WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

for this line has already been made and plans are on foot for the construction of the road.

Sees Irrigated District.

Last year Mr. Stanley spent some time in Central Oregon with Mr. Harriman, taking him in his automobile over the irrigated sections of the district and urging at that time the construction of the Central Oregon line by Mr. Harriman. Governor Chamberlain's attitude on the Central Oregon transportation question is well known not only to Mr. Harriman but to the people of the state. There is no uncertainty, therefore, as to what course of action will be urged by him in the discussion of the railroad situation during his stay at Pelican Bay.

It is because of the known attitude of all three of Mr. Harriman's prospective guests and the added official connection of Mr. O'Brien with Mr. Harriman and the O. R. & N. that the invitation extended at this time is looked upon as bearing a deep significance. It is believed to be well within the range of probability that the result of the conference will be the commencement of construction work on the long expected and much hoped for road through the Cascades and on through the central part of the state to a junction with the main line of the O. R. & N. at or near Ontario.

The automobile bearing the three distinguished visitors reached Bend about 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening. The night was spent at Bend and they proceeded on their way Sunday, getting started about 7 o'clock in the morning.

Condon Line Begins Construction.

Work on the building of the electric line from Condon into this section was begun at Condon on August 15, and it is said the first 40 miles will be completed in time to handle the 1929 wheat crop. This is the electric line that is to be built from Condon to Fossil and then on to Madras and to Bend with a line also to Prineville. This line will also be built over the Cascadies to connect with some railroad in the valley.

Behind this project are David Eccles, the Ogden capitalist, and Portland and California capital. Eccles seems to be taking an active part in its promotion. Men who are interested in this line say it is a certainty and that the work commenced at Condon will be carried out as rapidly as the construction can be accomplished. A contract for 200 miles of road, with necessary bridges and power plants, has been let to the Portland Construction Company.
