NOW CARRIES WATER

Construction of Stave Pipe Is Finished.

A PERFECT PIECE OF WORK

Superintendent Redfield is Well Satisfied with the Big Tube—Will Reclaim 12,000 Acres.

The stave pipe that the Deschutes Irrigation & Power Company has been building across the old river bed in the Powell Buttes neighborhood was recently completed and last Saturday water was run through it for the first time. The sparkling fluid that is to reclaim the hot and dry desert and that will give life and blossom and fruitage to a hitherto barren waste is now gushing through the pipe, carried across the old river bed to the lands beyond.

The pipe leaked a trifle when the water was first run into it, but it doesn't leak a drop now. Superintendent Redfield is very much pleased with the work of installing the big pipe and says it is a perfect piece of construction. The pipe was made and put in by the Douglas Fir National Pipe Company of Olympia, Wash.

The big wooden tube is 1620 feet long. That is over a third of a mile in length. It is 56 inches in diameter, or large enough to allow the average man to walk through it without stooping. It carries water enough to reclaim 12,000 acres of land. The pipe proper comprised two car loads of lumber, one car of iron rods, hoops, etc., besides a lot of local freight. This was shipped into Shaniko from the factory, and freighted by wagon to the place where it is erected. The freighting bill from Shaniko to this section was approximately $1,800. The contract price of the pipe was $6,600, and other expenses ran the total cost up to $10,000. The first expense is quite heavy but these pipes are a lasting piece of work, similar ones having been known to last 20 or more years.

A HANDY CONTRIVANCE.

Prineville Man May Make Fortune from New Clothesline Tightener.

Omar C. Claypool of Prineville has invented and patented a very handy contrivance with which to tighten clotheslines, which will do away with the old fashioned and unsatisfactory clothesline prop. The Review thinks it will make Claypool a wealthy man as the tightener will be desired by all housewives and will be sold at the low price of 50 cents. The Review describes the contrivance as follows:

"The contrivance is simple—so simple that the wonder is it was not thought of before. It is a reel, five inches in diameter and made of iron. A ratchet is on the obverse side, with a springsteel crank to wind up the line. The crank carries a lip which fits into the teeth of the ratchet, and the line may thereby be held at the desired height. Release is effected by simply drawing the crank away from the ratchet teeth and allowing the line to slacken at the operator's will."

"The reel is intended to be fastened by three screws to wall or post four feet above the ground, so as to be convenient, while the line passes through a small pulley overhead."

Claypool plans to have the reel manufactured in Chicago. He will order about one hundred dozen and will put them in the hands of traveling men to handle as a side line.

MONEY IN THE HOG BUSINESS.

Ranchers Around Madras Will Feed Surplus Wheat to Porks.

Many ranchers of this section are considering the advisability of going into the hog business, as a means of getting rid of the surplus grain produced in this section. The plan is doubtless a good one, and will not only create a market for the grain, but will prove a most profitable venture. Judging by the experience of those who have tried it, a good deal more than present net prices can be secured out of our wheat by feeding it to hogs.

One great obstacle to hog raising on an extensive plan in this section has been the question of water, but that is being solved by the drilling of deep wells.

Crook county, and in fact Central Oregon is at present producing a very small percentage of the pork products consumed by it, and offers a ready market for all the ham, bacon and lard that can be produced in this section. There is money in it for the hog raiser and the farmer, and it will keep at home thousands of dollars sent out every year in payment of imported pork products.—Pioneer.

Gives Lumber For New Church.

The forestry department, through Supervisor Guy M. Ingram, has granted Rev. C. Short of this place, a permit to go upon the reserve and cut 40,000 feet of logs for lumber for the new proposed Baptist church building at this place. Since the permit was granted the young men around here are signing up a paper saying they would cut the trees and saw them into logs. Another paper is in circulation asking people to subscribe what cash they feel able to. From the present outlook, Silver Lake will erect this coming summer one of the finest church buildings in the county. With a new church and school building this summer, Silver Lake will be going some.—Leader.

Sand in Well Hinders Drilling.

Joe Marnach is hurrying the work on his deep well to completion, in order that the well may be ready for use by the time spring plowing begins. The drilling is being done by James Trotter, and they are now working two shifts, the drill running night and day. Good progress is being made, although at times the work proceeds slowly on account of very hard rock, or on account of sand such as was encountered last week, when after a night's drilling they had not advanced more than an inch or so. In this instance it was due to a stratum of sand they struck, which seemed to run in and fill the hole as rapidly as they could take it out.—Madras Pioneer.

How Would Better Horses Do?

The mail was unusually late yesterday, owing to the stage team running away at Willow creek just as they were being hooked up. The old team was then pressed into service and these horses didn't run away; on the contrary, they stood at the station for about an hour, in spite of the driver's urging. Another team was secured and about 11 the stage pulled out for Prineville, arriving here at about 4.—Review.

NEW TELEPHONE LINE

Northwest from Laidlaw on Sisters Road.

LATER EXTENSIONS PLANNED

Farmers Will Extend the Line through Gist to Squaw Creek Neighborhood—Other News Notes.

TUMALO, Jan. 19.—A new telephone line is being built by farmers from Laidlaw northwest on the Sisters road into the Gibson and Pulliam neighborhood which will have about 74 phones. Later this line will be extended through the Gist neighborhood into Squaw Creek country. This will be three farmers lines connecting at Laidlaw and later a line will be built to Bend.

There is some talk of a petition for a rural free delivery mail route for the people between Bend and Sisters country.

Barney Lewis, Jack Wenandy, J. Reeder and Max Richardson of Bend were camping near the Tumalo on an outing for several days last week.

John B. and Chas. L. Wimer, Chas. Spangh and I. E. Wimer were business callers at Bend Friday.

A soaking rain has been falling here all day. The ground has not been frozen this winter and the abundance of rain that has fallen has wet it to a good depth, deeper than for many years and with all prospect for more moisture a good crop for next year is assured.

H. C. Ellis and his father of Bend were business callers in Tumalo yesterday.

John McCormack and Mr. Haley, from near Laidlaw, were in Tumalo today after seed rye.

We are sorry to hear that T. A. Jensen is still confined to his bed at Bend. We hope to soon hear of his recovery.

G. W. Wimer & Sons lost a valuable horse last week from being choked on wheat hay. They were unable to relieve the animal on account of the obstacle being so far down near the stomach, which would have required an operation by a veterinary surgeon to extract it.

R. A. Puett, who owns a homestead on the Tumalo creek, was in Tumalo Friday after a cow which had strayed away.

Some very foxy young gentleman, not so very far away, are making themselves very accommodating in an unappreciable way of rounding up other people's horses and colts and riding them for the fun of seeing them back. This may be all right, boys, in your own estimation, but beware! There may be time to repeat of such unasked privileges as there are many complaints about such actions. The owners of these horses wish to train them themselves and don't approve of these young would-be bronco busters' actions, who haven't any horses on the range. A WORD TO THE WISE IS SUFFICIENT. If not other methods are.

LAIDLAW HAS READING ROOM

Young People Organize into Social Club—40 Members.

The young people of Laidlaw have organized a Social Club for the purpose of establishing a reading room. They now have 40 members and have secured rooms in the bank building, where each evening from 7 to 10 the members and invited friends have access to much good reading, including fifteen of the best magazines.

The east side end of the new telephone line is up and in working order. The connection with the west side will be made as soon as Mr. Barnes has his wire up.

Saturday evening about 20 friends of Miss Isabell Brown unexpectedly called to remind her of her fifteenth birthday. The evening was spent most pleasantly at social games. After a bounteous luncheon, the many friends gathered wished their hostess many returns of the day and returned to their homes feeling they had thoroughly enjoyed the evening.

Mr. Mudd is rapidly clearing his eighty just west of town and expects soon to have it set out to apples.

Mr. Tullar made a business trip to Prineville Saturday.
Rev. Lilly, wife, daughter and son spent the early part of the week with his people here, after preaching an excellent sermon emphasizing the harvest that will result from good sowing rather than the product of bad seed. Rev. Lilly's new team is very much enjoyed, and makes it possible for the pastor's family to mingle more with their parishioners.

The new blacksmith shop recently added to the enterprises of the town is very busy.

Prayer meeting was held Monday night this week because of the pastor's presence.

Attorney Myers is in Portland on business.

Mr. Dayton has returned from a business trip to Madras.

Redmond Items.

REDMOND, Jan. 20.—Chris Ehret is over in Prineville taking care of the new girl—weight six pounds. Everybody doing nicely.

V. J. O'Connor and wife passed through here Saturday night bound for Portland, called there by the death of Mrs. O'Connor's brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Lilly were over yesterday to church with the new team and rig.

It was all a mistake. Mr. Buckley did not go to Washington after all.

Mr. Henry Ehret left for home Saturday morning after a business visit of a week or two.

The Ladies' Aid Society wishes to announce the meeting of Jan. 30 with the Mesdames Lamb. Business of importance is on hand and a full attendance is desired.

J. H. Wenandy came down from Bend with the stage Saturday evening. Joe McClay took the stage on in and Mr. W. returned Sunday evening.

W. E. Young was in a day or two from the tree pulling job. They have two or three thousand trees to pull.

Wm. Oakes, a brickmaker of Freeman, Wash., was in the past week looking for brick dirt. He did not find any here, but liked the country very well from an agricultural standpoint. He went on to Bend on Saturday.

B. A. Kendall has been pulling trees for Mr. Chappell and Mr. Peverley.

Miss Muma has been visiting the past week with Mrs. Eby and reports a very pleasant outdoor picnic at Smith Rock on Saturday. How is that for an Oregon January?

E. C. PARK.

Inklings at Gist.

Nothing but fine weather. It begins to look like we will have no ice cream next summer. No ice.

Sisters is talking of a rural delivery. Why not?

Wm. Hart of Gist made final proof on his homestead on the 15th inst. His witnesses were M. Phillips and Wm. Burkhard.

Postmaster Gist went to Bend yesterday on business.

There can be seen these days Old Glory soaring in the air above the new school house at Gist.

Prof. Arnesmeir, teacher of the Gist school, was a visitor at Mr. Scoggin's Friday eve.

Johnnie More went to The Dalles last week after a fine span of horses which he purchased some time ago.

Eber D. Mossie was a caller at Gist Sunday.

Quite a number of farmers in the Cloverdale district are plowing.

Our Sunday school at Gist is progressing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Gist spent Saturday eve and Sunday with friends on the lower desert. In their absence the boys invited a number of their young friends to spend the evening in games of various kinds. Clyde was appointed chief cook and bottle washer, while Vern was master of ceremonies. Clyde was very careful in selecting able assistants, Fred McReynolds took the prize on playing, "On this carpet you must kneel."
