

Scrofula

Few are entirely free from it. It may develop so slowly as to cause little if any disturbance during the whole period of childhood. It may then produce dyspepsia, catarrh, and marked tendency to consumption, before causing eruptions, sores or swellings. To get entirely rid of it take the great blood-purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known for this medical complaint. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving it a permanent strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
Address F. J. CHERRY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by all druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Moderated Venison.

Pythias had returned just in time to save the life of Damon.
"Owl!" exclaimed Dionysius. "Boys, when that story is worked into a play it will make a great hit."
"Must noble tyrant," said Pythias, venturing to correct him, "it's merely a sacrifice bit."
Many of the scores, however, having only a superficial knowledge of the game, marked it down as a double play.—Chicago Tribune.

S.S.S. CURES RHEUMATISM

Every case of Rheumatism has its origin and its development in the blood. It is not a disease which is contracted like a cold, but it is in the blood and system before a pain is felt, and the changes in the weather or any physical irregularities, such as a spell of indigestion, bowel disturbance, etc., are merely the exciting causes producing the pains and aches, which are the natural symptoms of the disease. Rheumatism is caused by an excess of uric acid and other corrosive, irritating poisons in the blood, which are carried through the circulation to every part of the system. Every muscle, nerve, membrane, tissue and joint becomes saturated with these acids, irritating impurities, or coated with fine, insoluble caustic matter, and the sharp, piercing pains or the dull, constant aches are felt with every physical movement. When the blood is filled with uric acid poison, permanent relief cannot be expected from liniments, plasters, or other external treatment. Such measures give temporary relief, but in order to conquer Rheumatism and bring about a complete cure, the uric acid and other inflammatory matter must be expelled, and this cannot be done with external treatment. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism because it is a perfect and entirely vegetable blood purifier. It goes down into the circulation, neutralizes the acids, and dissolves the irritating deposits which are pressing on the sensitive nerves and tissues and producing pain, enriches the weak, sour blood, and removes every atom of impurity from the circulation. So instead of being a weak, sour stream, distributing uric acid to the different parts of the system, the blood is strong and healthy and therefore able to supply every muscle, nerve, bone and tissue with nourishment and strength. Then the inflammation and swelling subside, the pains and aches cease, and not only is Rheumatism permanently cured, but under the fine tonic effects of S. S. S. the entire general health is benefited and built up. In all forms of Rheumatism, whether acute or chronic, S. S. S. will be found a safe and reliable treatment. Special book on Rheumatism and any medical advice you desire will be furnished free.

The Secret of Content.

If men to-day actually possessed the acres on which they toil, they would be in no hurry to leave them; they would be effectively chained to the soil by the sense of independence and proprietorship, as is the case among the rural population of France, who do not rent but own the land.—W. J. Dawson.

Unambitious.

"Have you ever made any effort to get into politics?"
"No," answered Farmer Cornutusel. "I don't see what fun I'd get out of it. I don't like to make speeches and I don't like to listen to 'em as I kin git enough plain, ordinary hard work right here on the farm."—Washington Star.

RAISING OF WHEAT.

Advantages of Correct Methods of Growing and Marketing.

By S. C. Armstrong, Washington State College, Pullman.

We must first find out what the existing demand is going to be, and then, if possible, meet that demand; for if we do not meet the requirements of the demand, some one else will, and we will be forced to a lower level than we should be. Consequently, in the production of wheat, we have to study the problems we meet from a competitive standpoint; we must compete with somebody else who is growing wheat, not our neighbor, necessarily, but our neighbor's neighbor, the country. A man will go where he can get the best wheat, if he wants to buy, and if we have not the best, we will lose the trade.

We of the wheat producing districts of Washington are fortunate in having the best country for the production of wheat on earth, and we should use the utmost diligence to see that we employ only the best methods. If we do this, we can place Washington at the head of the wheat producing regions of the globe, and the brand of the "Evergreen State" on a barrel or sack of flour will be known as a mark of perfection the world over.

We, the public, should commence to raise the grade standard. The state grain commissioner is at present forcing the purchaser to accept No. 2 as No. 1; we cannot expect to get as much for No. 1 wheat that tests 58 pounds as our neighbors can for wheat that tests better. Because this state of affairs exists, we are sending out, each year, wheat less sought for than wheat grown in many other countries.

We should insist that every grain grower in the state use such care in the production of his wheat that the resulting higher standard will increase the demand for our wheat. If we improve the quality of our product, the state grain commissioner will be forced to raise the standard; and we should in this way see that our standard is above the standard of every other wheat producing state. By doing this, we would cause our wheat to be quoted at fancy prices. We should make our product so good that we would be willing to have our name and address printed on it, so that as it goes out into the markets of the world, people the world over will know that we are proud of our product.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Valuable Information to Pacific Northwest Inquirers

By J. L. Ashlock, Washington Experiment Station, Pullman.

Ryan.—"Has mankind ever been able to devise a fence that will stop an Angora goat? Do coyotes annoy them?"
L. L. V.

"There are no domesticated animals that are as hard to keep penned up as Angora goats. To secure them, a fence should be of a kind that will not permit the animals to climb, and from four to five feet high. It should be so constructed that a goat cannot jump over it, and preferably should be made of wire instead of boards. A wire fence made of woven wire and about fifty-four inches high should hold them. Remember, that if the animals can get any sort of vantage from which to jump, they will go over the fence. The goats are pretty good on the defensive, hence coyotes do not as a rule make much headway in attacking them."

Glenwood, Idaho.—"Is 'quack grass' a dangerous pest? How may I kill morning-glories?"
C. B.

"'Cough grass' is another name for this pest, and it is certainly dangerous when it once has escaped into a garden. In the Eastern States it is reported quite often but I have not been informed that it is in the Northwest in any great abundance. The morning-glory is even more dangerous than quack grass. Fall plowing and covering with straw or manure are fairly good means of destroying it, but it is nearly impossible to kill it by fall plowing."

Wolf Creek, Mont.—"How much alfalfa seed should be sown per acre? Which is better, fall or spring seeding?"
W. C.

"If moisture conditions are all right, fall seeding will do in some regions. Spring seeding should be done so as to avoid damage by frost when the seed is germinating. Twelve to fifteen pounds per acre is about right for broadcast seeding, but if a drill or seeder is used, ten or twelve will do."

Grass Valley, Or.—"Please tell me concerning the comparative value of wheat, hay, and carrots as a feed for horses."
I. M. U.

"Such a comparison is impossible, since the feeds you mention do not fill the same need. The food value of carrots is very low, but the effect they have in toning up the system, and keeping it in good running order is very important. A horse could eat a peck of carrots per day to a very good advantage, but you should not attempt to substitute them for hay. The same is true in making a comparison of wheat and raw carrots for hog feed, although up to the amount that a hog will eat, the carrots will replace a certain portion of the wheat. I can safely say that where carrots will yield twenty tons per acre, you will find it highly profitable to feed them to hogs to the full capacity of their appetites, providing you feed some grain in connection with the carrots; but you will be unable to keep stock hogs on carrots alone, as they contain too small a percentage of bone-and-muscle-making material."

WOMEN KEEP RUSSIA RED.

Katherine Brischkovsky Mars Her Beauty to Help Terrorists' Cause.

"The women of Russia are responsible for the reign of terror which is now in progress. Prisons are overflowing and through the efforts of Russian women, many of them of the nobility, the borders of the East have learned the value of the bomb and rifle."

This is a statement of M. Jankoff Prelooker, a Russian who has been driven from his country. His accounts of the tortures and the heroism of the Russian women are stirring Europe. As the greatest of the revolutionary leaders he points to Mme. Katherine Brischkovsky. She is fondly called the "grandmother of the revolution."

As a daughter of the nobility she taught peasants to read. Then she taught them what a vote would mean and gained the hatred of the government. She was branded as a dangerous agitator and warned to desert. Her husband refused to bear the sufferings for the cause. She was beautiful then, and only 23. But she sacrificed all. She sold her jewels, left her husband and donned the peasant garb.

In order to elude the police she used acid to mar her beauty. She scurred her face and hands with it and became so ugly that her former acquaintances could not recognize her. She went back to the villages and preached revolution secretly for three years. Then the police caught her. She was subjected to all the cruelties of despotism, including the tortures of the Black Hole, and finally sentenced to Siberia.

For twenty-three years she was an exiled prisoner. The few companions of her miseries committed suicide and she was repeatedly subjected to barbarous floggings and solitary confinement. But her determination to fight for the cause held out through all, and now she is still carrying on the work.

Prelooker gives stories of other women almost as great in their sensational courage and daring. Among them is Vera Figner, who was released after twenty years from Schlusselberg prison. No other prisoner had ever come from this place alive.

Another heroine was Zinalda Kono plinikovia, the school teacher who assassinated Gen. Min and at her execution tied the noose about her own neck. Then there is Marie Spiridonovia, who shot Vice Gov. Lujonovskuy four times and was so brutally treated by the soldiers that the civilized world gasped in horror and the czar was compelled to commute her death sentence to life imprisonment.

There are scores more, who are in prison and out of it, all heroines and willing to die for a free Russia—for liberty and justice.

An American Admirer.

In a small way, an American figure in the journal kept by Rosalie Lamorriere, during the revolutionary days of 1793 in France, and now published under the title, "The Last Days of Marie Antoinette."

Rosalie Lamorriere, a girl of Picardy, was servant to the queen in the Conciergerie. "One day," Rosalie has recorded, "Monsieur de Saint Leger, the American, who was coming from the registrar's office, noticed that I was carrying a glass half-filled with water. 'Did the queen drink the water that has gone from the glass?' he asked. 'I answered that she did. 'With a quick gesture he uncovered his head and drank the water that remained, with every indication of respect and pleasure.'"

Exhaustion.

"I'm rather interested in young Mr. De Riter," said the customer, "and I want to get a copy of his novel. Have you got it?"
"We did have a small supply a few weeks ago," said the book salesman, "but I'm afraid it's exhausted."
"Really, I heard it was bad, but I didn't think it was that bad."—The Catholic Standard and Times.

One on Him.

Wandering over an old cemetery recently a young man came across a large stone inscribed:
"Turn me over."
After much difficulty he succeeded in turning it over, and found on the under side of the stone the words:
"Now turn me back again so that I can catch some other idiot."
It is better to trust to your faults than to be false to your trusts.

The Page Between.

A New Orleans woman, well known for her work for charity, recently accepted an invitation to speak at an anti-tuberculosis meeting. On the platform she found herself seated between a bishop and a rabbi, and the tone of the meeting seemed to be rendered extremely solemn by the combination.

In order to lighten the solemnity, she said, turning to the rabbi: "Do you know, I feel as if I were a leaf between the Old and the New Testaments."

The rabbi turned a sad-eyed gaze upon her.
"Yes, madam," he said, "and, if you will recall, that page is usually a blank one."

Sam Weller.

It was Sam Weller who made Dickens famous. "Pickwick Papers" were a complete failure financially until this unique character was introduced. The press was all but unanimous in praising Samival as an entirely original character whom none but a great genius could have created. Dickens received over $10,000 for "Pickwick Papers," and at the age of twenty-six he was incomparably the most popular author of his day.—London Standard.

Extremes.

"Pardon me," said the dowager with the mole on her chin, "but there is hardly room for two of us here if you are going to keep that thing on your head."
"O, I guess there's room enough, madam," answered the sharp featured young woman with the umbrageous hat, who occupied the adjoining seat. "I'm not making any kick about the space your feet take up."—Chicago Tribune.
