FLOUR MILL FOR LAIDLAW.

Weston Man May Install One—Working for Electric Light Plant.

The Laidlaw Development League is working to secure a flour mill at that place. Last spring a man at Weston, Oregon, was ready to put in a mill at Laidlaw if he could dispose of his mill at Weston. That he was unable to do at the time. Now, however, he has sold out at Weston and the Laidlaw people are hoping that he will install one at that place. The development league is having correspondence with him with that end in view, and it is said the prospects are promising.

Another enterprise the Laidlaw hustlers are working for is an electric light plant. They are carrying on correspondence with a man in Nebraska, who will probably come out next spring and look over the field at Laidlaw. Prospects for the light plant are also favorable, so say Laidlaw people.

The Laidlaw league is doing good work, and evidently has some life about it. They hold meetings regularly twice a month, one meeting devoted to business, the other to social matters. At their last meeting they challenged Redmond to meet them in a debate on the evening of January 10, at Laidlaw, the question to be debated being the pro and con of the rules recently adopted by the State Land Board in regard to irrigated land. The stipulation was made in the challenge that the winners should later challenge Bend to a debate on the same question. On January 10 a farmers' institute will be held at Laidlaw and the debate is planned to furnish entertainment for the evening. Bend will be ready to meet the winners.

lowing causes: (1) Failure to reside upon the land embraced within said entry as provided by law and these rules; (2) Failure to submit proof of reclamation, cultivation and settlement within the time specified; (3) Failure to purchase the necessary water right or release of lien from the construction company.

LIEN FOR RECLAMATION.

Rule 15. As the object in withdrawing the land from the operation of the United States general land laws is primarily for the purpose of affording proper security for the capital invested in the construction of the works for reclaiming the same from its desert condition, no one shall enter any of such land until he has first entered into a contract with the construction company for the purchase of the necessary water rights. The law provides that the water rights purchased by the entryman shall, as soon as title passes from the United States to the state, become appurtenant to the land, and that the person, association or company furnishing water for the same shall have a prior lien on said water right and land upon which said water is used, for all deferred payments for said water rights.

CONTESTS.

Rule 16. Any person qualified to make entry upon segregated land may contest an entry or final proof for any sufficient cause affecting the legality or validity of the same.

Application to contest must be filed with the Board, and must be made by affidavit setting forth the facts constituting the grounds of contest, which affidavit must be corroborated by the affidavits of two or more witnesses.

Personal service upon the contestee of a copy of the contest affidavits shall constitute service of notice of contest. Proof of service must then be filed with the Board.

The contestee must file his answer with the Board within 20 days after date of service.

At the expiration of said 20 days, if there is no appearance by the contestee, judgment by default may be had by the Board, but if there is an appearance, the Board will set a time for hearing the evidence and determining the rights of the parties to such contest.

AMENDMENTS.

Rule 17. These rules may be changed or amended by the Board, but only after 10 days' notice by mail to the construction companies, fixing a time and place for a hearing on any proposed change or amendment.
