HARRIMAN AFTER THE OREGON TRUNK

Hill Says He Will Not Invade Central Oregon.

KLAMATH RAILROAD NEWS

Coos Bay Line Has Passed the Paper Stage and Surveying is Being Done at Expense of Local Capital—May Be C. & N.W.

It appears that Secretary Ballinger has accorded right-of-way to both the Harriman and Oregon Trunk roads irrespective of any conflicts that may exist between the surveys, the adjustment of these falling to the courts and not to the government.

The upper 90 miles of Harriman survey maps are about to be transferred from the land office to the secretary of the interior, and, says the Telegram, Ballinger "having established a precedent in approving maps for the lower 40 miles will without doubt approve the balance of the line."

Now that both projects have the necessary rights of way up the Deschutes, it appears that the Harriman people will go on the war-path after the Oregon Trunk. Instead of fighting out the conflicting claims of right of way with his possible rival, it seems that the "Wizard" will attack the legality of the Oregon Trunk's incorporation, maintaining that it cannot operate in this state. Whether or not this new move has anything definite behind it remains to be seen.

Others Must Build Road.

In a recent address in Portland, James J. Hill announced that Central Oregon must look elsewhere than to him for transportation relief.

Although expressing the very positive belief that the resources of this country already more than justified the building of a road, and that one must speedily enter the long neglected field, Mr. Hill said that for the present, at least, the thorough development of the Great Northern territory demanded his entire attention.

Klamath Falls Railroad Activities.

R. M. Carnahan, recently of Bend, has sent us news of interest concerning the railroad activities in the southern part of the state.

The road is being actively pushed northward from Klamath Falls, says Mr. Carnahan, the grade work and preliminary clearing being completed for several miles, and grade stakes set out by recent surveys reach as far as Beaver Marsh. Whether or not the construction force now engaged in the neighborhood of the city will be retained, our correspondent was unable to ascertain.

The opinion of the southern business men and contractors seems to be that the road will undoubtedly be pushed through directly to Odell lake, and thence across the mountains to Natron, thus establishing a San Francisco-Portland main line of far better grade than the present one over the Siskiyou. An indication of the permanent character of the work already completed is the fact that 90-pound rails have been used, far heavier than are employed on branch lines of light traffic.

Coos Bay Hopeful.

The proposition made by Frederick A. Haines to the Oregon & Idaho Railroad Company to survey and build a road from Coos Bay to the vicinity of Roseburg, has been accepted by the company, which is financed entirely by local capital. The initial cost of surveying falls upon the Coos Bay people, this to be returned when Mr. Haines' backers take over the proposition.

Haines was formerly locating engineer for the Chicago & Northwestern, and the supposition is that the road will be extended across Central Oregon to Nyssa, there connecting with the Northwestern.

WRONG MAN ARRESTED.

Benton County Sheriff Has Long Trip for Nothing.

Thursday night W. A. Gellatly, sheriff of Benton county, had an unfortunate ending to the detective work which brought him across the mountains in pursuit of Harry Wilson, who escaped from the county jail on May 24.

Wilson had tried to kill his father-in-law and was awaiting his trial charged with "assault with intent to kill." By good behavior he had secured the privileges of a "trustee," and with the aid of a friend managed to give the sheriff the slip.

From Bend the description of Wilson was telephoned to Fred Shonquest, it having been learned that a stranger answering the description had recently gone south. Shonquest immediately made the arrest, as requested, and Sheriffs Elkins and Gellatly drove post haste to get their prisoner.

But unfortunately for all concerned, it was the wrong man, and the real criminal, Wilson, is as free as ever.

Prohibition Snakes.

R. M. Carnahan writes us that the most remarkable thing about Klamath Falls is its many snakes.

It seems that a visitor who had imported a jug of choice "Cyrus Noble" from Portland, imbibed rather too freely, and then went out for a walk about town. Immediately he came face to face with a couple of husky snakes, and much worried, called to a native.

"Do you see snakes on the sidewalk?" he asked anxiously.

"Of course not," answered the native, who scented a joke.

"Then for goodness sake take my whisky."

Whereupon the native got the jug and the visitor signed the pledge. Mr. Carnahan advises his friends not to go to Klamath!

FIRST BAND PICNIC SPLENDID SUCCESS

Perfect Weather, Delicious Trout and Unbounded Enthusiasm.

A HAPPY OUTING FOR BEND

One Hundred and Seventy-Five Holiday Makers Entertained by Musical Hosts—Should Be Made an Annual Event.

Whether or not "Dutch John" turned in his grave when he heard the sounds of merry-making on the grounds of his old home, the picnickers themselves all had a royal good time last Sunday. The hosts of the day were the members of the Bend band, and the entertainment they accorded their 175 guests was in every way the entire success anticipated.

During the morning the teams gathered on the flat by the old log house in such numbers that the usually deserted place took on the appearance of a county fair in full swing. After all had arrived, and the band members were busy with the preparations for the feast, the guests scattered along the river banks filling their creels with trout.

Then came the barbecue, trout without number, cooked to perfection by those past masters of the art, "Dad" West and Tom Triplett, and carried by assistants to the groups scattered far and wide under the trees.

"Two glasses for a nickle—each." While the trout were making their final disappearance, Barney Lewis, Professor of Lemonade Making, extracted the nicksles from the pockets of all within ear shot in exchange for his concoctions, "the best on earth," he guaranteed, though he never "made final proof" by imbibing himself.

Then Dr. Mitchell conducted a brief open air service, which was preceded and followed by selections played by the band, all greatly enjoyed. And when the day came to an end, as even good things must, it was unanimously voted that the band had done itself proud.

The following were the hosts of the day: E. C. Throne, C. M. Triplett, Ray Wilkinson, Elmer East, C. C. Triplett, P. E. Lynes, Fred Triplett, Howard Spuing, John Linster, C. D. Brown, B. Lewis, Fred Hunnell, C. F. Rennie.

New Settlers Arrive.

David and J. R. Williams, formerly of Aberdeen, Wash., have bought land six miles east of Bend and will begin at once to improve their holdings. J. R. will move his family here, and also expects his father-in-law and family, now living in Oklahoma, to move here to live.

Unlicensed Dogs Take Notice.

No longer may the canine inhabitants of the metropolis wander about its streets free of care and the responsibilities of citizenship.

Every dog has his day, so it is ordained, and now City Marshal Pearl Lynes announces that the last days of the unlicensed bow-wow is at hand. Get a license or suicide, is his verdict. Let dogs and dog owners take notice, and act accordingly.

Edwards Gets Eight Years.

Osborne Edwards, who shot and killed Thomas McGaillard in a

Portland rooming house on January 5, was sentenced by Judge Bronaugh to an eight years term in the penitentiary on June 4.

The charge of murder which was originally brought against Edwards was dismissed on the ground that the shooting took place without premeditation. He was arraigned on a charge of manslaughter, and plead guilty.

A DISASTROUS RUNAWAY.

Daniel McCarty Loses Valuable Horse on Cline Falls Grade.

REDMOND, June 7.—A serious runaway occurred on the Cline Falls grade on Wednesday morning. Daniel McCarty was returning from the sawmill with a load of lumber and his team took fright just as it started to descend the hill. As Dan had, on a previous occasion, spent two months under the doctor's care, when he had lost control of this team, he made all haste to connect with the ground and escaped injury, but the lumber, team and wagon piled up on the turn to the bridge. One of the horses was so badly injured it had to be killed.

Neighbor McCarty has our entire sympathy, as he will find hard work to replace the horse lost. The McCarty team was one of the best in this part of Crook county.

A Porch Party.

On the evening of Thursday last Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Lara entertained a large number of guests at their home. A pianola and a large phonograph supplied an extensive repertoire of music, both dance and vocal, being played on the broad verandas, where gay Japanese lanterns vied with the brilliancy of the full moon. It was a "porch party" primarily, and all sat outside, either dancing or enjoying the music. This entertainment ended the 10 days of festivities that marked the closing of the schools, and was in the nature of a farewell to some of the teachers and scholars.

Planing Mill and Feed Roller.

I now have my planing mill and feed roller in running order and am prepared to do work in these lines. I solicit your patronage. HENRY LINSTER.

What Changed the Old Town's Name?

Mr. Brown of SLEEPYTOWN, He wouldn't advertise; So along came Mr. Strong And took him by surprise.

Mr. S., as you may guess, Was strictly up to date; Knew the game and played the same At early hours and late.

Strong is still in WAKEFULVILLE, The merchant of the town; He advertises and still surprises Such chaps as Mr. Brown.

LOSES REASON AND ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

John Johnson, of Redmond, Gashes Throat and Wrist.

PROSPEROUS YOUNG FARMER

Demented Man Was Found by Dr. Dixon Early Last-Thursday Morning, Being Very Weak From Excessive Loss of Blood.

REDMOND, June 7.—John Johnson, who has lived alone for the past four years on his ditch land one mile south of Redmond, attempted suicide sometime Wednesday night by cutting his throat with a razor, but only succeeded in making a very severely lacerated wound without reaching the radial artery. He next badly cut his left wrist, but did not succeed in cutting any large arteries.

Johnson, who is of a quiet disposition, was well liked by everybody. He was very industrious and had one of the best improved farms in this district. The first indication that his mind was unbalanced occurred the first of this week, when he complained about an attempt of the company to take his land away from him, the land being all paid for. On Wednesday morning he came to Redmond and showed distinct evidence of a disordered brain. Justice Jones tried to get Dr. Edwards to examine him, but the doctor had just left for Shaniko. When Dr. Dixon returned from Sisters he promised to visit Johnson the first thing Thursday morning and did so before 7 o'clock. He found Johnson very weak from loss of blood and brought him to town with him for surgical attention. Later in the day, in company with Z. M. Brown, Johnson was taken to Prineville, where Judge Ellis met the party.

Johnson will be taken to Salem on Monday, the asylum authorities having sent word that a guard would be in Prineville on Sunday for that purpose.

Rosland News.

ROSAND, June 5.—There was a happy party of young people from this place who enjoyed a pleasant trip to Paulina lake last Saturday. The Misses Florence Hunnell and Cora Cook and Messrs. William Dorrell and William Taylor made up the group.

We understand that Lee Caldwell and Mrs. Pearl Bogue are going to leave Rosland for Walla Walla, Wash., in the very near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Stephenson and family will move out onto their homestead the first of the week.

Will Taylor is locating several new parties over near his homestead.

Herb Cook is putting in a few days over in Prineville. George Bogue is driving in Herb's place.

The settlers keep on coming in in bunches, many of whom cast longing eyes at this country, but it looks as though this was no man's country as no one knows who has a right to it.

H. E. Derrick, forest ranger, who has for some time been working under Ranger Pettit, has been given the territory known as No. 9, which lies between McPherson's and Summer lake, east of Paulina lake. We just commence to get acquainted with the rangers when they receive orders to renew their acquaintance at some other time and hunt a new field for work.

C. W. Richie writes that he is enjoying his trip to Boise, Idaho, very much. Mrs. Richie says she expects him home about the first of next month.

Mrs. D. F. Rease and granddaughter, Nora Caldwell, left for Coos Bay Saturday. Carl E. Wise took them as far as Bend, expecting to return with a load of freight for Grover Caldwell.

Ed H. Mahn, the forest ranger who has been stationed here in Rosland for the past winter, has been ordered to make Crane Prairie his headquarters this summer. One more ranger less, we would like to have Ed stay with us this summer.

The first bunch of sheep for the season passed through Rosland Saturday. It is reported they lost about 20 head near here.

Carl E. Wise will start in working for W. G. Fordham the first of the week.

Jim Black has gone out for another bunch of cattle. He also expects to meet Sid Stearns, who will come back with him about Wednesday.

We understand that the telephone company which operates the Rosland-Bend line, is going to offer the line to the settlers in a few weeks.

Inklings from Gist.

GIST, June 7.—L. B. Lafollette, of the Pioneer Cream Company of Prineville, took dinner at Gist Friday. He says the company is doing a very nice business.

Road Supervisor Chas. Carson has just completed the bridge across Squaw creek at the Kamp-Polk crossing.

These warm days are melting the snow in the mountains and old Squaw creek is booming. Much water going to waste.

A man by the name of Brown came across the summit about Friday. He says there is about six feet of snow on the summit. He thought the road would be open in about two weeks.

Rev. Andres preached Sunday at the school house at Gist.

The boys at Gist and Sisters organized a baseball team Sunday at Gist. The following officers were elected: C. L. Gist, captain; Hubert Scoggin, manager; Hardy Allen, treasurer and secretary. After they organized they proceeded to play ball, as there were enough boys and married men for two nines. The score stood 14 to 12. There will be a dance given next Saturday eve at Sisters for the benefit of the team.

Mr. Fields of near Prineville, is here doing some clearing on his desert claim.

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST.

Work Progresses on Power Dam.

Preliminary work upon the power dam at Bend is progressing rapidly. At present test pits are being excavated on the other side of the river that the conditions of the bed-rock may be ascertained before making final decision of the dam's location.

Couldn't Catch His Neighbor's Horse.

Phillip Burt, who recently purchased the F. G. Allen place, finds horse catching even harder than ranching. Not being able to persuade his neighbor's horse that it really wanted to be caught, Mr. Burt decided that walking was the best way after all, and so came into town on foot.

Will Visit in California.

On Thursday morning Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Howard and their children left in an automobile for Klamath Falls, whence Mrs. Howard will proceed to San Diego, Cal., for a summer's visit with her parents, while Mr. Howard went to Portland. C. M. Redfield accompanied them as far as the Falls, returning to Bend the first of the week.

A New Postmaster for Bend.

C. W. Merrill, the present postmaster at Bend, has resigned and will soon be superseded by F. O. Minor. Mr. Minor's entrance into his new office will take place as soon as his bonds, which already have been forwarded to Washington, are passed upon. Mr. Merrill will in all probability go over to the Willamette valley, after the change is affected.

Before buying wall paper see my complete line of samples of independent walls and ceilings, crepe and plain ingrains, printed duplex, the very latest in oat-meal faces, beautiful cut-out borders and plain prints, down to 7c per roll.—N. P. WREDSER, painter and paperhanger, Bend, Oregon. 10-13
