Clark, of Los Angeles, directing genius of the Mount Hood road, who gave his per-sonal attention to the initial work done in Portland, came to the Pacific Northwest as the personal representative of his distinguished namesake. With the secrecy that smacks of the previous conquests of George Gould, but which, it is believed by persons well advised, is in reality the linking of the Rock Island system and the Moffat railroad between Denver and Salt Lake City, the plans for the new road into Portland have been practi-cally completed. Though it has been denied, and will be denied again, it can be asserted with confidence that the site of the Inman & Poulsen Lumber company yards and docks between East Sherman and East Carothers streets will the be water front terminal of the new line. Practically all details for the entrance of the road to the city have been concluded and meanwhile engineering parties have completed the location across to the Eastern slope of the Cascades, thence southeasterly toward Central Nevada to the eastern terminus at Salt Lake City.

It may entprise some engineers to learn that a route has been found by by which the line will make a gradual as cent of Mount Hood, to the southeast of that eminence and through to the upper Deschutes on a compensating grade of less than 1 per cent, but such is a fact and the construction crews already engaged in the vicinity of Bull Run and between that point and Fairview will be rapidly advanced along the route so that considerable of the heavier part of the work will probably be completed during the winter months.

Aproaching the Deschutes at a point Aproaching the Deschutes at a point not far from the mouth of Warm Springs creek, it will follow up the Deschutes, cross the spur of Walkers range and thence proceed in a south-erly course to the drainage of Sprague river and thence up that stream to the southeast, through the Klamath Indian reservation and thence in a nearly direct line to Winnemucci

The main line will be built with regard to the shortest mileage and best route, while branches are projected to tap the irrigated districts of Crook, Klamath and Lake counties, but these are to follow the completion of the through line which is just at present the objective feature of the entire en-

Engineers have been over the route repeatedly, parties having easily maintained the secret of their purpose and work because of the activity of the Harriman system engineers in the same territory.

Canton, O., Oct. 1 .- To the many memorable events which have taken ace in Canton since her most distinguished and beloved son, William Mc-Kinley, first entered into the public life of the nation, must be added one other, the dedication of the final resting place of the martyred president and Mrs. Mc-Kinley with solemn and impressive cer-A niey with solemn and impressive cor-emonies yesterday afternoon. The occasion was made notable by the presence of the president of the United States, by the governors of a number of states, by members of the senate and house of representatives, justices of the United States Supreme court and countless other persons of prominence who were associated perper-Mosonally or in public life with Mr. Kinley.

The most striking feature of the program, aside from the presence of so many men of wide prominence, was the great parade of military which preceded the formal dedication of the mausoleum. The thousands of troops in line included detachments of regulars from nearly all of the army posts in the East, South and Middle West. In addition to these there was a full repre-sentation of the Ohio National Guard. The procession moved through the streets lined with spectators, who cheered the soldiers enthusiastically.
