

AN INTERESTING GAME.

Bend Ball Players and Surveyors Have Lively Contest.

The ball game last Sunday afternoon between the Bend team and a team from the Hill surveying crew was one of the prettiest contests, up to the sixth inning, that has been seen on the local diamond for many a day. The surveyors put up a swift game of ball, and if they hadn't lost their grip somewhat in the sixth and seventh innings, the score would have shown a much closer game. As it was, Bend won with a score of 9 to 1.

The Bend team played in their usual good form and were "in the game" every minute from start to finish. While some errors were marked up against the local boys, these exasperating features were few and far between. Tetherow, at the pitcher's plate, and Van Matre behind the bat, composed a battery for the locals that would be hard to beat. Van Matre is an exceptionally able catcher and is always there "with the goods." And you would have to go into the professional class to find a pitcher who can discount Tetherow. He throws a very speedy ball—has speed to spare—and is a past master with all the curves. His control Sunday was practically perfect. Tetherow and Van Matre were given very good support by the balance of the team.

The surveyors, in Freeman and Swank, have a battery of which they may well be proud. A glance at the score sheet, up to the sixth inning, shows that. The Bend batters could not connect with Freeman's twisters to any extent, and during the first two innings it looked as though the surveyors were to have an "easy thing." It was one, two, three and out for the Bend team, while in the first inning the surveyors scored one on an error by a Bend player. The Bend boys evened this by scoring one in the third, but no one crossed the plate during the fourth and fifth innings. In the fatal sixth, however, Freeman began to weaken, the Bend boys got three good hits in succession and Weider, McKay and Tetherow scored. After that it was easily Bend's game.

The positions of the players and the score by innings was as follows:

Another game between the same teams is scheduled for next Sunday afternoon, and no doubt an interesting contest will be witnessed. Hill is a great and famous railroad builder and he may win in the Central Oregon railroad game, but he will have to send in just a "mite better" team before he can defeat the ball players of Central Oregon as represented by the Bend team.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR HILL.

people have received in the caloric battle in courts and along the Deschutes canyon since Porter Brothers first began active operations the first week in July, says the Telegram. The decision borders close to a knockout blow to the Harriman line, and is more far reaching in its bearing than is indicated on the surface.

Unless the Harriman people, as a last recourse, can show to the Federal Court in Portland that the Deschutes canyon is a defile under the definition applied by the Federal statutes, the Hill people must be left alone to hold undisputed right of way over this strategic section of the line. For the Harriman people to undertake to show that a defile exists in the canyon is practically an impossible move, for at the hearing just closed before Judge Bean Chief Engineer Boschke filed affidavits in which it was clearly set forth to the court that the Deschutes canyon is not a defile and that there is plenty of room in which to build two roads. In consequence of this showing the Harriman people, on the strength of their own testimony, must take the opposite side of the canyon, if they continue construction into Central Oregon.

The decision gives an added stimulus to the construction work. Hill now has right of way granted for the entire distance from the mouth of the Deschutes to Madras, leaving Harriman to work on only 17 miles—from the mouth of Trout creek to Madras—over ground which is absolutely uncontested. The Hill line into Madras from the Deschutes takes a different and easier route than the Harriman Trout creek line.

Over the first section up the Deschutes from its mouth both Hill and Harriman have been given right of way. Over the entire second division of 60 miles, Harriman has been put off the field. The acquisition last week of the Central Oregon Railway rights of way and surveys from Madras into Bend gives the Hill line, practically, right of way from the Columbia to Bend.

BOARD DOES GOOD WORK.

Bend's Booster Organization Accomplishes Much in its First Week.

In this issue we are publishing the subject matter of the "boosting" leaflet just issued by the Bend Board of Trade. From this, Bulletin readers who have not as yet secured copies of the pamphlet for themselves, may gather the particular method in which the Board is reminding would-be settlers and investors of what the Bend country has to offer them.

The leaflet has been produced in three color combinations, blue ink on blue paper, red on blue, and blue on white, thus catering to the individual tastes of all. Five thousand of them were struck off, and already some 3,000 have been bought by enterprising citizens to be enclosed in their letters and mailed to inquirers.

The Board reports great progress in this, its first week of activity. Two new members have "joined the booster's band." Anton Aune and Elmer Niswonger, on behalf of the Central Oregon Realty Co.; the office in the bank building has been fitted up, the leaflet produced, and membership secured in the Oregon Development League. Already 30 or more letters have been received, asking in regard to home and investment making possibilities, and the names of several hundred persons, who have written for information concerning Central Oregon, have been furnished by the Portland Commercial Club. To all of these leaflets have been sent, and to many, where detailed data was requested, letters written.

An example of the good work the Board is doing is seen in the mention (in a weekly news letter sent out by the Oregon Development League) of the opening to settlement of the wheat land southeast of Bend. This letter is sent to all the weekly papers of the state and many of them print it in full. Thus this mention of Bend and its nearby wheat lands will appear in dozens of papers and will be read in all parts of the United States. The Board was responsible for the item in the letter referred to.
