

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

Last week The Bulletin advertised the taking up, by Pound Master Lynes, of a Hereford steer. Later the owner, Wm. Milliron, identified the animal, paid the charges and took it away, the steer having strayed 55 miles from home. The ad. was read by Milliron's nephew in Prineville, who notified his uncle that a steer carrying his brand was advertised at Bend. Here is a simple and striking example of the value of advertising.

The Portland Journal of April 25 contains a picture of Marion Lawrence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lawrence, formerly of Bend. Marion's picture is printed in connection with the pictures of two other Roseburg girls, the three being the winners in a prize essay contest conducted in the Roseburg schools under the auspices of the Women's Christian Temperance Union. The essays treat of the scientific need of temperance. Miss Marion won the second prize.

The Bulletin wishes to correct an error in its local columns last week. It stated that Conrad Winell of Holdrege, Neb., had arrived to take up residence on ditch land east of town. It should have read A. J. Falk instead of Mr. Winell. Mr. Falk and a friend, Mr. Howkinson, both of Holdrege, have taken up residence on 160-acre tracts near the Ten Bar ranch and will improve their farms, making proof after three months residence. They were in town Saturday and Sunday and state they are very well pleased with their land.

Arrangements are being made to hold Memorial services in Bend on May 30. While the program has not been worked out in detail, yet it can be assured that a pleasing program will be rendered in the Bend church, probably beginning at 2:30 p. m. Those behind the affair extend a cordial invitation to all the old soldiers in this section to be present on this occasion, and the invitation includes not only the old soldiers but everyone. This is a most commendable observance—paying honor to the men who have fought for and protected our country, and there should be a large attendance. Further announcements will be made in The Bulletin concerning the program from time to time.

The little black pony belonging to E. A. Sather indulged in quite an exciting runaway Monday afternoon. Johnny Sather was delivering some groceries to Mrs. E. D. Wilson in the east part of town, when he noticed that some part of the harness needed attention. He tied the horse by the bridle and was working over the harness when the animal pulled back, breaking the bridle and pulling it off. She started for town on the dead run, with little Marion and Gladys Sather, who had accompanied Johnny, in the rig. The little girls hung on for dear life, but screamed and cried at every jump the horse gave. Pearl Lynes, who happened to be near the Baptist church, saw the danger the little girls were in and ran out and attempted to stop the runaway, being greatly handicapped however by the absence of the bridle. His object was to crowd the pony over into the fence, but he only succeeded in turning her down the alley by the John Sisemore cottage. Luckily Theodore Aune saw the fracas and ran into the alley in time to head her off. It was a fortunate ending to what might have been a disastrous runaway.
