One Exception.

We praise her doughnuts and her pies,
Her biscuit and her cake;
But where's the man who sighs for pants
Like mother used to make?

She used to take a pair of pants,
When they were worn and frayed,
And decorate them with a patch
Of some contrasting shade.

And cut them off about the knees,
And take the waist in, too,
And say that they for every day
Were just the thing for you.

And then she sent you off to school,
And when you didn't go,
She wondered what got into boys
That they played truant so.

Yes, still we praise her jam, her "jell,"
Her coffee and her steak;
But where's the man who sighs for pants
Like mother used to make?

—Town and Country Journal.

She Smiled.

Because she smiled her went away
Rave-hearted to his work that day.
His petty cares were all forgot;
He hurried on with one glad thought:
His task became joy-giving play;
He did not know the sky was gray;
To him the world was bright and gay;
By splendid hopes his breast was Sought—
A man was made from hopeless clay—
Because she smiled.
