prisoner, pointing to a policeman, "but I was drunk."—Houston Post.

The Age of Discretion.
Senator Dillingham, discussing immigration in New York, made use of the phrase, "the age of discretion." "What is the 'age of discretion,' Senator?" asked one of his auditors.
"I should say," returned Senator Dillingham, smiling, "that the age of discretion is reached when a young man removes from his mantle the rich collection of actresses' and dancing girls' photographs and substitutes the portrait of his rich bachelor uncle."

Her Majesty's Etiquette.
Queen Alexandra of England is strict on such points of etiquette as make it a breach of decorum, for instance, to hand anything but new and unused coin, fresh from the mint, to the consort of the British sovereign. To make love to her majesty is punishable, by the law of Britain, with death, unless, of course, one happens to be the king.

Carrying Tunes.
"Did you want to hire a boy?" asked the applicant at a music store.
"Yes," said the manager. "What musical ability have you?"
"None."
"Can you even carry a tune?"
"Yes."
"Then you'll do. We want you to hurry these photographic records down to the shipping department."—Kansas City Times.

His Lack of Courage.
"Little boy," asked the gentle voiced matron, "how does it happen that you don't catch any of these fish but the smallest ones?"
"It happens, ma'am," answered Tommy, choking back a sob, "because the other boys ain't afraid to lie like blazes, blame their pictur's, an' I am."

TELEPHONES ON CARS.

Useful in Train Dispatching—Connections Quickly Made.
There are three methods followed in the application of the telephone to electric railway dispatching: (1) Fixed telephone substations in booths placed at suitable points along the line. (2) Jack boxes at poles to which portable telephones carried in the cars may be hung and connected for temporary use. (3) Portable telephone sets hung upon the front of the car, the vestibule platform of which serves as a booth, and attachment made by flexible wires to jacks at numerous poles along the line.

On some railway lines, says Technical Literature, the method of connecting a telephone on the car with the line is not by means of a jack at the side of one of the poles, but by a long slender rod carrying the wires, which may be hooked upon the main lines any place.

The telephones used on electric railroad systems must give transmission which is clear and loud, and must be of types not liable to be placed out of service by the jar of continuous transportation on a car.

Application of the telephone to train dispatching on electric railways has resulted in a marked economy of both plant and operation and that the ability of the superintendent to be informed as to the position of the various cars and to communicate with their operators gives a greater service efficiency to the road.

The telephone is of great service in severe snowstorms by reason of the facility which it affords for information as to the condition of the road. In cases of mishap the telephone affords means for quick clearance of the track by the facilities of obtaining wrecking cars or repair hands. In cases of accident not only can medical help be summoned for the injured but means can be taken to procure information relative to details of the occurrence which may be of great importance in ascertaining the liability of the company.

Found Its Way Home.
The story of a pet seal, captured when a pup by a lighthouse-keeper on the coast of England, is given in "Reminiscences of a Sportsman." The young seal was fed, and allowed to have the range of the kitchen, and the members of the household became greatly attached to it.

It would make its way daily down to the water, and pass many hours swimming about. It secured more or less food in that way, but always returned to its place in the kitchen at night.

Blindness finally came to the seal with old age, but it continued its journeys to the sea, and returned home as regularly as before.

As old age increased, it caused annoyance by its peculiar cry for food and its lessened ability to get about. At last the family decided they must part with it, and not wishing to kill it, they arranged with a fisherman to carry it well off—some twenty miles—and drop it into the sea. They expected that it would come to a natural death in that element. But on the second day it appeared again at its accustomed place.

Another effort was made to get rid of it by arranging with a sailing vessel to take it several hundred miles out to sea and then drop it in. This was done, and some time passed away without any sign of the seal. But seven days after its departure the kitchen maid, who slept near the door of the kitchen, fancied during the night she had heard the plaintive cry of the seal; and the next morning its emaciated body was found on the threshold.

Trusting His Partner.
The Carrolls all confidently believe that their Billy, aged five, is destined for future distinction. Perhaps they are right; at any rate, he is not lacking in that sagacity in choosing "associates in enterprise" said to be essential to success.

Last summer Billy was seen walking slowly along the hotel piazza, thoughtfully scanning the faces of guests seated there. Finally he stopped at the chair of an old lady with whom he was on friendly terms.

"Say, Mrs. Jones, can you crack nuts?" he inquired, his hands in his pockets.

"Why, no deary, I'm very sorry, but I can't," replied Mrs. Jones, apologetically. "You know I've lost most of my teeth."

"That's what I thought," said Billy, relaxing from anxiety to his sunny smile, and extending his two hands confidently. "Say, will you keep these nuts here for me while I go get the rest of 'em?"

On Second Thought.
"Don't you remember, you said you would drown yourself if I didn't marry you?"
"Yes, I remember; how foolish I was!"
"Do you consider that it was foolish?"
"Yes; I should have threatened to drown myself if you did marry me."—Houston Post.

Mineral Wealth of the South.

About one-seventh of the mineral production of the entire country comes from the Southern States. Of bituminous coal, the most valuable mineral, the South produces one-fourth, and of iron about one-ninth. Its total coal resources amount to nearly 600,000,000,000 tons, or more than one-fourth of our estimated coal reserve.

Of mineral chemical materials the South supplies more than one-half, chiefly phosphate rock, all of which is produced in Florida, Tennessee and South Carolina, and nearly one-third of the mineral pigments. Of precious stones the whole country produces only $25,000 worth, with the South furnishing its fair share.

The showing in iron ore reserves is quite as good; a safe minimum is 3,000,000,000 tons, or nearly one-third of the nation's total. Of workable iron ore the South contains one and one-half times as much as the famous Lake Superior district, and this does not include the deep lying southern ores.

On a basis of value of product the South furnishes more than two-sevenths of our oil and more than one-sixth of our gas.—New York Sun.

It Wasn't New York.
A gentleman who had occasion to go to an inland New England village ten miles from a railroad was met at the station by an old fellow who looked as if he might have just awakened after a Rip Van Winkle sleep. His horse and buggy were in keeping with their owner's ancient appearance.

"Here we air at last," said the driver, when they finally came to three houses and a blacksmith's shop.

"This ain't much of a place, is it?" said the depressed stranger, looking around.

"Oh, you don't see all o' it from here," was the reply. "That's two more houses over behind that hill thar, an' a cooper's shop jest around that bend in the road thar. Come to bunch 'em all together an' it's considerable o' a place—but o' course it ain't New York."—Woman's Home Companion.

A Failure.
Not long ago a man appeared at the capitol and had his card taken in to Senator Bailey. The Senator did not recognize the name, but in accordance with his usual courtesy, came out to where the stranger was waiting.

It took only a few minutes' conversation to develop the fact that the individual simply desired to make a "touch." It was the regulation "Been unfortunate, sah, and desires to get back to my own country, sah."

"What is your business, colonel?" the Senator inquired. The rusty frock coat and black hat seemed to warrant the title.

"Why, I am a gentleman, Senator," the stranger replied, pompously.

"Oh, I see," the Senator said, pleasantly. "Have you instituted bankruptcy proceedings yet?"—Philadelphia Record.

The Prize Cow.
Take for yourself a well bred cow, get her on full feed, cram and feed and stuff and cram her for, say, a year. Go to the trouble of washing and currying and scrubbing and combing her twice a day, get down on your hands, groom her legs, polish her horns and brush her tail, and by the time show season comes around you should have a very creditable looking show cow.—Sheridan (Mo.) Advance.

Witty Journalism.
Jacob A. Rills, the author and journalist, was talking about witty newspaper headlines.

"As witty a headline as I know," said he, "was written by a youth of 18 in a San Francisco newspaper office. There was a bill up to prohibit the sale of alcoholic drinks within four miles of the University of California, and this bill the youth headed:

"An Act to Promote Pedestrianism Among Our Students."

So Many!
They went in to dinner together. He was very bashful, and she tried in vain to draw him out. Finally she began to talk books, and he became responsive. "And Hugo?" she asked. "Do you like his style?"
"Oh, yes," he replied. "I find him intensely interesting. I've read a number of his books."
Then she asked, "Have you read 'Ninety-three'?"
"No, I've—er—only read three. I didn't know he had written so many."—Lippincott's.

HEALTH NOTES FOR AUGUST.

PERUNA FOR CATARRH OF THE STOMACH, BOWELS, DIARRHEA, DYSENTERY, BLOATING, NIGHT SWEATS, SUMMER COMPLAINT.

August is the month of internal catarrh. The mucous membranes, especially of the bowels, are very liable to congestion, causing summer complaint, and catarrh of the bowels and other internal organs. Peruna is an excellent remedy for all these conditions.

They went in to dinner together. He was very bashful, and she tried in vain to draw him out. Finally she began to talk books, and he became responsive. "And Hugo?" she asked. "Do you like his style?"

CATARRH BLOOD DISEASED AND SYSTEM DISORDERED

Catarrh is not merely an inflammation of the tissues of the head and throat, as the symptoms of ringing noises in the ears, mucous droppings back into the throat, continual hawking and spitting, etc., would seem to indicate; it is a blood disease in which the entire circulation and the greater part of the system are involved. Catarrh is due to the presence of an excess of uric acid in the blood. The Liver, Kidneys and Bowels frequently become torpid and dull in their action and instead of carrying off the refuse and waste of the body, leave it to sour and form uric acid in the system. This is taken up by the blood and through its circulation distributed to all parts of the system. These impurities in the blood irritate and inflame the different membranes and tissues of the body, and the contracting of a cold will start the secretions and other disgusting and disagreeable symptoms of Catarrh. As the blood goes to all parts of the body the catarrhal poison affects all parts of the system. The head has a tight, full feeling, nose continually stopped up, pains above the eyes, slight fever comes and goes, the stomach is upset and the entire system disordered and affected by this disease. It is a waste of time to try to cure Catarrh with sprays, washes, inhalations, etc. Such treatment does not reach the blood, and can, therefore, do nothing more than temporarily relieve the discomfort of the trouble. To cure Catarrh permanently the blood must be thoroughly purified and the system cleansed of all poisons, and at the same time strengthened and built up. Nothing equals S. S. S. for this purpose. It attacks the disease at its head, goes down to the very bottom of the trouble and makes a complete and lasting cure. S. S. S. removes every particle of the catarrhal poison from the blood, making this vital stream pure, fresh and healthy. Then the inflamed membranes begin to heal, the head is loosened and cleared, the hawking and spitting cease, the constitution is built up and vigorous health restored. S. S. S. also tones up the stomach and digestion and acts as a fine tonic to the entire system. If you are suffering with Catarrh begin the use of S. S. S. and write us a statement of your case and our physicians will send you literature about Catarrh, and give you special medical advice without charge. S. S. S. is for sale at all first class drug stores.
