WEALTH IN TIMBER

A Few Facts and Figures about Future Industry.

WILL MEAN MUCH TO BEND

Vast Sums of Money Will Be Paid in Wages when Timber is Being Manufactured into Lumber.

Much is written and said about the timber resources adjacent to Bend, but undoubtedly very few people have any clear idea of how great an industry will some day be developed at Bend from that source. Everyone knows that the revenue derived from the manufacture of lumber here will mount up into the millions of dollars and that it will take years to exhaust the timber supply in this region, but no one aside from a few timbermen, cruisers and those who have given the subject study, have any clear conception of just how much wealth will be derived from or just how long it will take to complete the manufacture of the local timber supply. Hence The Bulletin has prepared an article giving a few facts and figures, having secured its information from those who have cruised this entire section and whose life work has been in the timber and lumber business. Consequently the statements made are authoritative.

There are adjacent to Bend 3,500,000 acres of timber land, which will average 20,000 feet to the acre. That means 70 billion feet of timber tributary to this place. Bend has a site for a mill pond with a capacity sufficient to accommodate five mills each sawing 1,000,000 feet a day. A little figuring on that basis gives some very interesting results. If these five mills were in operation and each sawing 1,000,000 feet a day for 300 days of each year, it would require in round figures 50 years to saw up the entire supply. As a matter of fact the future mills will not saw that amount of timber and a much longer time will be required to exhaust the supply.

A mill with a capacity of 1,000,000 feet a day will require a force of about 3,500 men in its logging and milling operations. The five mills would require 17,500 men. At an average wage of $3.00 per day that would mean a daily pay roll of $52,500, or a monthly pay roll of $1,315,000, or a yearly pay roll of $15,780,000.

It has been said that figures are cold things, but when the full meaning of the figures just quoted are realized it will be seen that they can be made to carry very interesting information. With as much money turned into a community or section each month as the above statements show to be possible, prosperity in a great degree is bound to follow. The figures mentioned have to do only with the manufacture of lumber. Think of the grocery and drygoods establishments, the clothing houses, the drug stores, banks, and a dozen and one other business enterprises that will follow in the wake of the one great and important industry. When the railroad comes these various industries will all spring into life and their rapid development will then follow. When that good time comes Bend and the Bend country will be one of the busiest and most prosperous sections in the entire country. And its coming is not far distant.

Says Oregon Eastern Will Be Built. The head engineers of the Oregon Eastern railway surveying crews, who remained here several days after the surveying work was discharged finishing up the work, started for Salt Lake Tuesday. Mr. Stradley, head of the entire force, stated to an Examiner representative that while he knew little of the company's intentions he believed this road would be built. He said the company could not afford not to build it. This country had too much of a future to remain much longer without a railroad, and that this road was the most practicable one, and there was no doubt about its being built.

He also stated that this road was necessary for the handling of the company's enormous traffic; that for two years past all their western roads had been blocked with business, and this road was the surest relief. The panic, he stated, has served a good purpose for the company, as it permitted them to clean up the gorge of business. Mr. Stradley's confidence in the future of this country is such that he has invested in two tracts of land near Lakeview this fall, and says that he is satisfied with his investment and will likely see more of Lake county.

While he may not know what the company intends to do, or does not feel justified in talking for the public about its business affairs, his position is a source of knowledge which makes his judgment good, else he would not have invested his money here.—Lakeview Examiner.

Building Large Cattle Shed.

Work is going ahead on the big cattle shed on the Davenport-Stanley ranch that is to house those blooded animals bought last year near Hood River. These animals, about 40 in number, were brought to the local ranch about the time of the Prineville fair. They are pure-bred short-horns and the price paid for them ranged from $100 to $400 per head. The cattle were bought from the Judge Byrketts herd on his stock ranch across the Columbia from Hood River. The number contained three fancy animals that have been exhibited at various stock shows.

SOCIAL EVENTS OF THE WEEK

Correspondents Send in Interesting Notes from Redmond, Tumalo, Gist and Powell Buttes.

REDMOND, Dec. 30.—Mrs. F. G. Kennard was down from Bend to spend Christmas with the family.

Mrs. Trichler is back from an extended visit of Willamette Valley points and will soon be at home out on the homestead.

McLallin & Young have quite a contract for pulling trees out on the Turney ranch east of Bend.

The D. I. & P. Settlers Association is planning to entertain their friends again on January 11. Not a free feed this time but something worth coming out to just the same.

The Christmas exercises for the Sunday school were postponed until New Year's eve on account of so much rain and snow all the first part of last week. A fine time is reported from the new school house on Tuesday night in spite of the storm.

J. G. McCuffie was down from Bend to spend Christmas with Mrs. Jim.

A pleasant dance is reported at the hotel on Christmas night.

Election of officers for the Sunday school took place yesterday. Superintendent, Mr. Davidson; assistant, Mrs. Irwin; secretary, Miss Davies; treasurer, J. H. Jackson. We did not get all the teachers, but the Bible class selected Mr. Hall.

Mr. McClay reports a pleasant little dance at his house Saturday night.

Mr. Buckley has moved into the new house. E. C. PARK.

Tumalo Items.

TUMALO, Dec. 31.—Snow! Well I guess yes. We have it and plenty of it for the present.

Chas. Wimer was in Bend on business today.

C. H. Spauld and Jess Root were in Tumalo today.

N. M. French passed through here yesterday going to Bend.

J. E. Wimer has gone to Newsom Creek on business and will be gone about a week.

G. W. Wimer & Sons butchered three fine porkers yesterday.

T. A. Jensen is on the sick list. We hope he will soon be all right again.

A merry crowd of young folks from both Gist and Tumalo met at Mr. Pulham's Friday night. All report a most joyful time. Bertha Davis won first prize in the guessing contest and John Wimer was honored with the booby prize.

The new mail route from Laidlaw by Tumalo to Gist will go into effect tomorrow. Stage leaves Gist at 8 a. m., arrives at Laidlaw 12 m., leaves Laidlaw at 2 p. m. and arrives at Gist at 6 p. m. Our mail will arrive the same as on the old route but outgoing mail will have to lay over night at Laidlaw.

Dr. Coe of Bend passed through here yesterday returning to Bend today.

Mr. Ellis' automobile went spinning by here last Thursday night.

F. V. Swisher was in Tumalo yesterday.

Many of our young folks attended the Christmas tree at Laidlaw Christmas eve.

F. W. Leverenge and Henry Shoemaker passed through here Saturday going to Bend on business.

We are glad to see items from Gist appear. What is a community without being represented? Keep the good work going.

Inklings at Gist.

A fine rain for Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Tuller invited a few of their friends to dinner Christmas. Master Earl Tuller entertained those present with his phonograph while the turkey was being prepared for dinner.

The dance Christmas night at Sisters was a grand success. Everybody had a good time.

Walter Graham and wife made a pleasant call at Gist's on Christmas eve.

James McCall has built a new barn.

George McCallister and wife have returned home after a few days visit with relatives on Crooked river.

The mail contract between Gist and Laidlaw has been let to Prentiss Vantassel.

Clyde Gist went to Lower Bridge to spend Christmas. He has some attraction there I guess.

Commissioner Ellis, manager of the Pioneer Telegraph & Telephone Co., was in the Gist neighborhood yesterday repairing the line. HAYWARD.

Powell Buttes Notes.

Rather stormy these days for a desert country. The recent rains have wet the soil down 18 inches.

The stove flume is nearly finished and appears O. K. The dirt work on the main canal around the buttes has been rather slow on account of bad weather and the rocky make-up of the old river bed bluff, where the ditch runs. As the ditch progresses it leaves the old river bed and will be more easily made.

A. D. Morrell and family spent Christmas in Bend.

J. J. Jones is hauling wood to Prineville and bringing back lumber with which to build a house.

One of Mr. Morrell's steers died recently, supposed to have eaten too many frozen potato peelings at the ditch camp.

Hugh Mitchell has left for a visit to Salt Lake City.

Burt Davis is now home from Bend, where he has been working since early fall.

Mrs. Charles Niswonger has returned to Walla Walla, Wash., but may return to make this her future home.

WHEN THE COIN IS IN THE TEAPOT.

WHEN the stringency is stringent, and the panic's on the pan,
Then the financiers explain it in the only way they can,
For the stocks are on a tumble and the market is a mark,
And the proud and haughty magnate isn't singing like a lark;
He is weeping for the water that is squeezed out of the stock
When the coin is in the teapot and the bills are in the sock.

When the coin is in the teapot, then somebody has a scare,
And the plutocrat is bothered by the lifting of his hair,
For he fears a gloomy future when today is far from bright,
And he hears the ticker ticking in the watches of the night;
And the lambs are not so ready to be gathered in a flock
When the coin is in the teapot and the bills are in the sock.

O, it isn't just the poor folk that should take the brunt of blame;
There's a lot of other people who have cold feet in the game,
And each doubts the other fellow, and each even doubts himself,
So he finds the old cracked teapot that is hidden on the shelf,
And he slips into the wardrobe, and comes out and turns the lock,
And his coin is in the teapot and his bills are in the sock.

So it's all of us together that have caused unpleasant times—
It's the man that hides the millions and the man that hides the dimes,
Whether one is in a mansion and the other in a hut,
Whether one walks with a shuffle or the other with a strut—
They are sure to switch the current and give confidence a shock,
When the coin is in the teapot and the bills are in the sock.
