ROAD NOW FIRM

RAIN PACKS THE BEND BURNS HIGHWAY.

Postmaster Schreder of Rolyat Reports the Finding of Undercurrent of Water at Milepost 50—He Will Give Exhibit of Grain.

The Bend-Burns road is now in fine traveling condition, following the recent rains which packed the ground well, according to Postmaster V. Schreder, who was in Bend last week getting supplies. Mr. Schreder stated that an undercurrent of water was found two weeks ago, at milepost 50, only four feet under the surface. There is an abundance of water and as the hole is on the road it will be a great boon to travelers.

There is plenty of water now along the entire road from here to the Harney county seat. The longest stretch without water is that from the Central Oregon canal to Millican's, 24 miles. This distance will be cut down four miles this summer by the turning of water into the Pine Forest ditches at W. J. McGillivray's ranch, 8 miles from Bend. Mr. Schreder stated most emphatically that twice as big loads could be hauled from Bend as from Prineville.

Mr. Schreder said that bids had been called for by the Government for a regular mail carrier from Rolyat to Fife and return. The settlers now pay the carrier. The Central Oregon Development Co. has given a block of Rolyat townsite property for a schoolhouse site, Mr. Schreder also reported.

The Bend Commercial Club has been promised by Mr. Schreder an exhibit of grains which he has raised to be displayed here along with other Central Oregon products.

Mr. Schreder left Thursday for his home, taking with him petitions for the establishment of a direct Bend-Burns mail route, to which he says every settler in the country will subscribe.

ATTRACTIVE BOOKLET

Seattle Man Advertises Wiestoria and Bend in New Publication.

Issued by W. D. Newton of Seattle, who recently purchased Wiestoria, a most attractive pamphlet concerning the residential addition has recently appeared, and is being circulated widely.

The catch-word title of the leaflet is "Bend, the Funnel City." Bend is pictorially shown as the funnel of Central Oregon, through which is pouring all the varied riches of the great inland territory behind it to the railroads that connect the interior with the world's markets. A large relief picture-map of Central Oregon, amplified by a well written text concerning Bend, Wiestoria and other adjacent districts, completes this latest convincing addition to Bend's publicity literature.

H. D. True has been appointed local agent, and upon application will distribute copies of the booklet.
