TROUBLE ON GRADES.

Contractor and Station Men Have Something of a Squabble.

Affairs among the railroad builders working on the outskirts of town have been somewhat lively during the week. The trouble began last Thursday. Seth Bryan, of the firm of Bryan & Youngstrom, who have the subcontract on four miles of grading northward from Bead, had trouble with a group of station men including Joe Ross, alleging their work was unsatisfactory.

Bryan ordered the men to quit the job and get off the right-of-way. This they refused to do. He then got Sheriff Elkins over, who on Thursday morning told the station men to get out, though it is understood no papers were served. Bryan states that the station men "let out" were paid $1 a yard for the work done, instead of 80c, as stipulated. All of the men are back on the grade except Ross, who wants to get back the work on the cut north of Greenwood. Bryan says Ross has threatened his life and that of Engineer Scott, and it is understood will try to have him bound over to keep the peace.

Thrashing at Powell Buttes.

C. A. Graves of Powell Buttes was in town over Sunday. He reports that C. H. Foster's big new thrashing outfit is thrashing all the grain near the Buttes. Mr. Foster has a 16-hp. traction engine, 28-inch cylinder threshers, a blower, cook wagon, etc. The outfit is reckoned the best in this section of the state.

Enlarged Lars's Fall Opening.

The Fall Opening at Lars's next Saturday is of more than usual interest in that it gives the patrons of the "Big Store" their first official view of its new store room on the second floor. Following out the scheme of departmentizing their various lines, Laras has opened up the entire second floor of their building, connecting it with the main floor by a broad inside stairway. Ladies apparel, housefurnishing goods, crockery, rugs, curtains, etc., hereafter will be displayed on the second floor. Groceries, men's furnishings, shoes, etc., will occupy the entire first floor. An attractive day of entertainment, refreshments and souvenirs, is scheduled for Saturday.

A JUGGLER'S TRICK.

Clever Feat of Illusion Performed by an East Indian.

A retired naval official who served long in the east says the feats of the East Indian jugglers are wonderful. He cites one.

While he was an officer on board a P. and O. steamship two natives came aboard at Madras, he says. They were a juggler and his assistant. After they had performed a number of minor feats and had gathered quite a crowd around them they called for a sack and a piece of sailcloth.

These having been provided, the chief juggler made a small tentlike structure with the canvas and some stools. He then placed his assistant in the sack and allowed a sailor to tie the knot which bound him a fast prisoner. This done, the chief carried the sack into an open space, warning the people to stand back some distance, and then carried on an animated conversation with his assistant, whose replies could be distinctly heard coming from the sack. Suddenly the chief rushed forward, picked up the sack and dumped it overboard, where, to the horror of the passengers and crew, it sank out of sight.

Immediately the captain rushed forward and seized the man under the full belief that he had murdered his companion, but the juggler only smiled and, pointing to the canvas, asked that it be raised. This was done, and the supposed drowned man was discovered squatting on the deck. So realistic had been the throwing overboard, however, that it was some time before the surprised passengers could realize a murder had not been committed.

Still a Baby.

"The last time I saw him was thirty years ago, when he was a baby."

"Well, I saw him yesterday, and he hasn't changed a bit."—St. Louis Star.

Cutting It Short.

"How long can you stay?" asked a hostess who had received an unexpected visitor coolly.

"No longer than I can help," was the crisp reply. "I have telephoned to have my trunk stay at the depot and to notify me of the first train I can take home. So sorry I can't stay longer!"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Dangerous Reproductions.

"An artist," said Mr. Teechum, "should strive to reproduce what is nearest to his thought and deepest in his affection."

"Yes," replied the mercenary genius, "but the laws against counterfeiting currency are so severe!"—Washington Star.

His Request.

Judge—Have you anything to say before I pass sentence? Prisoner (who knows human nature)—Yes, my lord; I should like you to have your dinner before you pass sentence upon me.—London Scraps.

A Dialecture.

"My wife is foreign born. She always talks broken English when she is angry with me."
"Gives you a dialecture, so to speak."
—Washington Herald.
