A sample of Norway rye was brought into this office from Peter Nelson's place, the heads of which were so full of grain that they look almost like miniature ears of corn.
A field of that rye would certainly yield many bushels of grain.

Dr. A. A. Burris, who was at Madras last week, reports that a railroad contractor was in town when he was there endeavoring to hire teams for a camp to be established on Sagebrush Flats, which is 10 miles north of Madras. The contractor was one of Twoby's men.

Dr. A. A. Burris visited his farm near Madras last week. He found the crop practically ruined by the wire worms—so worthless that he decided to do nothing with it. The wire worms have done considerable damage in his immediate neighborhood this year, but the doctor reports that crops on the north end of Agency Plains are quite good.

M. M. Davenport phoned in to The Bulletin last Friday that lightning, on Thursday afternoon, had started a raging fire in the long bunch grass on the north side of Horse Ridge in 19-14, and that there was much danger that it would run into the timber. The news was phoned to Supervisor Ireland at Prineville, who took the matter in charge.

While P. A. Wooley was coming in to Bend he fell in with one of Porter Bros.' subcontractors on the train. Mr. Wooley was naturally inquisitive and "looking for information" and the contractor finally said: "If you are going into the Bend country with the intention of making investments that would be benefitted by the building of a railroad, I will say this much, don't be afraid to jump in for all you're worth."
