NO. 32

FOUR INDICTMENTS

Found Against Estebenet for Selling Liquor.

ARSON CHARGE THROWN OUT

Grand Jury Failed to Return a True Bill on That Count—Other Items of Court Proceedings.

A. B. Estebenet will not be forced to stand trial on a charge of arson—for the supposed burning of his liquor warehouse in order to collect insurance thereon. The grand jury did not consider the evidence sufficient and failed to return a true bill against Estebenet on this count. Four indictments were returned, however, against him for the illegal sale of liquor. He pleaded guilty and was fined $200. The indictments resulted upon complaints brought by Irvin Shearer, A. A. Aldridge, Elmer Niswonger and Henry Perry, all of Bend.

Other indictments returned by the grand jury are as follows:

Against Mrs. J. B. Palmer for assault on J. N. Quiberg with a dangerous weapon—for pointing a revolver at Quiberg during some sort of a quarrel between the Palmers and Quiberg. During the progress of this trial the prosecuting attorney asked that the jury be instructed to return a verdict of not guilty, and consequently the case was dismissed.

Against Jack Kitching and Geo. McVey for malicious destruction of property: shooting out stained glass windows of Prineville M. E. church.

Against James McClay and Van Puett for disposing of liquor at Redmond on election day last June. Defendants pleaded guilty.

In the charge against Johnny and Judd McPherson for the alleged stealing of a saddle belonging to Adam Kozman, the grand jury found no true bill. Likewise no true bill was found against Joe Elliott of Powell Buttes for alleged rape. In the complaint brought against one, Carlin, for stealing a horse, the grand jury likewise found no true bill. Complaint in this case was brought by C. H. Erickson, who alleged that Carlin had stolen a horse belonging to Erickson and had disposed of it in the Valley.

Results in civil cases in which Bend people are interested are as follows:

J. H. Wenaudy vs. Central Oregon Realty Company. Settled out of court.

Central Oregon Banking & Trust Company vs. A. B. Estebenet. Foreclosure proceedings, $500 and interest. Referred to H. C. Dunsmore, as referee, to take testimony.

John Sisemore vs. John Steidl, W. S. Nichol, et al. Foreclosure proceedings. Decree rendered in favor of plaintiff in the amount of $4,000 with interest.

Bend people in attendance at court were: John Steidl, E. A. Sather, M. J. Morrison, Chas. D. Brown, Elmer Niswonger, Henry Perry, Millard and Carlyle Triplett, Paul Johnson, John Sisemore, C. S. Benson, Bob Fleming, A. A. Aldridge, Irvin Shearer.

FELL INTO FLUME.

Frank Brown Has Exciting Experience at D. I. & P. Co. Headgate.

Frank Brown, who is flume tender at the D. I. & P. Co. headgate, had a very narrow escape from death last Saturday. He was attempting to remove some splash boards from the wasteway with a long pike pole when the pole slipped and plunged into the water. The current there is so swift that the jerk it gave the pole threw Brown off his balance, and he started to fall into the wasteway. In order to save himself he sprang across onto a rock that sloped sharply toward the water, so sharply that he had to again spring from there. This however, had kept him from falling into the wasteway, but when he made his second jump he landed into the water just above the headgate. The current there is likewise terribly strong, and Frank says he was as helpless as a log. It shot him down to the headgates, pulled him under them—the gates being open about 2½ feet—and slammed him up against the wire netting placed there to keep fish from going down the flume. From there he crawled out onto the ground none the worse for his experience except that his ribs were somewhat bruised from coming in contact with some part of the flume or gates. If Mr. Brown had fallen into the wasteway, he would have been shot into the river and death would have been certain, as everyone knows who has ever seen how terribly rough the river is at that place and how the water is pounded into foam and spray as it dashes over the rocks.

ANOTHER R. R. CREW

Harriman Sends More Surveyors to Madras.

C. O. COMPANY HAS FINE LINE

Best Possible Location from Madras to Bend—Local Crew Laid Off Last Saturday at Redmond.

Harriman is still hurrying surveyors into this part of Central Oregon. Another crew of 17 men arrived in Madras last Friday and immediately went to work running a line from Madras this way. They are running a preliminary line and evidently have rush orders as they are covering a long stretch of territory each day. The arrival of this crew on work south of Madras fits in nicely with the report in last week's Bulletin that crews, now stationed in the Deschutes canyon, would be moved from there, as their work is finished, onto work in the vicinity of Redmond and Bend. Undoubtedly these crews coming along later will do location work on the preliminary lines now being run out of Madras.

The local crew, working for the Central Oregon Railroad Company, was laid off last Saturday after locating a line from Madras to Redmond. Chief Engineer Redfield reports that the C. O. road has the best possible line from Madras into this section. He says it will equal the Wyoming division of the Union Pacific. There are no hills to cross and only an extra light curve on an average of every two miles. The grade between Bend and Madras is so evenly distributed along the whole distance that it makes an ideal line. The grade is so light that a car would stand at any point along the line, and yet a train of cars running from Bend to Madras would require but very little steam after they were gotten under headway.

The C. O. line crosses Crooked river about 1½ miles below Trail Crossing. It will require a bridge with a 350-foot span and over 200 feet high.

U. A. Wynn, who has been securing right of way for the Central Oregon company, was in Bend during the week and says he succeeded in securing right of way from practically all the local ranchers, and has had no trouble whatever. Everyone approached took a reasonable stand and right of way was easily secured. There are quite a number of non-resident owners of land from whom it is still necessary to secure right of way.

Mr. Wynn reports that Senator Rand, who has been securing right of way north of Madras for the Oregon Trunk Line, has finished his work and left.

R. B. Mutzig, on his way into Bend last week, fell in with some of the Harriman crew at Madras. One of the men told him that everything was in readiness to begin construction at the mouth of the Deschutes, and that grading would probably begin within from four to six weeks. This man reported that Harriman had a very good line up the canyon. It crosses the river three times and the longest tunnel is about 600 feet long.

Married Man in Trouble.

A married man who permits any member of the family to take anything except Foley's Honey and Tar, for coughs, colds and lung trouble, is guilty of neglect. Nothing else is as good for all pulmonary troubles. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar contains no opiates and is in a yellow package.—C. W. Merrill, druggist.

Notice to the Public.

Having sold my business to Millard Triplett, all parties owing me are hereby notified to call and settle their accounts by cash or note on or before Nov. 15, 1908, after which date all outstanding accounts will be put in the hands of a collector. 31-32 J. I. WEST.

Inklings at Gist.

GIST, Oct. 19.—Johnny Edwards returned from the valley Sunday. He reports the roads in bad shape and says he had a hard time getting over the mountains.

The Powell Buttes threshing machine is now in the Cloverdale country. It is reported that the grain is turning out better than was expected.

Good clay for brick near Gist, the best in Crook county, so says Mr. Sturdham. He has several thousand brick made and will fire them in a few days. Mr. Sturdham is an old brick maker and it is hoped that he will make a success here.

The Hightower-Smith Co. made connection at Gist today, Monday, with their telephone line so when you want to talk to the mill, ring — — — — — and say hello.

Robert Davy and family have returned from the valley after spending several weeks there. Robert has a fine home-stand near Gist.

Postmaster Gist received a letter from Rev. Lowther of the Haystack country stating that Bro. Skipworth, presiding elder, would preach at the school house at Gist on the evenings of the 5th and 6th of November. Come out and hear him.

Tumalo Items.

TUMALO, Oct. 20.—A heavy rain visited these parts last week and soaked the ground down 10 or 12 inches, which is surely fine on crops put in this fall, but is hard on those ranchers who are waiting for the threshing machine.

Mr. Williams of Idaho and Joe McKay of Bend were doing some survey work in these parts last week.

Chas. Brock of Bend and two Powell Butte farmers stayed over night in Tumalo last Friday, returning from the Mastoles country.

Mr. Carson, the genial collector for the Wrought Iron Range Co. of St. Louis, Mo., stopped over night in Tumalo Wednesday and Thursday nights. Mr. Carson states he has had good success collecting in this country, meeting very few who are not prepared to pay for stoves ordered in October, 1907. He is very much taken up with this country and predicts a great future for it as soon as the railroad is built.

Two new roads are being surveyed in our vicinity which were allowed by the county court this term. Mr. Elliott and Mr. Rice, county surveyor, of Prineville, are two of the viewers.

F. F. Smith passed through town yesterday returning from Bend.

James Breen and Mr. Gatchell of Bend ate dinner in Tumalo last Friday.

Roberts Bros. of Sisters report that they will haul 200 tons of hay to Bend this fall.

Powell Buttes Items.

(Too late for last week.)

The Harvest Supper given at the Shepherd school house was a great success, and in the minds of the many bachelors present it is now but a beautiful dream. A short program was given before the tables were laid, and Mr. Rhode brought his phonograph which added to the enjoyment of all. Then came the supper which made the hit of the evening. These little affairs are always such happy occasions, why not have them oftener?

We are glad to see Mrs. Taus is recovered from her recent illness.

E. R. Halterman and J. B. Davis are surveying and building laterals on the former's place in the river bed.

A school in district No. 72 is badly needed. Some children will be unable to attend school this winter, while other families will move near some school. Work on the farm, however, does not allow moving early enough in the fall to give children the advantage of the fall term of school. Then again in the spring the term is usually shortened also. A short term of school in district No. 72 is partly arranged for next spring and will be a fine thing for those moving back to the farm at about the time it is expected to commence.

Beach and Riggs are grading a road up into the Buttes to obtain dry juniper wood for the Prineville market.

The Morrill and Ellis families will soon be moving, to be near school.

Timber Claims Wanted.

Parties having timber claims situated south of Bend adjoining or within a few miles of the Deschutes river are requested to write to the undersigned if the claims are for sale. J. D. HONEYMAN, Bend, Or.

CORN YIELDS WELL

Produces Heavily in Parts of Crook County.

EXHIBITED AT COUNTY FAIR

Rancher Near Madras Has Success in Growing the Golden Cereal—Other Neighborhood News Items.

Tillman Reuter, who has a ranch southeast of this place, will be an exhibitor of farm products at the county fair at Prineville, which opened this week. Among the products of his farm which he will exhibit will be several kinds of corn, and visitors at the fair will be surprised at the excellent quality of corn grown in this section. Mr. Reuter has experimented with a number of varieties of corn and has had marked success at his place, the corn maturing well and yielding heavily. Last year he supplied seed corn, grown on his place, to practically all the farmers of this section who desired to plant that cereal.—Madras Pioneer.

Irrigation Reservoirs Near Lakeview.

The company that is planning to put Goose Lake valley under irrigation is beginning the preliminary work for the building of dams for storage reservoirs. The first work will be to test the sub-soils of the Cottonwood and the Drews valley sites, to determine the depth to which the foundations of the dams must be laid. The depth depends upon the character of the subsoils. It must be laid below the porous soils.

Next will come the surveying to prepare the plans and specifications of the dam and canals.

The Lakeview Herald says the company estimates that the Cottonwood dam will be seventy-five feet and the Drews valley dam fifty feet above the present surfaces. The waters from these two reservoirs will be commingled as soon as the topography of the ground will permit. The company intends to put 60,000 acres on the west side of Goose Lake valley under irrigation, though it may decide to increase the height of the dams and the carrying capacity of the canals.

Crook County Wheat Excels.

R. O. Andrus sold a wagon load of wheat from the Madras section at The Dalles last week, and was informed at the warehouse where he disposed of the grain that it was the best wheat they had seen this season. The wheat graded No. 1 and Mr. Andrus was paid 86 cents per bushel for it. After the warehouse had bought the wheat a number of people were called in to see the "Madras wheat." Mr. Andrus says there was considerable interest manifested in the wheat from this new district.

The wheat sold in The Dalles was grown on the Andrus ranch on Agency Plains. Mr. Andrus went to The Dalles after a load of fruit and rather than drive his wagon down empty, carried along a small load of wheat. He was very much pleased with the flattering comments upon the quality of his grain.—Pioneer.

Bend Man Invests in Madras Lands.

C. M. Redfield of Bend has purchased the Gus Zemke homestead located one mile north of the German Methodist church. The tract consists of 160 acres, and is practically all in cultivation. Mr. Redfield owns irrigated land and other interests in the Bend country, but he has great faith in the future of this section, and decided to make a small investment here.—Madras Pioneer.

Captured Three Bear Cubs.

Clyde Holland and the Blevens boy several months ago made a capture of three fine brown bear cubs, one of which subsequently escaped and was shot. One of the two remaining was delivered to Jack Summers in this city early this week and placed on exhibition at the fair grounds Tuesday morning. It is six months old, a fine specimen and is attracting much attention.—Prineville Journal.

Shorter Items of Interest.

The Crook county Sunday school convention will be held in Prineville on November 10 and 11.

The Modern Woodmen of Prineville have added between 49 and 50 new members to their lodge.

The rain that visited Bend the first part of last week seemed to be quite general over Central Oregon.

Fred Zell, the Madras rancher who advertised for a wife, has married a girl living at Harrisburg, Oregon.

Mrs. J. C. Brogan, the woman who was so seriously injured in a runaway recently at Antelope, died from the results of her injuries.

Farmers in the vicinity of Madras are organizing Farmers Unions. The various local unions recently met at Madras and effected a county organization.

As a result of the services conducted at Prineville by Evangelist Haudenschild, 100 conversions have been made. The Review says that "Rev. Haudenschild's work in Prineville will long be remembered and its effect on the churches not soon effaced."

The people of the Willamette valley are becoming greatly interested in irrigation and it is only a question of a few years until thousands of acres in that fertile region will be under irrigation systems. The latest move in this direction has been made by a number of Lane county men who propose to divert water from the McKenzie river to irrigate about 15,000 acres near Springfield.

The Silver Lake Leader, after a talk with W. F. Nelson of the Oregon Trunk Line, says it believes and is perfectly satisfied that the road will begin at the mouth of the Deschutes, following up that river to near the Agency Plains country; by the way of Madras, Bend, Silver Lake, Summer Lake, Paisley, Lakeview and on to San Francisco, with spurs branching off from the main line wherever needed.

A GREAT DAIRY STATE

Famous Wisconsin Dairyman Speaks Highly of Oregon's Possibilities.

Hon. F. H. Scribner, president of the Wisconsin Buttermakers' Association, but more especially honored in the Pacific Northwest as the breeder of "Loretta D" (belonging to the W. S. Ladd Estate, Portland, Oregon), the cow that won first prize in the 120-day milking test at the St. Louis Exposition in 1904, has said:

"There is no spot in our great United States that can excel Oregon and Washington in dairying. This is my conclusion after spending six weeks in the former state and thoroughly investigating several of her beautiful valleys, and after an extended trip through Washington. I wish to say to the dairymen and farmers of this section, relative to its dairy possibilities, that I fear they don't fully appreciate the wonderful opportunity here for the raising of feeds best adapted to the dairy industry, and the excellent climatic conditions for the growth and development of stock. You should here reach the climax of productiveness."

A JEWELER'S EXPERIENCE.

C. R. Kluger, The Jeweler, 1060 Virginia Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., writes: "I was so weak from kidney trouble that I could hardly walk a hundred feet. Foley's Kidney Remedy cleared my complexion, cured my backache and the irregularities disappeared, and I can now attend to business every day, and recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy to all sufferers, as it cured me after the doctors and other remedies had failed.—C. W. Merrill, druggist."

If you like fresh chocolates—and the very finest made—you should step into Kelly & Aldridge's. They have a fine line, just arrived.
