"Court house steel work badly delayed," writes the Portland Telegram. How about the steel work?

The "Old Guard" down in York State seems to have monkeyed with the buzz saw when it sought to humiliate one T. R.

Puzzle: Why is it so many ordinances pass the Bend Common Council unanimously, or practically so, and yet fail to find one friendly voice when vetoed by the Mayor? We dislike to ask disagreeable questions, but this one is put up to The Bulletin and we respectfully pass it on.

The significance of the Oregon primary election is fairly plain: No "assembly" rule will be tolerated. Of course the political jobbers and crooks will seek to take advantage of the popular revolt against ring rule and we shall find many of them hereafter strongly avowing their fealty to popular government.

The one anti-statement candidate who was successful, Bowerman, was frowned upon by the Portland Oregonian. All the rest of the distinctly "assembly" candidates bit the dust, not excepting the invincible McArthur, private secretary of the Governor and whirlwind campaigner. No cleaner sweep was ever recorded.

Roseburg has the Secretary of State, renominated by the Republicans, and the Attorney General nominated for a third term by the same party. It made a brave fight for Governor, the most worthy of them all, and if it had succeeded the seat of government might have been moved to the Umpqua town and the statehouse in Salem rented for a skating rink.

Is it to be Metoles, Metolus or Metolius? Now that things are taking definite shape in this country some attention ought to be given its nomenclature. Oregon has too many names that smack of carelessness or illiteracy. Sumpter would scorn an intimation that it was not named for Fort Sumter, but look at the variance in spelling. Milwaukee, Oregon, was named after Milwaukee, Wis. Those who named Allegany, Oregon, thought they had Alleghany, Pennsylvania, for a forerunner. The town known as The Dalles is incorporated under the laws of Oregon as Dalles City. And so on through a long list. These variances do not constitute crimes, of course; nobody can be sent to jail for them. But they do impeach the scholarship and accuracy of those responsible for them and it certainly does no people any good to advertise illiteracy or intellectual slovenliness in so prominent and permanent a manner.

The Citizen's Call, a campaign sheet published at Redmond by the "Citizen's Good Government League," says,—

It is not the purpose of this publication to make any one the scapegoat of the conditions now existing although such at the present might appear. The purpose has not yet been revealed.

How can it ask the support of reasonable people for a "purpose not yet revealed"? After we had lined up behind this luminous banner it might "reveal" that it was in the service of the rum power. A combination of petty mystery and querulous complaining will kill a good cause. Here is one of the causes that may well pray to be delivered from its fool friends. Of course they aim to benefit the community and humanity at large; few would find fault with their high motive. But they lack the saving grace of common sense in practical affairs. And this fundamental infirmity gives undue leverage for the other extreme of society to keep things from being as good as most of the people would really like to have them.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT.

In discussing the livestock question Cashier Hudson of the First National Bank of Bend submits these highly pertinent remarks:

The immediate Bend country did not this year raise sufficient cattle for home consumption in our meat markets, and has not since I have been here—two years. Why?

This land will raise clover, alfalfa and other crops so that every farmer could feed out a few cattle to good advantage. The best countries and the most prosperous are found in Illinois and Iowa where they "feed out" in small numbers, thereby getting the benefit of the raise in the cattle, a good price for their hay and grain, and also what they have found to be very essential—the manure back on the land.

It seems to me this is destined to be a dairy country to a large degree; the natural increase in population, the railroad work and the further fact that next fall—1911—we will have transportation, so that our cattle can be marketed in Portland, where Swift is putting in a $3,000,000 packing plant, will assure a good market.

In a letter just received from the Pacific Northwest Livestock Association the same subject is dealt with in this wise:

The question that confronts the stockman and farmer of the Pacific Northwest is the necessity for increased livestock production. It is not good business that the packers of the Coast Cities find it necessary to send millions of dollars each year to the Missouri River, for live animals, and that such great quantities of money are taken out of this section for provisions and packing house products sent here from the Central States.

There is one thing certain; the entire energies of our people must be directed along better lines of farming and livestock breeding and feeding.

Bend is this week sending $2,500 of Oregon money back to the Mississippi Valley to put livestock on a farm—the very livestock that may later be shipped to Oregon to feed people who waste their opportunity to be self-supporting, or better.

Isn't this worth thinking about?

County Court Grants Lytle Franchise.

John Steidl and Thomas Tweet have been granted by the county court franchises for furnishing water for domestic and irrigating purposes and for supplying electric light and power in the unincorporated towns of Lytle and Riverside.

The plats of subdivision of NW 1/4 NW 1/4 Sec. 28, 17-12, by John F. Bean, and of NE 1/4 NW 1/4 Sec. 34, 17-12, by Andrew J. Davis and wife were filed and duly approved, as was the plat of the town of Harper by David Hill.

Walter Vandeventer's claim for $500 damage on account of the new road to the settlers between Big and Little rivers was allowed at $700. The road was declared a public highway.

J. M. Lawrence was appointed Justice of the Peace in Bend precinct, vice I. L. Schofield, removed from the county.

Straw for Sandy Roads.

W. J. Buckley, the Redmond expressman plying between Shaniko and Bend, has started the Madras and Redmond people to strawing the soft places in the roads, each town working to the northward. Straw mends the chuck holes and sandy stretches better than any other material and it is both cheap as a commodity and usually to be had convenient to the places where it is needed. By this improvement it is expected traffic will be won back to the Madras route, which had been avoided since the roads became soft and chunky. Mr. Buckley suggests that Bend might assist the movement by similarly patching a few soft places between here and Redmond.

Civil Service Examinations.

Civil Service examinations for the position of Forest Ranger will be held in Prineville, Oregon, on October 24 and 25, 1910. Persons desiring to take this examination will apply to the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., for necessary application blanks, which will permit them to take the examination.

The examination will consist of practical questions regarding the general use of the Forests. It will be supplemented by a field test to show the applicant's fitness to perform the duties of a Ranger. Any honest, energetic young man with sound body need not hesitate to take this examination. Competitors must be between the ages of 21 and 40 years old.

For further information apply to the United States Civil Service Commission, or A. S. Ireland, Prineville, Oregon.

Every Oregon Town Should Do It.
 (Lakeview Examiner.)

Bend is going to get valuable advertising in the East by making a complete exhibit in the Oregon car to be shown by the Hill interests. A splendid collection of products grown around Bend will be included in the exhibit, which will be an object lesson in what Oregon farms can grow. It is certain to get good results. Every Oregon town should have a like showing.

For Sale.

Farm of 120 acres, good house and barn all fenced, water under the Swalley Ditch for all of land. Sixty acres in cultivation; 3 acres in alfalfa now, 40 acres that has not been cleared but is smooth and level and can be cleared very easily, 20 acres of pasture land and is rather rough. Location 8 miles from Bend and 1/4 mile from railroad station. Price $40 per acre. Terms $1000 cash and balance in 4 years with 8 per cent interest. Payments to be made on same each year. Address LOUIS ROBERTH, 29-30 Rosland Or.

The Bulletin has a larger advertising patronage than any other Central Or. paper. There's a reason.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior.
 U. S. Land Office at The Dalles, Or.
 September 20, 1910.
 Notice is hereby given that—
 Moses Newwinger, whose postoffice address is Bend, Oregon, did, on the 15th day of June 1910, file in this office Sworn Statement and Application, No. 0607, to purchase the SW 1/4 NW 1/4 Sec. 20, T. 17 S., R. 14 E., W. M., and the timber thereon, under the provisions of the act of June 3, 1892, and acts amendatory, known as the "Timber and Stone Law," at such value as might be fixed by appraisement, and that, pursuant to such application, the land and timber thereon have been appraised, the timber estimated 20,000 board feet at $1.50 per M., and the land $50; that said applicant will, for final proof in support of his application and sworn statement on the 6th day of December, 1910, before H. C. Ellis, U. S. Commissioner, at his office, at Bend, Oregon.
 Any person is at liberty to protest this purchase before entry, or initiate a contest at any time before patent issues, by filing a corroborated affidavit in this office, alleging facts which would defeat the entry.
 C. W. MOORE, Register.

Prepared Roofing

As to Quality.

All manufacturers of prepared roofing have two or more grades, the cheaper grades being made of the less expensive materials. While making a serviceable roof, these cheaper grades do not have the lasting qualities of the first grades, and should not be accepted by a builder on the understanding that he is getting first grade material.

We have the first grades of the two largest manufacturers of roofing in the world—the RUBEROID and the GENASCO. These brands are required in government specifications, which is a guarantee of their superiority over other roofings.

As to Price.

By buying a full car of prepared roofing direct from the manufacturers we save the middleman's profit, and also the difference between the carload and the less than carload freight rates.

This is why we can sell the first quality roofing at the price usually made on cheaper grades; and we can sell the cheaper grades at correspondingly lower prices. We carry both grades and can save you money on either.
