Impertinent Question No. 2.

How many people in Bend will go out in search of the next man who is lost?

A DISCORDANT NOTE.

And how Bend, on the north, loves us. The Bend Trade Excursionists, who were here last week, spent considerable time running around the streets button-holing our citizens, with a nice talk about it being poor policy for different sections to knock one another, and more to the same effect. It was a very touching exhibition of brotherly love. No, they don't believe in knocking. Just ignore 'em; that's their policy.

The Silver Lake Commercial Club spent about $50 for the entertainment of the visitors in the short time they were here, and after they returned to Bend a column article was sent to the Oregonian telling about their trip, but not a word said about Summer Lake, Silver Lake and East Rock valleys.

Such is the faint praise of the Silver Lake Leader, the only unkind press criticism evoked by the Bend trade excursion, which follows an attack upon Lakeview for that town's alleged unfair treatment of northern Lake County.

Apparently Editor Charles' supposed grievance hinges entirely upon the fact that a Portland Oregonian account of the Bend men's trip made more mention of other districts than it did of the splendid Silver Lake territory. The worthy editor ought to know that down in the Oregonian office there is a very large blue pencil which has an unfortunate habit of prancing through correspondents' "copy." While it is perhaps embarrassing to admit it, said blue pencil wrought havoc to the "story" in question, only about half of the original "copy" remaining after the pruning. And in the portion that was forced out from lack of space was the description of the return trip, describing the party's pleasure at viewing the prosperous Summer and Silver Lake countries, and their hospitable reception at the latter point.

The Leader is trying, without just cause, to create disharmony. The sole purpose of the Bend men's trip was to "get together" with the people of the southern territory. For purely selfish reasons, if for no others, why should any slight be extended or even hinted at to Silver Lake, one of the most prosperous, one of the nearest and one of the most hospitable of the communities encountered?

As an indication of Bend's real desire to aid Silver Lake and its tributary country, The Bulletin takes this opportunity to state that Bend is anxious to receive from the southern town a comprehensive exhibit of agricultural and other products to be shown here, as well as literature and photographs, so that the location seeker coming in on and from the railroad may be able to get here first hand information concerning the southern country. This offer includes every town to the south; it is sincere and it should be taken advantage of.

TWO BIG MEN.

Two personalities stood out prominent at the sessions of the Central Oregon Development League. Two men particularly impressed themselves upon their listeners and those who had the good fortune to come into personal contact with them, leaving that intangible and rare feeling of entire confidence, admiration and thorough liking in the hearts and minds of all who met and heard them. One was a young man, the other middle aged.

H. W. Sudder, professor in the Oregon Agricultural College, whose talk upon agricultural methods was the educational event of the entire convention, is the young man; all who heard his remarkably forceful, interesting and valuable address were convinced of his peculiar ability in his sphere of activity, and all who listened to or met him were equally glad to say: "With such a man guiding Central Oregon's agricultural development, only the best can result."

Carl R. Gray, president of the Oregon Trunk Railway, is the older man. Quiet, kindly, a keen thinker and a felicitous talker, possessed of a delightful sense of humor, and above all vitally interested in any and all things pertaining to the up-building of the lands whose success means the success of his railroad; straightforward, easy of success, willing and anxious to meet those who in a measure may be characterized as his "constituents"; showing himself all this and more, Mr. Gray won his way to the hearts of those with whom he came in contact. An apparently trifling incident is significant of the feeling Oregon's new railroad president evoked: At a committee meeting there were not enough chairs to go around, whereupon Mr. Gray sat himself upon the floor and from that unpresidential position conducted the proceedings. Central Oregon likes a railroad president who is willing to sit on the floor—literally and metaphorically.

NEWSPAPER COMMENT ON GET-TOGETHER JUNKET

HARMONY IS NEEDED.

(Klamath County Chronicle)
The Bend Commercial Club, through its visiting members, gave to Klamath Falls the cue for a harmonious commercial body. In no other way nor under no other circumstances could a body of business men go out into the country as this body of Bend business men are doing and for the sole purpose of bringing about closer relations between the business interests of Eastern Oregon. This get-together spirit as shown by the Bend men is commendable in the highest degree, and if the other cities visited will fall in line of the march of progress as set by the commercial club of the northern city much benefit can follow, and Bend deserves much praise in having a commercial club with foresightedness enough and enthusiasm enough to send twenty-five or thirty of its best citizens out on a trip through the country with the purpose of creating harmony between the several towns and cities.

WORK FOR COMMON GOOD

(Lakeview Examiner)
The whole trend of the meeting was one that showed a good spirit and to work for one common good—the building up of this part of the state as that would insure the building of railroads—while the matter of good roads was prominent in all their talk. The visitors were loud in their praise of the treatment they received at the hands of the Lakeview citizens.

PRODUCTIVE OF RESULTS.

(Chewaucan Press)
We are glad they came and we hope they will come again. This is the sentiment of practically every soul in Paisley. Such visits are productive of the best results. They stimulate us, arousing in the most lethargic a feeling of enthusiasm and good-fellowship; a desire to help in promoting the welfare of the community in which we live. Come again, Benders.

TOOK LAKEVIEW BY STORM.

(Lakeview Herald)
"They came, they saw, they conquered," and is there a man in Lakeview that will not swear by all that's holy that Bend is not only the metropolis and the liveliest town on this mundane sphere and a few planets thrown in, the fault could not be laid to the nineteen Prince boosters that came in last Saturday on a "let's get acquainted and get together" trip from Bend. While the publicity movement suggested by the party appealed strongly to the city, their greatest hit was made by the winning personality of the personnel of the party and Lakeview will always be glad to welcome them individually or collectively.

BITS ABOUT TOWN.

The Whatsoevers will meet with Mrs. L. D. West Friday.

K. S. Lapp is spending several days in Seattle on business.

The Hotel Bend is being brightened up with a coat of paint.

C. H. Dusenbery of Lakeview arrived in Bend Monday, probably to remain ten days.

The "500" club was entertained at the home of Mrs. A. M. Lara last Wednesday evening.

The W. C. T. U. will meet tomorrow (Thursday) afternoon at 2:30 p. m., at the church.

Rev. W. L. Wilson came up from Redmond and preached twice here Sunday, returning Monday afternoon.

John Dickinson and sister Dorothy came in Saturday from Whitaker, spending the Fourth with Bend friends.

Crook County, with 8,000 square miles, contains more land than Connecticut, Delaware and Rhode Island combined.

J. H. Bean has become associated in business with J. A. Eastes and the firm name will be Eastes & Bean Realty Co.

V. Schreder, postmaster at Rolyat, 80 miles southeast of Bend, is here for supplies, and reports crops in his locality looking good.

Frank Robinson, who is working in one of The Bend Company's logging camps, is suffering from a severe attack of rheumatism.

S. C. Caldwell, accompanied by his family, arrived home Monday night from a several weeks' trip at Eugene and other towns. He drove across the Cascades.

Saturday Dr. B. Ferrell returned from a two weeks' absence to Los Angeles, where he has been attending the sessions of the American Medical Association.

Owing to the change in arrival of mail, new Sunday hours will hereafter be observed at the postoffice. The general delivery window will be open from 5 to 6 p. m.

C. J. Hoke and W. H. Wing have bought out the Palm ice cream parlor from Turpin & Branton. They will conduct it at the same location and intend to serve all kinds of soft cold drinks and ices.

The School Board met Friday night but owing to the absence of one member adjourned, without transacting any business, to meet Tuesday evening. There was no meeting last night, however.

H. J. Douglas is now associated with the Bend Company in its real estate department, Mr. Douglas adding A. O. Hunter in the local branch of the business. Mr. Douglas has been sales agent of the National Cash Register company for twelve years, where he was associated with Mr. Hunter.

The jury in the case of J. A. Wilson against Henry Linster for $200 attorney fees in the Linster vs Overturf case, tried before Justice Orcutt last Wednesday afternoon, rendered a verdict for $50 against the defendant and taxed him with the costs. The total amount was $64.60. Coble & Sumral represented Mr. Wilson and Vernon A. Forbes Mr. Linster.

Leaving Bend the previous Friday and returning last Thursday Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lawrence and family made a 550 mile auto trip through south-central Oregon, visiting Klamath, Lakeview, Paisley, Silver Lake, Crescent and other towns. An exceptionally interesting trip, the best of weather and splendid roads, is the report of the party.

The donkey party given by the Royal Neighbors last Thursday evening was attended by more than 50 people. Pinning tails on a donkey and dancing were the leading features of the program. Supper was served late in the evening. An entertainment similar to this is given by the lodge the last Thursday night in each month, and no pains are spared to make each an occasion of genuine old-fashioned pleasure for all present.

ILLICIT DIAMOND BUYING.

Dodges the Traders Worked in Kimberley's Early Days.

There are as many stories of I. D. B.—I. e., illicit diamond buying—in South Africa as there were of smuggling in England a century ago. Louis Cohen tells of some of the dodges in his "Reminiscences" of Kimberley's early days. "Dogs were enlisted in the traffic and used as carriers. Often the poor animals were first kept without food until they were on the verge of starvation and then given lumps of meat containing diamonds, which they bolted. Safely arrived at Christiania, across the Vaal river, the faithful dumb friends of man were immediately rewarded for their services by having their stomachs ripped up and the imbedded baubles taken out. Horses, too, were utilized, being fed with balls of meat containing diamonds and driven across the river under the very noses of the police. Carrier pigeons were requisitioned to fly through the air with the greatest of ease (taken with the brigands' booty). Hollowed heels (containing diamonds) sailed down with wax were also expedients employed with decided and profitable success."

One lady had an ingenious way of getting out of a scrape. She was cooking dinner when a Cape toy knocked at the door and sold a forty carat diamond to her husband. "It was a trap. A detective immediately rushed in to arrest the buyer, searched the house, but no diamond could be found. The good wife had placed it in the stuffing of a goose she was basting."
