S.S.S. A LASTING CURE

There are certain mineral medicines which will remove the external symptoms of Contagious Blood Poison, and shut the disease up in the system for awhile, but when the treatment is left off the disease will surely return. Then the loathsome symptoms of ulcerated mouth and throat, copper-colored spots, falling hair, sores and ulcers, etc., are usually worse because the disease has made rapid progress on the internal members, and weakened the constitution and general health of the sufferer. S. S. S. is the only remedy that can be used with perfect safety in the treatment of Contagious Blood Poison, and with the assurance that a lasting cure will result. This medicine, made entirely of roots and herbs of recognized curative and tonic value, antidotes and destroys the powerful virus of the disease, and by purifying the blood of every particle of the poison and enriching and strengthening the circulation, removes every sypuptom of the trouble. S. S. S. does not hide or cover up the disease in any way, but drives it entirely out from the blood, leaving not the slightest trace for future outbreaks. Hints for Preserving.

The first consideration is a preserving kettle of brass polished until lustroos and with no stain of fruit.

This is the sort of vessel used by the old-fashioned housewife and the jellies of our grandmothers have never been equalled.

Porcelain ketties should be discarded as soon as they commence to crack and tin, Iron or pewter should never be

The best jelly bag is a long one made of flannel, which is made in a point at the bottom.

A cheesecloth bag will be found use ful in straining the fruit through the colander.

Jelly glasses without fitted the or glass tops can be covered by pieces of writing paper.

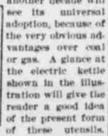

These pieces should be dipped in the unbeaten whites of an egg and pasted the simple manner by which the heat is carried to the kettie to bent the water is apparent. Within the kettle is a chamber for the reception of electric heating colls, power being obtained by connection with a convenient incandescent burner. The total absence of dirt or dust instantly recommends electric cooking to every housewife.

Pickled Walnuts.

These must be picked when tender enough to be pierced with needle. Cover with very strong brine; keep the nuts in this for three days; drain and recover with brine. At the end of three days drain again and leave in fresh, cold water for six hours. Bring to a boll a gallon of vinegar in which you put a cup of sugar, two tablespoons each of whole peppers and cloves, one tablespoon allspice and eight blades of mace. Boll for ten minutes, put the buts in a crock and nour the boiling vinegar over them. At the end of three days drain off vinegar, bring it to the boll again and pour back of the nuts. Cover and season for six weeks before

Maple Blanc Mange.

A delicious sweet, and, if properly chilled, a substitute for ice cream. In a double boiler heat one quart of sweet milk, thicken with four heaping tablespoons of corn starch, moistened with just enough cold milk to dissolve it. Stir until smooth and thick, adding gradually a cup of very thick, real maple strup. Do not add all the strup at once, and stir continually. If you have no good maple strup at hand, buy maple sugar and boll it down until it is thick, almost ropy. When the mixture is almost stiff, pour into a mold, dipped into cold water. When ice cold, turn out, and serve with whipped cream.

Molasses Candy.

Half gallon of West India molasses one pound of sugar, quarter of a pound of butter. Boll for three hours, and just before the candy is done add the juice of a lemon. Try some by cooling it on a plate to see if it is sufficiently stiff. Pull as for sugar candy for half an hour. A little vinegar on the hands will make the taffy crisp. It should be a light yellow color when

A Cooling Dessert.

For a plain ice which is the basis of all ices, boll a cupful of sugar and two cupfuls of water to a smooth sirup; add fruit juice br lemon, or both; strain, cool, add two egg whites, unboaten, and freeze. A little lemon juice is always really necessary, with other fruits to bring out the flavor.

An Expensive Fire.

She was a splendid servant, but she didn't know anything about gas to cook with, so he went to the kitchen with her to explain about the range. So that she could see how it was operated be lit each of the many burners. While still explaining a message called him from the kitchen and he left her saying, "I guess you will find that it will work all right now, Martha."

He didn't see the cook again for four or five days, then, upon entering the kitchen, he said, "Well, Martha, how's that range doing?"

To his utter consternation she repited:

"Deed, sir, that's the best stove I ever did see. That fire what you kindled for me four days ago is still a-burning, and it ain't even lowered
