S. S. S. CURES MALARIA

Malaria is due to impurities and poisons in the blood. Instead of being rich, strong and healthy, the circulation has become infected with germs of disease which destroy the rich, red corpuscles that furnish nourishment and strength to the body, and reduced this vital fluid to such a weak, watery condition that it is no longer able to keep the system in health, or ward off the countless diseases and disorders that assail it. The loss of these red corpuscles takes the color and glow of health from the cheek, and we see pale, sallow faces and washed out, chalky complexions among the first symptoms of Malaria. But Malaria is a general systemic disease, and as the blood becomes more heavily loaded with its germs we have more serious and complicated symptoms; the impure blood having its effect on all parts of the body. The appetite fails, digestion is weakened, chills and slight fever are frequent, and the sufferer loses energy and ambition because of a constant tired-out and "no account" feeling. The lack of necessary nourishment and healthful qualities in the blood causes boils and abscesses, skin affections, and in some cases sores and ulcers to break out, and sometimes the patient is prostrated with a spell of malarial fever which may leave his health permanently impaired. To cure Malaria both a blood purifier and tonic are necessary, in order to remove the cause and at the same time build up the system from its weakened and run-down condition. S. S. S. is the medicine best fitted for this work. It is the most perfect of all blood purifiers, and the purely vegetable ingredients of which it is composed make it the greatest and safest of all tonics. S. S. S. goes down into the circulation and removes every trace of impurity or poison, and at the same time gives to the blood the health-sustaining qualities it needs. It cures Malaria thoroughly and permanently because it removes the germs and poisons which produce the disease, and while doing this tones up and strengthens every part of the system. When S. S. S. has cleansed the blood the symptoms pass away, the healthy color returns to the complexion, the old tired, depressed feeling is gone, and the entire health is renewed. The Seasoned Old Verger.
The curate was looking over his church when he met the verger. That morning they had sung the Benedicite. The verger said: "This morning I followed the Benedicite closer than usual, and they mentioned all things but the verger."
"Surely," said the curate, smilingly, "they mention 'All green things upon the earth.'"

On His Dignity.
The chief of the gang of burglars was dividing the swag.
"You played sick while the rest of us were doing the work on that last job bill," he said. "All you did was to locate the plant. Here's what you get for that."
Bill counted the small wad and handed it back.
"Keep it, rap," he said. "I'll be satisfied with honorable mention."

Disastrous Reaction.
"I was awfully worried about Johnny when he had that last sick spell," said Mrs. Lapaling, "and when the doctor told me he was going to get well I went fairly delirious with joy."

During 1900 I was running a farm on the Mississippi river and became so impregnated with Malaria that for a year I was almost a physical wreck. I tried a number of medicines recommended as blood purifiers, chills cures, and Malaria eradicators, but nothing did me any good until I began to use S. S. S. The result was that after taking it for awhile I was as well and strong as I ever was. I have never had a chill since nor the slightest symptom of Malaria. I hope others will be benefited by my experience, and with that end in view I give this testimonial, knowing that S. S. S. is the best remedy for Malaria.

American Agriculture.

Although agriculture in America is young compared with some of the European and Asiatic countries, it has been developed to such an extent that the older countries look to us for ideas and methods to help them solve the farm problems they have to meet. Our scientists and investigators are among the foremost in the world and as an agricultural nation we need stand aside for none. To be sure, agriculture owes many of its greatest scientific discoveries to English, German and French experimenters, but in aggressiveness and practical development of ideas America is one of the leaders.

Other nations are sending their scientists to America to study how we do things here. Our country presents most of the agricultural problems to be met with in the countries of the old world and we are finding out how to solve them, and the old world wants to know how we do it. A Japanese expert is now in the United States to investigate our methods of improving worn-out soils. He says: "We have in Formosa over 500,000 acres under cultivation and we want to find out how the United States goes about it to improve the condition of its land, so we can improve our country." This is but one instance of where we are sending our ideas abroad.

We have every reason to be proud of our agricultural advancement, much of which is due to our State experiment stations and federal Department of Agriculture.—Goodall's Farmer.

Machine for Washing Cans.
The old method of cleaning milk cans, lard cans and similar receptacles will in the near future be superseded by a very ingenious apparatus invented by a Boston man. As shown in the illustration this can-washing machine washes the cans and automatically de-posts them on the floor, where the handles can be conveniently grasped, avoiding the labor of lifting them. The cans travel while being cleaned on a movable chain, each can being placed over an upright nozzle which holds it in position. The various nozzles are connected to a supply pipe through which is forced a cleaning fluid or steam. The latter is forced out through the nozzle, thoroughly cleaning the interior of the can. The nozzles also act as guides to deposit the cans on the floor after they have traveled the length of the chain, the operation being performed automatically and smoothly without injury or accident.

Burn Dead Animals.
In the attempt to stamp out hog cholera and other contagious diseases among live stock the matter of burning all dead animals is one of considerable importance. Outbreaks of disease have frequently been traced to the careless disposal of the carcasses of an infected animal. Burning is much more effective than burying, as the germs of some diseases, as anthrax, for example, retain their virility for a considerable length of time. Then in burying carcasses, unless they are placed very deep in the ground, there is always more or less danger of their being rooted or dug out. Dogs will dig open such graves and hogs will root them out.

Those who have attempted to bury a hog or horse will readily appreciate the statement that it is easier to burn than bury them. A little kerosene and a brush heap will soon dispose of a carcass, with the certainty that all germs are destroyed. Some recommend the construction of a specially arranged furnace for this work, but on the ordinary farm this would doubtless be an added expense. It will not be a difficult matter on any farm to gather enough trash, such as brush, old rails etc., to burn a dead animal and the expense is inconsiderable. Anyway, it is the only safe way to insure against infection.

Naming His Babies.
A farmer near Wigtown has eight daughters, who are named to represent his feelings at the time of their birth. The eldest is called "Joy," and the second bears the name of "Summer," as she was born in July. The third arrived at a time of financial difficulties, and would have been called "Sorrow," but her mother refused to have the name. So Sarah was substituted. Things were brighter when number four came, and "Hope" was her portion, while five and six—twins—were respectively "Spring" and "April," this last being their birth month. The seventh was styled "Harvest," and the youngest "Comfort."

Science and Sound Fact.
"The workings of the human mind when asleep are full of wonder," remarked a scientist who was paying a visit to an acquaintance. "Have you ever started up from a sound dreamless sleep, with every sense on the alert and with your whole being thrilling with a vivid yet indefinable feeling that something was wrong and instant action required?"
"Often," replied his hostess, "and in nearly every case I have found that I was awakened by the fumbling of my husband's key at the front door!"

Hard to Do Without Pockets.
"The most annoying thing in navy life for a recruit is the absence of side pockets in the uniform trousers," J. R. Rose, a yeoman at the navy recruiting station, said this morning.
"The average man doesn't realize how strong is the custom of thrusting his hands in his trousers pockets until he dons a pair without pockets. I've worn the navy uniform four years now, and I frequently find myself trying to put my hands in my pockets."—Kansas City Times.

A True Epitaph.
Marie Lloyd, the famous English music hall star, had been describing, at a dinner in New York, an actor whose career drink had ruined.
"Yes," said Miss Lloyd, "he was a frightful drinker. As hard a drinker, in fact, as an ancient Yorkshire tavern-keeper on whose tomb is inscribed:
"He has lost his best customer."

The Idea!
"The funniest thing happened last night," confessed the dainty college girl, all red with dainty blushes.
"What was it, dear?" asked her chum, eagerly.
"Why—why, I was just going to pronounce the word 'kiss.'"
"And did you?"
"No—er—Harry took the word right out of my mouth."

A Hair Dressing

Nearly every one likes a fine hair dressing. Something to make the hair more manageable; to keep it from being too rough, or from splitting at the ends. Something, too, that will feed the hair at the same time, a regular hair-food. Well-fed hair will be strong, and will remain where it belongs—on the head, not on the comb!

"My health was very poor at the time I began taking Peruna. My throat was very sore and I had a bad cough.
"Peruna has cured me. The chronic catarrh is gone and my health is very much improved.
"I recommend Peruna to all my friends who are troubled as I was."

A Cluck.
"And how can you be sure of going to heaven?" asked the Sunday school teacher.
