LOCATE LINE FROM BEND

Survey Crew Takes Field on Southeastern Road.

BEND CONTRACT LET SOON

East-and-West Line Taps Homestead Territory—Big Road Land Grant Buy May Be Backed by Hill for Railroad Development.

Yesterday K. K. Kuney left Bend with a crew of twelve men to make final location of the east-and-west line of the Oregon Trunk Line from this place towards Burns and beyond. The locators, it is understood, will proceed directly to Riley, near Burns, and thence work westward over the preliminary surveys that have been made over the "High Desert" country, joining the north and south Trunk Line a couple of miles south of Bend.

Mr. Kuney arrived here five days ago and immediately made arrangements with J. H. Wenandy, reports the latter, to hire for an indefinite period two four-horse teams and saddle horses. Yesterday the crew of surveyors, with a celestial cook, left for the southeast, having come in the previous day after a four days trip from Shaniko. J. L. Stacer, who has had charge of the preliminary survey party which has been in the field to the southeast since last August, will, it is intimated, continue his operations eastward from Riley.

The surveys, it is understood, pass through the best of the enormous area of embryo wheat lands now being homesteaded. From the south comes the report that M. Milliken's crew is pushing to completion preliminary surveys through the Klamath reservation.

It seems certain, now, that the long looked for letting of the construction contract from Madras to Bend is close at hand. The Oregonian states authoritatively that bids on this work will be opened within two weeks, and it is believed that already several contractors have been examining the ground, particularly with reference to the cost of hay and other matters connected with conducting camps.

One of the most interesting recent developments relative to the railroad activity is the purchase of the great land grant of the Willamette Valley and Cascade Mountain Wagon Road Co. by a syndicate of Minnesota capitalists, behind which, it is rumored, stands J. I. Hill, Col. C. E. S. Wood, president of the Boise & Western Railroad Co., engineered the deal, the buyers having put up $100,000 on their option. Some 600,000 acres extending eastward from the Cascades are included in the grant, and while it has been stated that the Hill interests have nothing to do with the purchase it is a fact of significant interest that the lands offer a new incentive for railroad development in the eastern portion of the state.

From the Deschutes canyon comes word of a wage increase for the laborers from $2.25 to $2.50 a day. It is understood that the road builders anticipate some difficulty in securing enough workers for the summer's activity on the Bend stretch of construction, and will make special effort to import sufficient labor to rush the work to completion.

Prospecting for Contractors?

Last evening F. O. Gentry, in the employ of the O. T. L., put in an appearance at the Bend Hotel, heading a dozen laborers. Although Mr. Gentry had nothing to say concerning his activity, past, present or future, apparently rather gloating in the role of a "man of mystery," there seems good reason to believe that the purpose of the pre-construction trip along the Madras-Bend survey is to gather data regarding the character of the work to be encountered, preparatory to contract letting.

WATER WILL GO TO DITCH LANDS

Crews Are Now at Work on D. I. & P. Canals.

RECEIVER TO KEEP THEM UP

Further Legal Proceedings in Progress Looking to Foreclosure of First Mortgage but not Affecting Irrigation of the Land.

That there will be no cessation of activity in the way of providing water for settlers on D. I. & P. Co.'s segregation is evidenced by the fact that two crews are now employed clearing laterals and ditches preparatory to the coming season's irrigation. The main canals have already been cleared and water is flowing in them. All ditches will carry water in ample time for crops. And it is expected that a large area of new land will be watered this year.

Receiver Redfield returned from Portland last night with his attorney and Mr. Howard. Mr. Redfield takes charge of all the property of the company, including notes from settlers, mortgages and moneys, will maintain and operate the head-works and canals of the irrigation system, collect sums that may fall due and keep everything in a going condition.

Last Friday Judge Bean confirmed Mr. Redfield's appointment as receiver, in his order, however, divesting the appointee of all power to do more than preserve the property of the company. The receiver's salary was fixed at $350 a month, and L. K. Adams of the Portland law firm of Sinnott & Adams, was selected as special attorney, at a monthly salary not to exceed $100.

Receivership of the D. I. & P. Co. does not of itself adjust the first mortgage of the corporation.

It nails things down, as it were, until further proceedings can be had in their order. Attorney A. King Wilson, for the bondholders, is thus quoted by the Portland Oregonian in this connection:

The bondholders of the concern will surely proceed with foreclosure of the mortgage. We understand the former decision of Judge Bean as to the right of the Easterners to maintain their suit, to be an announcement that the terms of the mortgage had been violated through the failure of the Deschutes company to pay the installments of interest as they became due. Therefore the foreclosure is only a matter of time.

We will probably ask the court to cancel the bonds by a deed of the property, and will organize another company to proceed with the affairs of the concern, complete its plan of reclamation and redeem the contracts which have been made. It must be understood that we are ready at any time to accept the money due the Ohio people and step out.

ALASKAN BANKER SEES BEND

North Country Millionaire Becomes Enthusiastic Bend Booster.

George Blanchard of Skagway, Alaska, arrived in Bend yesterday, having come directly from the north country to look into the Deschutes Valley region of which he had heard much. It was through his acquaintance with Floyd Dement that Mr. Blanchard was piloted directly to Bend.

The Alaskan visitor is reputed to be a millionaire, it is understood, and has large mercantile houses at Skagway and elsewhere, besides being interested in a bank at Juneau. Mr. Blanchard expresses himself as delighted with the Deschutes Country and is most enthusiastic in his appreciation of Bend's possibilities, predicting a great future for the town. Today he returns to Portland and thence to Alaska, with the intention of coming back to Bend at a later date and identifying himself with its development. Mr. Blanchard is taking back with him all the literature, maps, and photos he could find, and volunteers to boost Bend all the way from here to Nome.

FAST GAME IS WON BY BEND

Visiting Twirlers Walloped on Home Grounds.

SEASON STARTS BRILLIANTLY

Initial Contest With Prinevillians Results in Well Earned Victory for Bend Boys, by Score of Eight to One—Large Attendance.

Sunday afternoon the local fans were well rewarded for giving up fishing excursions by the brilliant victory the Bend boys won from the county seat ball players. Eight to one was the score, and it well indicates the comparative article of ball put out by the two teams. Throughout the game was well and cleanly played, with here and there a snappy bit of grand stand work that promised great things for the later season when practice has worn off the corners. The band played first, and then the two teams, with a big crowd of enthusiasts doing the fan act from the bleachers and autos.

Kulp and Heisler, in the box, kept things pretty even, with no tallies during the first three innings. In the first of the fourth Prineville's chances brightened somewhat with two men on bases and one out, but Kulp gathered in an easy grounder, and then retired the final man on three wide fans.

In the last of the fourth Bend got down to business, Van Mater walking and then being advanced to third on a clever bunt by Weider; and both men coming home on a timely grounder from the bat of Burris through third. After which Barnes, center fielder for the visitors, mistook McReynolds' high fly for Halley's comet and conveniently dropped it, allowing Mac to make third on Curley Lowell's smash through shortstop. After which Turpin, thinking four tallies enough to ring up in one inning, fanned out.

The good work was continued in the next round, Kulp and Metke making the circuit after the latter's long drive into the junipers behind the left garden.

In the sixth Barnes did some snappy fielding for the visitors, retiring McReynolds and Lowell in succession on two difficult running catches. The seventh started with a blisterer from Kulp over the third sack, Metke reaching first on his grounder, though Kulp was caught at second. Then VanMatre singled, and Metke followed with another through the place the short-stop might have been, Metke getting to the plate on a close decision. Next O'Donnell sacrificed VanMatre home, Weider purloined third prettily, and the inning closed with a sky rocket from Burris into A. Zeek's mit.

In the ninth Prineville made their one score, H. Belknap finding his way home after smashing a clean hit to center field. Kulp, Weider, McReynolds and VanMatre, in the second and fourth, put through speedy double plays. Kulp struck out eight and Heisler seven men, the former giving three and the latter two free passes to the first sack. H. Turpin and R. Zevery were umpires.

An effort is being made, it is understood, to arrange a game for next Sunday with Madras at Bend. Should this fail, the next contest takes place on April 17 with Prineville at the county seat.

Last Sunday Madras went down to defeat at the hands of Redmond to the tune of 16 to 6.
