SCHOOL PRIZES. CROSS AS CAN BE

INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITS FOR PUPILS AT COUNTY FAIR.

Attention Called Early To Opportunity Offered School Goes For Getting Awards in Many Different Competitive Exhibits.

Below is the industrial outline for the Central Oregon Fair for 1911 as it comes from the office of County Superintendent Ford. From the nature of the work this necessarily will be an exhibit from the school children under the supervision of the parents, but will be classified with the school exhibit and the school will have entire charge of transportation, etc.

It is suggested that parents whose children are interested in competing for prizes in any of the branches mentioned reserve this outline to aid them in starting the pupils in good season.

1. An individual cash prize is offered for every article notated in each grade in both the boys' and girls' divisions.

2. A "Best Original Exhibit" individual cash prize is offered in both the boys' and girls' divisions in each grade (some piece of handcraft not included in list).

3. First, second and third ribbon GRADE prizes for each division in each grade.

In addition there are to be prizes for floral exhibits selected from: sweet peas, pansies, asters, nasturtiums, golden glow and bouquets. Potted plants and vegetables exhibits also enter the competition. There is to be a poultry exhibit, including chickens, turkeys, ducks and guineas; an animal exhibit, including sheep, cows, hog, calf and honey; fruit, including apples, pears and prunes; and grains and grasses of all varieties in seed and on the stalk.

Redmond Item.

The Spokesman man in making the rounds of the city the other day ran across half a dozen men in business who were contemplating or were about to sell out their business.—SPOKESMAN.

DEPOPULATION OF NEIGHBORHOOD ROUSES BEAR KILLER

W. P. Vandevent Complain That Lure of City Lights Is Causing Migration of Flower of Up-River Dwellers to Bend.

War has been declared on Bend by the dwellers of the "up-river" country. Such are the grave tidings brought to this otherwise peaceful metropolis by W. P. Vandevent, biggest bear bagger of the Little River region.

"Give us back our people or suffer the consequences," is the ultimatum offered by Mr. Vandevent, his voice quivering with emotion.

The crisis has been produced by the migration of the flower of the homestead dwellers to Bend, lured away from their native jack pines by the fateful call of the white arc lights of Wall street. But better far than any attempt to picture the tragedy of depopulation in inadequate second-hand words, is to let Mr. Vandevent speak for himself.

"We long-suffering residents of the Meadows, the Forks and the Little River country can bear and have born, uncomplaining, burden after burden placed upon us by Bend. We can take our dead cows out of the river, give our best shooting to Benders,—sacrifice almost anything except our friends and neighbors.

"But see what happens! You have taken from our admiring midst Sawhill, pride of Tuxedo Park, making him a Bend booster. Heyburn, bone and sinew of the homesteaders, and mightiest hunter on Big River, you have brought to your city to make of him a flat-dweller. Usher, the brains and brawn of our Law and Order League, has transferred his affections from our local police affairs to those of Bend. And last, Mayor Hill of Harper, has deserted his municipality and come to this grasping metropolis of the Deschutte."

So, bemoaning the injustice of human events, did Mr. Vandevent return to the solitary loneliness of his depopulated up-river community.

Full Insurance Allowed.

Fred Van Matre, whose livery barn was destroyed by fire on Jan. 16, has received the full amount of insurance he carried, $1000. H. W. Randall, a Portland adjuster for the St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Co., was in the city Friday and allowed the full amount.
