NEW CLUB STARTS

NAMES AND MONEY SUBSCRIBED FOR IT.

Large Interest in New Movement is Shown and Committees on Permanent Organization are Appointed.

More than 40 men responded to the call for a meeting at the Knights of Pythias hall last Thursday night to consider the matter of organizing a commercial club. V. A. Forbes was chosen chairman of the meeting and C. L. Hotaling secretary. After the matter had been discussed by Messrs. Caldwell, Robertson, Lawrence, Rowlee, Eastes, Taggart, Orcutt, Eggleston and others, all being in favor of an organization through which the community could act in public matters, committees for permanent organization were appointed and the meeting adjourned until next Friday evening.

President Eastes, of the Real Estate Board, reported that 121 men had signed the paper circulated some days previously looking to the organization of a commercial club, pledging $300 for membership fees and $200 additional for the equipment of suitable quarters, or for similar uses.

On motion of Frank Robertson the following committee was appointed to draft bylaws: J. M. Lawrence, J. A. Eastes, W. B. Sellers, J. L. Byrne and Frank Robertson.

On motion of J. A. Eastes the following committee on hall was appointed: M. S. Lattin, H. H. Davies and W. W. Orcutt.

Eastes also spoke of the advisability of closing up subscriptions already made, as well as getting new ones, and moved that a new committee of five be appointed for this purpose the chairman of the meeting being at the head of the committee. The motion carried and J. W. Taggart, S. C. Caldwell, F. C. Rowlee and H. J. Eggleston were appointed to serve with Mr. Forbes.

All committees were instructed to report at an adjourned meeting to be held at the same place, over the postoffice, next Friday night. A full attendance is desired in order that the committee reports may receive proper consideration.

LIDLAW LOTS $28,000

Swedish Colony Looking for Location

LIDLAW, Or., Sept. 12.—The assessed valuation of the town lots of Laidlaw this year is $28,000.

Mr. York and family have taken a trip to the old home at Suohomish, Wash.

C. J. Mock is hauling lumber from Bend for building on his homestead west of town.

Mr. Ringo and family have gone back to their ranch near Madras. We will miss them here.

Miss Isabel Brown and brother Ray are off to Corvallis to take a course in the State Agricultural College.

Will Thorp broke loose from Laidlaw and scouted across the mountains to help pick hops, in the valley where they grow.

Mrs. G. W. Brown has been called to Salem, by the death of a brother. She may not return until spring.

Dan Dahistrom and Mr. Lundgren of Turlock, Cal., have spent several days looking over the country with a view of selecting a location for a Swedish colony.

The farmer awake to the times sees the advantages of this country for dairy purposes. He is watching every chance to improve his herd, by securing the best young stock. The dairy farmer is sure the best product of the farm and herd; and will be for years, while there is such a demand for better cows. Think twice before selling the good cow, and then don't sell her.

Mr. Dayton of Laidlaw can show any doubter what a good cow is, by visiting his herd. His stock is A1, and shows the care he takes of them. This is more than half of the battle. We need a score of farmers looking towards the future like Mr. Dayton.

UNCLE SAM'S STAMPS.

Wonderful Collection in the Postoffice Department Museum.

The fact that nearly all men at some time were stamp collectors is said to account for the popularity of the official stamp collection of the United States postoffice department maintained in connection with the postal museum in Washington. Postoffice department officials say 100,000 men call every year to see the museum stamp collection.

The postoffice department museum is full of interesting objects. It contains almost everything from a lock of Charles Giltens's hair to models of the big battleships of the navy, but by far its most interesting feature, according to the officials in charge, is the stamp collection. Few visitors miss that sight, and many "hobbyists" spend hours poring over it.

Uncle Sam as a stamp collector is a most singular success. He not only has a complete set of his own stamps, but a complete collection from every other stamp issuing country in the civilized world as well. His collection is valued by the department at $200,000, but stamp dealers say it would demand a figure many times that sum if placed on the open market for sale.

The fact that Uncle Sam's stamp collection is absolutely complete is a statement difficult to comprehend, even to those who have been collectors themselves. Most of those who were collectors in years gone by will remember how many empty places there were in their albums when they glared in the possession of 1,500 and 2,000 specimens. They will recall how many new varieties above the 2,000 mark cost from $5 to $50 each; also the small fortunes placed on some of the specially rare specimens, the kind which the dealers' catalogues related had been printed only to the number of 100 or so and but six or seven were known to be in existence.

Well, Uncle Sam's stamp collection possesses all of these, besides the thousands of common kinds. Although it has taken hard work, many years and a tidy fortune to do it, the collection today stands absolutely complete. The only varieties yet to be added are those yet to be issued.—Baltimore American.

How a Bird Dresses.

As bird fashions do not change, two suits a year are quite enough for most birds, but they need to take great care of them. Each separate feather must be cleaned and looked over, and the useless ones pulled out. These feathers are not packed close together, you know, but lie loose and have places between filled with air. When a bird wants to get warmer he lifts his feathers so that these air spaces may be larger. But if his feathers are tangled or wet and dirty he could not raise them, and soon he could not keep the heat in his little body and would, of course, die.

The Cause.

"Did you hear the awful shriek that engine gave as it flew by?" asked the first man as they approached a railroad crossing.

"Yes. What caused it?" rejoined his companion.

"I presume the engineer had it by the throttle."—Smart Set.

A Mean Retort.

"There goes a man I could have married," she said softly.

"Yes," he chuckled, "and I notice that he keeps on going as though he were afraid you might try it again."—Detroit Free Press.

Way It Goes.

"Could you give a starving woman work?"

"Yes; I need a girl to scrub."

"Too bad; this girl's a parlor maid."—Washington Herald.

A Necessity.

Judge—Why did you burn your barn down just after getting it insured? Farmer—Your honor, a poor man like me can't afford to have a barn and insurance too.—Meggendorfer Blatter.

To live long it is necessary to live slowly.—Cleero.
