A CATHOLIC SCHOOL

Father Hickey Will Open One at Wasco.

DURING THE SUMMER ONLY

Will Gather Boys of His District and Instruct Them in the Precepts of the Church.

The Rev. Fr. M. J. Hickey is working out a plan for the better religious training of the Catholic boys of Crook county. The plan contemplates taking the boys to Father Hickey's home at Wasco, where they will be given instruction during the summer months in the precepts of their church. This instruction will be free of charge, and while a large portion of the time will be given to religious training, the boys will be given time and opportunity to indulge in base ball and other boyish sports. Father Hickey has written to The Bulletin explaining his plan, and we append the letter below:

To the Catholics of Bend-Redmond Mission:—During my recent Easter visitation of my large missionary district, I announced to the various congregations that I visited, that it was my intention to gather in to Wasco on the 1st of August, or immediately after the harvesting season, all the boys of my whole district of sufficient age to make their first communion and to be confirmed. I now desire to extend through The Bend Bulletin the same invitation to the parents and youth of Bend, Redmond and vicinity. I also stated that I would personally bear all the expense of these boys, once they came under my charge; that is, I would board, lodge, train, educate and supply them with religious literature without a dollar's expense to themselves or their parents. I remarked to the boys with whom I personally spoke on the subject, that whilst they would spend a large amount of time in religious training and in preparation for the reception of the Sacraments, as above, I would give them a good, pleasant time and an opportunity to engage in healthy, boyish sports. I desire it, however, clearly understood by the parents and by the boys themselves, that I require the boys to know their prayers and Catechism fairly well beforehand, so that they might the better profit by the instructions I shall give them during the month or six weeks they may be under my charge. The prayers they are to memorize are: The Our Father; Hail Mary, Holy Mary; Apostle's Creed; Confiteor; Acts of Contrition, Faith, Hope and Charity; Hail, Holy Queen; The Ten Commandments and the Six Precepts of the Church.

The age of making first communion and confirmation is from 10 years upwards; exceptionally well instructed, good, bright boys a year younger, might be permitted to receive these Sacraments. Owing to the fact that on the 26th of May last I met with a very severe accident at Redmond, from the effects of which I am now under the doctor's care at St. Vincent's hospital, some may think that I have abandoned the idea of training these boys as above outlined, but I have not. I am more intent now than ever on this movement, because I consider it about the only practical means of accomplishing any good on these wild missions for the dear boys themselves, and of keeping them and their parents in the faith.

No boy or man will be shut out from the opportunity; quite a number are anxious to come. I will furnish fine, ample, free accommodations for all, and we will feed them well, too.

I hope to visit the missions again by the end of July, please God, and make personal arrangements for their proposed visit to Wasco.

Transportation the Proper Theme.

J. Frank Stroud, formerly of Bend but now in the real estate business at Beaverton, Oregon, in a letter to The Bulletin says:

"Am glad to note that the citizens of Crook county are taking an active interest in the work of building a railroad into that section of the state, and hope that ere long, the whistle of the iron horse may echo through the valleys of the upper Deschutes, and Central Oregon's dream of better transportation facilities be fully realized. Yours truly,
J. FRANK STROUD."

Another reader of The Bulletin, located at Seattle, is also interested in the railroad news of this section, and writes to The Bulletin as follows:

"I read your Bulletin with not a little interest, especially in regard to the items concerning the development of railroad facilities in Crook county. Transportation is the proper theme and I hope that it will come at an early date. Yours truly,
CHAS. M. BOST."

Which only shows that the eyes of many people are on this section and they are waiting anxiously for the coming of the iron horse.

The Fourth at Kingdon.

The spirit of the Fourth brought together a very large company on the river bank at what used to be the old "Prinele place." A swing which had been erected for the use of the ladies was patronized by the gentlemen and Geo. Gates and John Bates, while doing a high swinging stunt, met with a very slight accident. They had eaten so much dinner that they broke the seat, but it was soon fixed and the swinging went gaily on.

The pineapple sherbet made and brought in by Mrs. Jones and son was absolutely unparalleled. The hot rolls and mocha cake brought by Mrs. Herrin and daughter, Mrs. Perry, were well—they were passed and we do say unsurpassed. Baked beans and egg salad by Mrs. Minor were—well, we never tasted better and one of the oldest settlers, Uncle John Sismore, said they were de-lightful.

A pleasant feature of the day was a recitation from Mark Twain by Rev. Anthony Mitchell, for which he was tendered a vote of thanks. A bouquet of beautiful wild flowers gathered by F. A. Shonquest added not a little to the appearance of the well spread table, and we might mention that our red, white and blue bunting decorated over the table among the trees, waved gaily in the breeze and told its own story. Mr. Richard King, a very young man of 73 summers, expressed his youth in constant attendance on the ladies, who appreciated his energy and forethought in constructing the tables and seats.

Mr. Smith and Miss Flossie Reed, chaperoned by Miss Cora Bates, made several trips across the river and—well, some people did say we had plenty of food for a wedding supper, but oh! dear me, we are blabbing. The young people were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bates on an outing to the fish trap and we wish them lots of pleasure.

And oh! dear, now your mouths will water when we tell you about the splendid roasted sucking pig cooked by Mrs. Shonquest and Mrs. Huntington. In fact, I fear a great many of us made pigs of ourselves over all the good things.

Mr. Jones' homestead near by was headquarters to all the guests and they were welcomed as only his mother, Mrs. Jones, can welcome any one. The horses had their own little Fourth in and about his splendid roomy barn. The horses in the meadows near by knew it was the Fourth by the constant report of the fire works. In the picture of us all, taken by Mr. Minor, Cora Bates makes a pretty picture with her pet lamb and cute kitty.

This was the first Fourth of July celebrated at Kingdon and we hope their will be many more of the same in years to come and only hope every one will enjoy themselves as well as the seventeen who celebrated there on July Fourth, 1908.

In the future yachts and automobiles will be in evidence.

Rev. I. W. Williams Testifies
Rev. I. W. Williams, Huntington, W. Va., testifies as follows: "This is to certify that I used Foley's Kidney Remedy for nervous exhaustion and kidney trouble, and am free to say that Foley's Kidney Remedy will do all that you claim for it."—C. W. Merrill, Druggist.

ANOTHER DEEP WELL

Rosland Men Will Drill One at That Place.

IN QUEST OF ARTESIAN WATER

Work Will Be Commenced as Soon as a Machine Can Be Secured—Will Be Given a Thorough Test.

A number of Rosland men have banded together and will drill a test well for the purpose of determining whether or not flowing water can be struck at that place. The well will be sunk on the Rosland town-site and the men connected with the enterprise are J. S. Bogue & Co., C. W. Richie, Frank Bogue and John Atkinson.

J. S. Bogue, who is the leading spirit behind the move, was in Bend Thursday evening on the way to Redmond to confer with Moore Bros., who have a drilling machine. Mr. Bogue stated to The Bulletin that work on the well would be commenced as soon as a machine could be secured, and if they should have any difficulty in engaging a machine, the Rosland men would buy one themselves. If the test well proves a success a number of ranchers in that vicinity will have wells drilled and a machine would be kept busy for several months.

Mr. Bogue said they were very confident of striking artesian water, although nothing definite could of course be told until the test was actually made. They expect to drill to a sufficient depth to give the matter a thorough test. A two inch casing will be used in the first well.

Redmond Items.

REDMOND, July 5.—Mrs. Kendall made a party for Irene Tuesday in honor of her sixth birthday. Quite a number were present and everybody seemed to be enjoying themselves.

Earl Ehret is having the fence east of his ditch forty set in to accommodate the road.

Mr. Chapman will teach our school the coming year.

Miss Erickson of Bellingham, Washington, is in looking over her eighty west of town with a view to making improvements on it.

Messrs Cox and McCaffery have formed a partnership for the purpose of selling real estate. Frank says they will call it "The Other Real Estate Office."

Mrs. Lilly came along Tuesday and took Mrs. Park riding, a treat which was greatly appreciated.

Quite a crowd of our people went to Laidlaw to celebrate. Others went to Prineville, while still others went to the river for a quiet outing, either in made-up parties or family groups. Many also entertained at home or simply went visiting.

It has been reported that Yours Truly is soon to leave this place for an extended visit. If you see it in the Redmond correspondence to the local papers it may be depended on as fact. Until otherwise reported, however, all we feel free to say is that Mrs. Park will leave Tuesday morning for Ottumwa, Iowa, and other eastern points to spend some time in recuperating from her recent illness.

It is reported that Loyd Harader and Miss Bevard were married Saturday by the Rev. Mr. Lilly. We extend our best wishes. Loyd has the A. W. Morgan farm in crop this year.

E. C. PARK.

Tumalo Items.

TUMALO, July 7.—And Funny won! The warm days are still with us and crops are growing fine.

Chas. Spough and I. E. Wimer passed through here yesterday going to Matoles for a week's outing and fishing.

Geo. W. Wimer made a business trip to Prineville the fore part of this week.

Three bands of sheep belonging to Mr. Hinton of Lakeview, Wasco county, passed through here last week going on to the summer range.

John Edwards stopped in Tumalo yesterday returning from Prineville where he spent the Fourth. He reports having a good time.

Mrs. Pulliam and children and Miss Stackley and Geo. Shumaker and Mrs. Pulliam's father, Mr. Trent, passed through here last Friday going up the Deschutes river on a fishing trip.

Most every one from these parts spent the Fourth at Laidlaw and report a very enjoyable time, glowing the kind people of Laidlaw as good entertainers. They had a trout barbecue equal to that at Bend last year, and the races were first-class. Wimer's little gray mare, Fanny, walked off with honors in both races, winning over Mr. Stiles' mare in the first race of 200 yards by an easy margin. In the 300 yard race she was entered against the Gerkin mare which gave the Wurzeiler horse such a hard rub at Bend on the Fourth of 1907; also a bay and a sorrel owned by Mr. Fryear, and a black belonging to Mr. Lowe and Mr. Stiles. Six horses were entered but the race was Fanny's—with Nick French of Bend as rider—from the start, having jumped to safety within the first 50 yards. It was a good race, but the distance was too short for Mr. Gerkin's horse, which is a good one and which makes a good half-mile run.

A Revelation

It is a revelation to people, the severe cases of lung trouble that have been cured by Foley's Honey and Tar. It not only stops the cough but heals and strengthens the lungs. L. M. Ruggles, Reesor, Iowa, writes: "The doctors said I had consumption, and I got no better until I took Foley's Honey and Tar. It stopped the hemorrhages and pain in my lungs and they are now as sound as a bullet."—C. W. Merrill, Druggist.

FOUND DEAD IN BED

Cook in Prineville Hotel Dies Suddenly.

SIGNS OF OIL IN GRIZZLY WELL

Water Drawn from Depth of 80 Feet Has Slum of Oil over Surface when Allowed to Stand.

Francis J. White, a Portland man employed as a cook at the Poindexter, was found dead in bed under circumstances pointing to suicide early Monday morning. He had retired early the night before, and some time during the night had written, in a trembling hand: "Mrs. M. E. White, 825 Lander St., Montaville, Portland," and underneath this, "Send papers to wife."

This was written upon a scrap of note paper, which he had placed upon a bundle of documents on his table.

Justice Luckey empanelled a coroner's jury and held an inquest, at which it developed that death was due to natural causes. The odd part of the case is that he seemed to know death was at hand and wrote his wife's address while awaiting his end.

Instructions came from Mrs. White yesterday morning to inter the remains here, and accordingly he was buried by the county yesterday, in a badly decomposed condition. White had been in Prineville but little more than a week. He was about 52 years of age and a veteran of the Cuban war.—Review.

Find Indications of Oil.

Ben Helfrich was in town from Lamonta Tuesday and states that much interest is being taken by the people in his section over the bright prospects of oil being struck by the Madras Oil Company in their drilling operations on the west slope of Grizzly mountain. The drill has sunk to a depth of over 80 feet, water having been struck, which is strongly impregnated with oil seepage. This is believed to be certain indication of the presence of oil. When this water is set aside in a pail a skum of oil quickly rises to the surface, and thus encouraged the drilling is rapidly proceeding.—Journal.

Easy to Secure Right-of-Way.

This week the right-of-way man for the Central Oregon Railroad Company, Mr. U. A. Wynn, is securing the right-of-way between this place and Lamonta. Frank Osborn went to Lamonta last Monday to meet Mr. Wynn, to go over the proposed line with him, and upon his return Tuesday evening he stated that the people of the Culver and Lamonta districts were exhibiting a very friendly spirit toward the enterprise and that no trouble would be experienced in securing the right-of-way. In fact the people of that locality will assist in every way they can in the movement to extend the railroad. Mr. Osborn says that Mr. Wynn is confident the road will be built at once. The railroad will be extended along the old survey of the Columbia Southern, through the Lyle and Brown gap and on to Madras, on south from here through the Culver and Lamonta districts to O'Neil, from which point one branch will go up Crooked River to Prineville, while another branch will go to Bend.

The old survey out of Shaniko came down Ward's Creek, but it is said another route is being looked over, by way of Antelope, and the road may come that way. Mr. C. M. Redfield, chief engineer for the D. I. & P. Co., went over both proposed routes last week and also spent several days between Trout Creek and Antelope, looking after right-of-way matters. He and Mr. Howard, the general manager of the Deschutes company, are devoting their time and energies to working out the financial and engineering details of the proposed extension, and both of them are confident of the success of the undertaking.—Madras Pioneer.

Price of Water Not Raised.

Madras is dry. Not "a drop o' kindness" can be had in the village, save on the prescription of a practicing physician, and some of the old stagers are declaring that this "drouth" is the worst thing they have seen since the grasshopper plague, says the Pioneer. And so it has come to pass that water is being used as a beverage in Crook county. Co-incident with the closing of the saloon, the proprietor of the public water system announces that he will not raise the price of water, and some relief is obtained from that announcement.

M. L. Loucks, proprietor of the only saloon in Madras, closed the doors of his establishment last Tuesday evening, as the prohibition law went into effect on Wednesday. The door of the building bears a placard saying "Murdered by the prohis." On one of the front windows is another placard bearing the lines:

Hush, little bar-room, don't you cry,
You'll be a drag-store, bye and bye.

Good Words for Howard.

Roscoe Howard, the general manager of the Deschutes Irrigation & Power Co., who is promoting the Central Oregon railroad, has the reputation of carrying to success anything he undertakes. He has taken hold of the railroad project with a will and determination which compels the belief that it, too, will be successfully carried through. The scheme of raising money in Crook county to build a railroad is not a new one, but heretofore there has been lacking some one with the initiative to take the plan up, organize the business interests of the county, and put it through. Mr. Howard came to Crook county, saw the opportunity and immediately went to work to put it into execution. If the plan is successfully carried out, Crook county will owe much to him. In his efforts to make it a success, he is entitled to the assistance and cooperation of every man in the county. The project has reached a point where with that help its success is practically assured.—Madras Pioneer.

Cavalrymen Will Visit Moro.

A troop of 250 cavalrymen, on a march from Walla Walla to Albany via Minto Pass, will camp one night in Moro, arriving hereon Sunday, July 19. The war department telegraphed from Washington city for hay and grain for the horses, a camp site and water. Mayor Messenger gave permission to use the park for a camp site, with all the free water necessary for one night.—Sherman County Observer.

Foley's Orino Laxative, the new laxative, stimulates, but does not irritate. It is the best laxative. Guaranteed or your money back.—C. W. Merrill, Druggist.

SHOWING METHOD OF IRRIGATION NEAR BEND.

THE above cut shows the furrow method of irrigation, the system that is almost exclusively used on the irrigated lands in the Bend country. While flooding is used extensively in some irrigated sections, the leading irrigationists of the country are agreed that the furrow system is the better, as it leaves the soil in good condition for the growing crops and does not bake or pack the surface. To one unacquainted with irrigation it would seem an endless task to prepare a field for furrow irrigation, but it is easily, quickly and inexpensively done by means of home-made contrivances. The above scene is taken on the segregation of The Deschutes Irrigation & Power Company.
